Drew Pleased

His praise for the co-operation shown by U. S. authorities when, legally, they didn't have to modify the lease in any way brought from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, the observation that this would reassure those Canadians who were beginning to feel the two countries no longer could co-operate in the old friendly way.

Mr. Drew—possibly in a reference to recent statements by External Affairs Minister Pearson—said certain remarks outside the House have raised doubts that Ottawa could deal with Washington on a friendly basis without getting pushed around.

Leonard Stick (L.-Trinity-Conception) welcomed the Prime Minister's statement and said Newfoundlanders have found the Americans most cordial and fine people.

First Use Of Torpedoes

But carrier-based Douglas Skyraiders in their first use of aerial torpedoes under combat conditions in Korea countered the Red move. Pilots reported they destroyed one gate and opened a 10-foot hole in another.

Early in April the Reds opened eight of Hwachon's 18 sluice gates in an effort to flood out the then-advancing Allied troops. It didn't work. The water released was not enough to swamp the Allies.

U. N. forces seized the dam — then gave it up last week after the Red spring offensive opened April 22 with a break-through in the center.

Again in possession, the Reds closed the gates this week. Water levels of the Pukhan and Han began to fall. Then navy planes from the aircraft carrier Princeton went to work on the dam at the request of the Eighth Army.

As they did, Red forces were reported building up in Central Korea.

To Confer With Gov't On Problems At Murray Harbor Starch Factory

A delegation of farmers from the Southern King's district and a number of lobster dealers will meet with Premier J. Walter Jones and members of his government this morning to request the opening of the Murray Harbour starch factory, it was learned last night.

A test of the water at Murray Harbour by Dr. D. G. Wilder, Dominion Fisheries biologist from St. Andrew's, N. B. has revealed that so far starch waste would not harm lobsters kept in pounds in that area.

Objections to the opening of the starch factory were raised on the grounds that the waste would harm the lobsters. However, it was stated that this was the view of a small number and that lobster dealers and most of those in the industry would not object to the operations of the factory.

Another objection to the operations of the plant is the odor that arises from the waste left on the mud flats. Officials are looking into this matter and will work on the proposition of carrying away the wastes by a barge.

Meanwhile the starch plants at Hunter River and Baltic are working to capacity and already have processed about 100,000 bushels of potatoes. It is hoped that another 200,000 will be taken care of.

Southern Kings farmers, banking on the opening of the Murray Harbour starch factory, have in the main, been unable to ship their potatoes under the Government subsidy plant as the other factories have been filled.

Canadians Likely In Rest Camp

By Bill Boss
(Canadian Press Correspondent with the Princess Patricia's (Korea).

WEST CENTRAL SECTOR, Korea, May 1 — (CP) — United Nations troops sunned themselves Monday on the north bank of an important Korean river, catching up on long hours of lost sleep.

The camp, within artillery range of the enemy, was almost a picnic ground with light music piped through loudspeakers from the canteen truck and a nightly motion picture.

Censorship prevents Boss mentioning the Canadian unit or at present giving further details of the fighting three days last week before the troops moved camp three times in the general withdrawal.
