JUNIOR REPORTERS SPORTS REPORTERS

During Centennial Year several additions will be made to the news staffs of The Guardian and The Evening Patriot. In preparing to fill these prospective openings, first preference will be given to any young Islanders who show suitable aptitude — who are prepared to undergo a rigorous course of training — and who are interested in making a career of newspapering.

These are not temporary jobs but career openings, and are available only to those who see them in that light.

Applicants need to be young, enthusiastic and anxious to learn, with minimum education of Grade 12. Swift advancement can be assured those who deserve it. Preference will be given to those between the ages of 18 and 21, so long as they also show developing maturity of attitude.

At the outset it is planned to engage a young man for the sports reporting staff and a young man or young woman for the general news staff, and further openings will be available shortly if suitable applications are received.

In the first instance, only applications in writing will be considered. These should outline the qualifications and the interests of those applying. Early interviews will be arranged. Include home telephone number.

Address applications to: Executive Editor, Guardian-Patriot, Charlottetown.
