

Origin of Worcestershire Sauce.

Although inferior in money-making power to a pill, a sauce, too, can make guineas roll briskly in, and notably has this been the case with Worcestershire. A scrutiny of the label will show that it is prepared "from the recipe of a nobleman of the country." The nobleman is Lord Sandys, and Messrs. Lea & Perrin's connection with the sauce came about rather curiously. Many years ago Mrs. Grey, author of "The Gambler's Wife," and other novels, well known in their day, was on a visit at Ombersley Court, when Lady Sandys chanced to remark that she wished she could get some very good curry-powder, which elicited from Mrs. Grey that she had in her desk an excellent recipe, which her uncle, Sir Charles, Chief-Justice of India, had brought thence and given her. Lady Sandys said that there were some clever chemists in Worcester, who perhaps might be able to make up the powder; at all events, when they drove in after luncheon they would see, Messrs. Lea & Perrin looked at the recipe, doubted if they could procure all ingredients, but said they would do their best, and in due time forwarded a packet of the powder. Subsequently the happy thought struck some one in the business that the powder might, in solution, make a good sauce. The experiment was made, and by degrees the thing took amazingly. All the world, to its remotest ends, now knows of Worcestershire sauce as an article of commerce; and notwithstanding that, in common with most good things, it is terribly pirated, an enormous trade is done in it. The profits, I am told, amount to thousands of pounds a year, and I cannot but suppose that liberal checks have passed from the firm to Mrs. Grey, to whom it is so heavily indebted for its prosperity.

How the Change Came About.

They had been enemies for three long years. They passed each other on the street with stern faces, their wives made fun of each other's dresses, and the children climbed up on the back fences and called each other shoddy aristocrats. Oh, no; there was no dove of peace around there, and lots of people predicted that a case of assassination would grow out of it.

Last evening a whole neighborhood was astonished beyond measure. These two families who had thirsted for each other's scalps were seen in sweet conversation on the lawn. The men exchanged cigars, the women admired each other's latest purchase, and the blessed little children hugged each other all over the grass. How did the change come about? Well, neither man ever owned a horse in his life, and neither knew a case of spavin from a blooming instance of poll-evil. Jones decided, however, to buy a horse. He was looking one over at his hitching-post, when Smith came along. In a moment of forgetfulness Jones remarked:

"Say, Smith, you know all about a horse. How old is this animal?" In the jerk of a comet's tail rancor and bitterness were forgotten. The flattery bit Smith plump-center and ripped all the buttons of his pent-up soul. He obeyed the request, pointed out all the ring-bones, stiff knees and splints, and advised Jones not to buy. They went off arm in arm, and the dove of peace now sits on the housetops and warbles his joyous little soul up to high "G."—Detroit Free Press.

Careful About the Usages.

Very careful is Lester Wallack about the usages of good society. He ran away with the daughter of an English nobleman, whose acquaintance he had made while an officer in a crack regiment of the English army. When Wallack lost Montague, who gave him entire satisfaction, he was compelled to take Osmund Tearle. One morning at rehearsal Tearle committed the faux pas of lifting his coat-tails as he sat down to make love to a young lady in her drawing-room. Wallack was disgusted at the act. "Let me tell you, Mr. Tearle, that a gentleman's wardrobe is sufficiently large to permit of his rumpling as many coat-tails a day as he pleases."

Physical Degeneracy of Criminals.

Studies of criminal records, continued through successive generations, show that even when the first generation of criminals are hardy and long-lived, the second fall far short in both endurance and longevity, while but few members of the third possess sufficient vitality to reach maturity—the average ages of the three generations being very nearly in the descending ratio of three, two, one,—and in a few years more the entire line becomes extinct.—The Interior.

NOTES.

Not the promissory, but facts about WELCOME SOAP, an article that does not contain one particle of the adulterations used to reduce the cost of "I ure Goods," but does possess the value of legitimate Washing Qualities, the demand for which proves the advantage gained by the use of the genuine over Soaps of doubtful character. None should be deceived even by Red and Yellow Wrappers, or any of the imitations of the WELCOME, as a pair of clasped hands is stamped on every bar. Made by CURTIS, DAVIS & Co.

WARREN LELAND,

whom everybody knows as the successful manager of the Largest Hotel Enterprises

of America, says that while a passenger from New York on board a ship going around Cape Horn, in the early days of emigration to California, he learned that one of the officers of the vessel had cured himself, during the voyage, of an obstinate disease by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Since then Mr. LELAND has recommended AYER'S SARSAPARILLA in many similar cases, and he has never yet heard of its failure to effect a radical cure.

Some years ago one of Mr. LELAND's farm laborers bruised his leg. Owing to the bad state of his blood, an ugly scrofulous swelling or lump appeared on the injured limb. Horrible itching of the skin, with burning and darting pains through the lump, made life almost intolerable. The leg became enormously enlarged, and running ulcers formed, discharging great quantities of extremely offensive matter. No treatment was of any avail until the man, by Mr. LELAND's direction, was supplied with AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which allayed the pain and irritation, healed the sores, removed the swelling, and completely restored the limb to use.

Mr. LELAND has personally used for Rheumatism, with entire success; and, after careful observation, declares that, in his belief, there is no medicine in the world equal to it for the cure of Liver Disorders, Gout, the effects of high Living, Salt Rheum, Sores, Eruptions, and all the various forms of blood disease.

We have Mr. LELAND's permission to invite all who may desire further evidence in regard to the extraordinary curative powers of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to see him personally either at his mammoth Ocean Hotel, Long Branch, or at the popular Leland Hotel, Broadway, 27th and 28th Streets, New York.

Mr. LELAND's extensive knowledge of the good done by this unequalled eradicator of blood poisons enables him to give inquirers much valuable information.

New and Original Departure in Coal Cooking Stoves

COMBINING DURABILITY, HEAT AND ECONOMY.

THE above Stove I invented and patented in 1876, and at the present time HUNDREDS ARE IN USE, giving perfect satisfaction. A large number have been in constant use for eight years, and the repairs have been very trifling, in many instances none have been required. This valuable experience should be sufficient evidence of the durability, which is accounted for in the following:—It has, instead of a Lined Fire Box, two heavy Curved Cylinders, which obviate the expense connected with all Square Cooking Stoves of being compelled to renew Linings and Grates, at least once or twice every year. The heat being radiated from the Cylinders to the floor, where most needed, overcomes a serious objection to all kinds of ordinary Coal Cooking Stoves. The Cylinders are situated directly under the cover holes, and a fire may be made in one or both, thus adapting it for use either in winter or summer, with equal satisfaction, besides effecting a great saving to fuel. I have also attached the PATENT TELESCOPIQUE OVEN to all my Elevated Oven Wood Stoves, such as the Waterloo, Niagara, Star, &c., causing the thousands using them to exclaim—My Stoves are worth TEN DOLLARS MORE than the same kind made by other foundries. The trade and retail purchasers will please bear in mind the fact that although a great advantage is claimed for my own Oven above all others, they cost no more, and being the sole manufacturer and patentee, no other factory can supply. Enquire for Fawcett's Patent Telescope Oven, and if your dealer has none on hand send direct to the Sackville Store Foundry.

I am adding several new and handsome Patterns this season, which, with my former large variety of One Hundred Different Patterns and Sizes of Cooking, Parlor, Office and Hall Stoves, also Farmers Boilers, Hollowware, Ploughs, Stove Pipes and Tiuware, comprise the most complete assortment offered by any manufacturer in the Lower Provinces. Terms and prices will be found as favorable as can be obtained elsewhere.
