Regatta On Today

THE NATIONAL Boy Scout sailing regatta goes into high gear at the Charlottetown Yacht Club this morning as 21 crews from Canada, U.S.A., and the United Kingdom battle for the R. C. Stephenson Trophy.

The championship consists of eight races, each over a a triangular course of approximately seven miles with the final leg facing the wind. It's called the Gold Cup triangle, they tell me.

A pair of Quebec Scouts won the title in Montreal last year. The Island will be represented by John Rankin and Percy Simmons, both of Charlottetown.

They're all sailing the publicized 12-foot 'Flying Juniors' which are fibreglass and have aluminum spars and stainless steel rigging. Most of the boats are provided by the City Yacht Club.

Races will be held twice a day to Friday in Hillsborough Bay, 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. A good vantage point would be Victoria Park.

It was rather rough on the Bay yesterday I understand, as some of the competitors are used to lake waters. If there's a wind of 15 m.p.h. for the race the boats should perform at their best.

Minor Ball Day

THE GOLD CUP and Saucer parade committee will sponsor a day long minor baseball program in Charlottetown Wednesday, to raise money for City minor ball and Old Home Week celebrations.

More than 300 Charlottetown youngsters will take part in the program, concluding with three, four-inning final playoff games at Memorial Field Wednesday night, 7:30.

During the day nine elimination games will be played in the Farm System, Little League and Bantam League.

The P.E.I. Regiment band and majorettes will head a parade from City Hall to Memorial Field prior to the playoff games. All minor players will take part in the parade.

Officials of the Minor Ball program in the City and members of the Gold Cup and Saucer committee urge persons to come out and see just what this minor ball is all about. The youngsters are enthusiastic about their ball, let's give them some support.

Off The Cuff

THE BEST way to make a quick dollar and have a good time doing it these days seems to be to operate a summer HOCKEY SCHOOL. The most recent is run at Toronto's Tam O'SHANTER; (which by the way also includes a golf course, a swimming pool, a hockey rink, 24 curling sheets and bowling lanes). A four week school was held at TAM O'SHANTER last season and interest was so great this year that director BRUCE HYLAND expanded the program to nine weeks. About 200 youngsters take part in each week's program. The fee is $60 per week, and includes skating and hockey instruction, as well as showing of instructional and feature length films. Students are boarded at Tam, with meals served cafeteria-style from a steam table. They sleep in a dormitory set up in the curling lounge. The school provides camp cots, the boys provide their own sleeping bags. The $60 INCLUDES all facilities at Tam. They can golf, swim or bowl. Curling space has been turned into hockey rinks for the summer, giving the school three ice surfaces on which to operate. Instructors at the school include SID SMITH, former Leafs' star; KENT DOUGLAS, defenceman coach; John Rodway, skating instructor; Johnny Henderson, Harry Watson, and Marlboros' stars GRANT MOORE, Barry Watson and Mike Walton also instruct. HARRY WATSON, who is the father of Barry, was one of the coaches at Kentville's Summer Hockey School when it operated in 1954. Since opening day the Kentville school has been considered a great success. Having taken part in the school for its first four years, I never thought you could teach youngsters very much hockey in 10 or 14 days. I have no gripes against the school though. It's great summer entertainment and the youngsters get a chance to meet some great hockey personalities and players from other areas of the country. By the way, how do you think a summer hockey school would go in P.E.I.?

Inman's Tie Set With 5-3 Victory

SUMMERSIDE — Inman Plumbing evened up their best-of-three Prince County Softball League semi-final playoff series with Enman Drug last night by edging the Drugmen 5-3 on Gord Montford's seventh inning two run homer off relief pitcher Lon White.

"I was in a slump for the past three games. It sure was a wonderful way to come out of it", said a happy Montford after the gam,e. The win put the Plumbers right back in the best of three series.

They lost the first game 4-3.

The rapidly improved Inman Plumbing squad, a team that had a 2 - 17 season record, got one run off pitcher Pete Devana in the frst nnng when Frank Wigglesworth hit a lead off home run, one of three hits he got in the game. The other two were doubles. The narrow one run lead stood up for a four innings as Inman Plumbing pitcher Jack Grabowski continued to shut out Enman Drug.

In the fifth, a walk, an error, a fielder's choice, a single and 'Toy' Gallant's sacrifice fly, produced two runs off Grabowski. But in the bottom half of the inning, Inman Plumbing tied it up when John Pleson singled home Wigglesworth with two out.

GILLIS SCORES

It appeared the end of the season for Inman Plumbing in the crucial seventh as Enman's scored the go-ahead-run when Clarence Gillis scored from third on a passed ball. The score was 3-2.

Inman Plumbing fought from behind to win the game. Jack Grabowski walked to start it off, then gave way for a pinch runner in the person of Frank MacCormick. Wigglesworth promptly belted a double scoring MacCormick. That was all for Devana. In came Enman Drug's Lou White, also a very fast pitcher. As fast as White could throw his fast ball, the game was over on Montford's hard hit, game winning homer.

Devana got two strikeouts. Grabowski, had four strikeouts. 'Spider' Crawford got a double and a single for Enman Drug.

LINE SCORE	R	H	E
Enman Drug	3	4	2
Inman Plumbing	5	7	2

Morell Breaks Eagles' Mark

GEORGETOWN — The Georgetown Eagles were handed their first loss of the season in the Kings County Baseball League here Saturday as they fell to Mt. Stewart 16-5 in an action packed 12 inning contest that saw plenty of hard hitting.

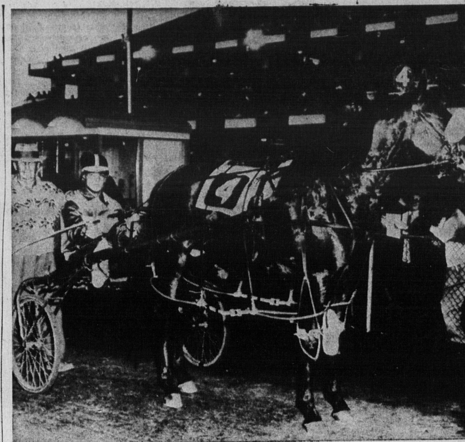
It was the first loss for Georgetown against nine wins. Mt. Stewart won their seventh in a row, after dropping their first two games.

The game was 5-5 after nine innings and it took Mt. Stewart until the 12th before they collected a very convincing 11 unanswered runs.

Art Coffin was the winner for Mt. Stewart. He allowed 10 hits and struckout 12 in collecting his sixth straight win of the season.

Allie MacPherson went until the 12th for Georgetown when he was relieved by Mark Murphy. MacPherson allowed 12 hits; Murphy six.

Mt. Stewart's top batters were M. Crane, 4-for-6; Coffin 4-for-7; and S. Affleck, 2-for-5. Georgetown was led by D. Clearym 3-for-6; and J. Walsh and L. Bachelor, 2-for-5.



RAY REMMEN, 17, of Hanley, Sask., relaxes in his sulky after driving Rod's M Pick to the second of two victories during a 10-day harness meet in Edmonton. With him is his grandfather Art Hunter. The two-year-old Rod's M is one of six standardbreds that Hunter and Remmen race in Alberta and Saskatchewan meets.

Talented Roy Remmer Has Too Many Sports

By BOB TRIMBEE

EDMONTON (CP) — When Ray Remmen drove Chucky Mohawk to victory in the $2,500 Saskatchewan Futurity, richest Western Canada race for three-year - old standardbreds, he found himself in a dilemma.

The 17-year-old farmboy admitted "it was the greatest thrill of my life" and served to whet his ambition to train and drive horses around the Prairie harness racing circuit.

But that would require giving up other sports and here the dilemma set in — which sports should be dropped.

Remmen is the eldest of five children. The family lives on a farm in the Hanley, Sask., district, just outside Saskatoon. Next fall he'll enter Grade 12.

The end of the summer holidays will mark the beginning of Remmen's most critical year and by next June he must have his answers.

This fall Remmen will report to the junior Saskatoon Hilltops, one of four teams in the Manitoba - Saskatchewan Football League. He'll also try out with Saskatoon Quakers of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League.

CURLING CHAMP

During the winter, if he continues to maintain a 60-plus average in studies, he'll have an opportunity to defend his central district high school curling title and by spring he hopes to be in top shape for track and field and his specialties—220- and 440-yard sprints and the long jump.

High school basketball and baseball are worked in where possible.

"I spend so much time on sports now I find it difficult to study for classes in high school. So I decided last year to forget about university, which requires a heck of a lot more studying. I plan to go to technical school after I graduate and learn a trade.

"That'll give me something to fall back on when I have to give up sports."

There is little doubt harness racing now is Remmen's first love. "My grandfather's been taking me around the circuit during the summer since I was four. I've been driving horses in workouts since I was nine or ten and last year I got a provisional driver's licence and entered a few races."

Winners were few and far between for Rammen in 1963, but things have been rosier this summer. He joined his grandfather, Art Hunter, in Ladner, B.C. He remained there about a week and in six starts drove to one second-place finish and four thirds.

CLEANS STALLS

Then he returned to Saskatchewan for the futurity at Yorkton, Chucky Mohawk won both the heat and the final easily.

The Edmonton and Calgary meets were next on Rammen's list.

But sulky driving isn't all glory. Rammen, five-foot-10 and 170 pounds, gets up each morning about 6:30 and spends six hours grooming his grandfather's horses, cleaning the stalls, feeding the animals and jogging the horses around the track.

The afternoon is free and then warmups for the horses begin two hours before the racing card starts. "They say trotters and pacers run better on their second wind."

Driving a sulky "is a lot more exciting and more skilful" than a hot rod race.

Jones Seeks Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Doug Jones said Monday it was flattering to be ranked the No. 1 heavyweight contender but it didn't mean much if he couldn't get a shot at the title.

"If the WBA (World Boxing Association) wants to make it worthwhile they ought to make Cassius Clay defend the title against me instead of fighting a return with Sonny Liston," said the 27 - year - old New Yorker. "Otherwise what good is it to be the No. 1 contender?"

Jones, meanwhile, continued training for his 10-round television fight with Tony Alongi at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

He brought up his title fight suggestion to the New York Athletic Commission after Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner proposed the commission vacate Clay's heavyweight title and declare the winner of a tournament the champion.

Brenner, speaking at a boxing luncheon attened by Jones, Alongi and commission officials, among others, said if the commission would agree to recognize the winner as champion, the Garden would run a tournament among the top four contenders — Jones, Floyd Patterson, Ernie Terrell and Cleveland Williams.

"The Garden has authorized me to offer Floyd Patterson $35,000 to fight the winner of the Jones-Alongi fight at the Garden Oct. 2 for the first of our non - television fights," said Brenner. "That could start it off."

Robinson Tops American League

By BEN OLAN

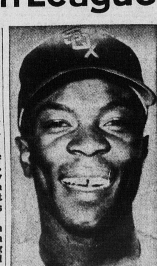
NEW YORK (AP)—Quicker than you can say Floyd Robinson, the Chicago White Sox outfielder has leaped into second place in the American League batting race.

Robinson and the White Sox, in fact, are both in second place. But his chances of taking over the top spot are far slimmer than his club's.

The White Sox, a half - game in front of New York Yankees, trail Baltimore Orioles by only 1½ games. Robinson, despite a .550 batting performance last week, still trails Minnesota's Tony Oliva by 24 points.

Robinson, in ninth place a week ago, collected 11 hits in 20 attempts since then, gaining 15 points to .310. Oliva dropped two points to .334 with 10 hits in 38 tries.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees dropped one place to third. He managed only two hits in 20 times at bat and his average fell 14 points to .309. Jim Fregosi of Los Angeles slumped 10 points to fourth at .308 followed by Cleveland's Bob Chance with a .305 mark.



FLOYD ROBINSON

In the National League, Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh held onto first place. He picked up one point to .349 with eight hits in 21 at bats. Runner-up Billy Williams of Chicago Cubs lost seven points to .333 on a 6-for-26 performance last week. Ron Santo of the Cubs advanced to third at .328. He gained five points with 10 hits in 25 trips.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants bounced back to fourth place. The veteran outfielder, sixth a week ago, increased his average three points to .323 with a 9-for-25 showing. Milwaukee's Rico Carty fell 17 points to a fifth-place .322.

Mays walloped three homers, boosting his leading total to 32. Ken Boyer of St. Louis held onto the runs batted in lead with 83. He had five RBI last week.
