BEE BUZZES.

An excess of drone comb should be removed from the hives.

Bees in the spring serve as active agents in the fertilization of blossoms.

Always avoid blowing your breath among the bees while handling the combs.

The first hatched queen will destroy all remaining queen cells provided it is not in the height of the honey flow.

Cutting out the queen cells after a swarm will not always prevent swarming. But cut out after the first swarming and it is certain.

When a swarm issues from a parent hive either with an old or young queen, they appear confused until they cluster, when they become quiet.

If the bees seem to dwindle in the spring, look them over every day. Close up the division boards, taking out all of the combs they cannot cover.

In selecting brood for queen raising be sure you have no drone larvae, for the bees by some strange instinct will often build queen cells over them, resulting in nothing but dead drones.

To have a colony build queen cells, first remove the old queen, then in eight days pick out all of the cells that have been built and place in the center of the hive a comb containing larvae not over one day old from the queen desired to breed from.—St. Louis Republic.

MAN'S MASTERS.

A girl with a good temper gets many other good things.—New Orleans Picayune.

A woman's reason may not convince, but it often puts an end to the discussion.—Exchange.

That Vassar girl who holds the record for the female high jump must have gone into training with a lot of mice in the gymnasium.—Pittsburg News.

The New York women who agreed to wear abbreviated skirts after March 1 whenever they went out on a rainy day are getting out of it by staying indoors when a rainstorm comes.—Boston Globe.

Mrs. Besant says that Mme. Blavatsky has been reincarnated on earth in the form of a Brahman boy. It seems that the new woman is a boy when the opportunity presents itself.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

RAILWAY TIES.

For the 3,200 vacancies of all kinds on the staff of the London and Northwestern railway last year there were 53,000 applicants.

The railway tracks between London and Edinburgh, a distance of 400 miles, are 210 yards longer in summer than they are in winter, owing to the expansion caused by the extra heat.

It takes each year 200,000 acres of forest to supply crossties for the railroads of the United States. It takes 15,000,000 ties to supply the demand, for which the contractors get on an average 35 cents apiece, making in the aggregate $5,250,000.

DRESS PARADE.

The new three piece skirt has a very wide front breadth.

Nearly all the dressy styles of coiffure just now point to wearing the hair on the crown of the head.

Tailor made pique costumes will form one of the very smart styles for afternoon wear this summer.

Pointed epaulets, torador jacket fronts and plain and folded girdles still lend great variety to spring street costumes and house toilets.

Elegant summer capes, showing black and white laces in combination, with parasol and hat or bonnet en suite, will be very much in vogue.

Some of the new very dressy models for summer gowns show the skirt laid in alternate accordion platings and narrow braided or embroidered panels.

Carnations, geraniums, gladioli, tulips, lobelia blooms, roses, canna and wild quince blossoms are among the brilliant red flowers that are used upon spring hats and bonnets.

White batiste, silk mull and chiffon blouse vests and loose waist fronts are made with bands of handsome lace insertion that cross each other, forming blocks either large or small.

For evening wear the medici collars are still in high favor. But if these are not fancied there are scores of other pretty styles, both modern and antique, to choose from to adorn either bodice or wrap.

Bow and buckle trimmings will prevail very largely on spring and summer gowns, and, while plaited frillings, velvet bands, braiding and gimp trimmings are to rage, they do not displace, but merely vie, with ribbon garniture in general favor.

Loose silk and chiffon waist fronts are trimmed with rows of gathered or plaited ruffles to simulate a bolero or jacket bodice effect. The same garniture is used on the neck, sleeve tops and at the wrists of the close coat sleeves.—New York Post.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Agnes Ardeck has been engaged as leading lady with Thomas E. Shea.

Mary Timberman is winning golden opinions for her excellent work as Portia to the Shylock of Thomas W. Keene.

"In Town," a late London success, will be presented at the New York Casino next season under direction of George Edwards.

Theatrical London is in a state of expectancy over the rumor that several actors will be knighted at the queen's jubilee in June.

Albert Chevalier's two act musical play, "The Land of Nod," was recently given a copyright performance at the Lyric theater, London.

Mme. Brazzi, an American contralto now abroad, has been engaged by Maurice Grau for the Metropolitan Opera company for next season.

Laura Hulbert, the leading woman of the "Saved From the Sea" company, is an actress who will be heard from in a higher phrase of the drama.

Wilson Barrett is of the opinion that his leading man, Franklyn MacLeay will eventually be recognized as one of the world's greatest actors.

Henry E. Dixey has been succeeded by Robert E. Graham in the principal role of "Gayest Manhattan," the not over successful vaudeville at Koster & Bial's New York house.

It is said that there will be 50 "seaside resorts" within a few miles of New York this summer, and it is certain that not more than two or three of them will be worthy the designation.

Gerhardt Hauptmann's drama, "The Sunken Bell," which has caused enthusiasm in Berlin, has apparently been a failure in Paris. There is too much mystery and obscurity in the play to please the Parisians.
