ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CAPTAIN WILKIE

BY A. CONAN DOYLE

"We had been very quiet for a day or two, just to let suspicion die away. Then we set out one dark night, Jim and I, and got over the avenue railings and up to the house without meeting a soul. It was black as night, and the clouds were hurrying across the sky. We had a good look at the front of the house, and then Jim, having it packed up and ready, and give the bearer a glass of beer."

"Having composed this precious epistle, I addressed it to the butler, and carried it back to the Hall, saying that their master had overheard me on the way and asked me to deliver it. I was taken in and made much of downstairs; while a great packing-case was dragged into the hall, and the plate stowed away, among cotton-wool and stuffing. It was nearly ready, when I heard the sound of wheels upon the gravel, and sauntered round just in time to see a business-like closed car drive up to the door. One of my pals was sitting very demurely on the box; while Jim, with an official-looking hat, sprang out and bustled into the hall."

"Now, then," I heard him say, "look sharp! What's for the bank? Come out!"

"Can't wait. There's a panic all over the country, and they are clamoring for us everywhere. Must drive on to Lord Blackbury's place, unless you are ready."

"Don't go, sir!" pleaded the butler. "There's only this one cup to tie—There; it is ready now. You'll look after it, won't you?"

"That will. You'll never have any more trouble with it now," said Jim, helping to push the great case into the car.

"I think I had better go with you and see it stowed away in the bank," said the butler.

"All right," said Jim, nothing abashed. "You can't come in the car, though, for Lord Blackbury's box will take up all the spare room. Let's see—it's twelve o'clock now. Well, you are waiting at the bank door at half-past one, and you will just catch us."

"All right—half-past one," said the butler.

"Good-day," cried my chum; and away went the car, while I made a bit of a short cut and caught it around a turn of the road. We drove right on to the next county, got a down-train to London, and before midnight the colonel's silver was fused into a solid lump.

"I could not help laughing at the versatility of the old scoundrel. It was a daring game to play," I said.

"It is always the daring game which succeeds best," he answered.

At this point the train began to show symptoms of slowing down, and my companion put on his overcoat and gave other signs of being near the end of his journey. "You are going on to Dover?" he said.

"Yes."

"For the continent?"

"How long do you intend to tr. vel?"

"Only for a week or so."

"Well, I must leave you here. You will remember my name, won't you? John Wilkie, I am pleased to have met you. I my mind behind you, and I beg your pardon stretching across. No! I beg your pardon. Here it is in the corner," and with an affable smile, the ex-cricketer stepped out, bowed, and disappeared among the crowd upon the platform.

I lit another cigar, laughed as I thought of my late companion, and lifted up the Times, which he had left behind him. The bell had rung, the wheels were all ready revolving, when, to my astonishment, a pallid face looked at me through the window. It was a contorted and agitated face, which I hardly recognized, and which I had been gazing upon during the last couple of hours. "Here, take it," he said, "take it if it is hardly worth my while to rob you of seven pounds four shillings; but I couldn't resist once more trying my hand," and he flung something into the carriage and disappeared.

It was my old leather purse, with my return ticket, and the whole of my traveling expenses. His newly awakened conscience had driven him to instant restitution.

[THE END.]

Mr. J. Israel Tarte has given instructions to his lawyers to commence suit for fifty thousand dollars damages against the Toronto World on account of a despatch from Montreal published in that journal in which certain charges were made against him.

DANGEROUS CONSOLATION.

All Night in a Day or Two, But the Day Never Came.

"All right in a day or two" is the thought that consoles every one who is suffering from any disposition that does not prostrate him. In the case of a per on bed-ridden for months with disease of the Kidneys being asked, "Did you not have any warning of this condition you are now in?" "Yes, I was bothered at first with back-ache, with occasional headaches, but did not consider myself sick or the necessity of medicine further than a plaster on my back or rubbing with my favorite liniment. It was months before I began to realize that it was useless to further force myself to ignore my condition. The back-ache had become a pain in the back and sides, weak and tired feeling, high-colored urine with obstructions and stoppage, pain in the bladder, palpitation of the heart, poor appetite, indigestion, and a dull, languid feeling, with entire lack of energy."

Had the first signal of distress from the Kidneys—Back-ache—received the assistance of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the after state of misery and suffering would have been avoided. A few doses dispel first symptoms; delay results in liver, heart and stomach becoming affected. It is useless to expect to overcome this complication without a persistent and regular use of Chase's K. and L. Pills. Price 25c., sold by all dealers. Edimondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

From Harpers Weekly, NOVEMBER.

The old year's withered face is here again. The twilight look, the look of reverie, the backward-gazing eyes that seem to see the full-leaved robin haunted June remain. Through devastating wind and ruinous rain, A form that moves a little wilyer, As one who treats the path of memory Beneath a long year's load of stress and pain.

Good-night! good-night! the dews are thick and damp, Yet still she bubbles on, as loath to go, Of apple buds and blooms that used to be, Till Indian summer brings the bedtime lamp, And underneath a covering of snow She dresses again of April ecstasy. —Ethelwyn Wetherald.

ODDS AND ENDS.

British Columbia is the most deeply interested in both the questions which seem most likely to be thrown into arbitration between Canada and the United States. Her seafarers are looking for damages for wrongful seizure in Behring Sea; and if the boundary line between Canada and Alaska takes the direction contended for by Canada, there will be at least one island and some good harbors added to British Columbia.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Book. Send 12 "Sunlight" soap wrappers to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto who will send post-paid a paper-bound book 160 pages. For 6 "Life buoy" Soap wrappers, a similar book will be sent. This is a splendid opportunity to obtain good reading. Send your name and address written carefully. Remember "Sunlight" sells at 6 cts. per tin-bar, and "Life buoy" at 10 cts. One cent postage will bring your wrappers by leaving the ends open.

According to the Zeuricher Post, hydrophobia is sometimes introduced into Switzerland by foxes and wolves coming down, in severe winters, from the mountains of eastern France, attacking dogs and other animals, and infecting them with the venom of the terrible disease.

Rubbing It In. Never use a liniment for rheumatism, says a high medical authority. Don't rub it in—drive it out. Take something that removes the acid poison from the blood—take something that will improve your digestion, and build up the body to the perfection of robust health. That "something" is Scott's Emulsion. "Life buoy" is Scott's Emulsion. It is the best remedy in the shortest time. $1. of all druggists.

The Vossische Zeitung says that at least ten women in Paris have official permission to wear male garb. One of these is Rosa-Bouheur, the well known painter; another is the proprietor of a printing-office; another is a bearded woman who is the partner of a woman afflicted with bodily ailments or malformations.

That Pale Face. For Nervous Prostration and Anæmia there is no medicine that will so promptly and infallibly restore vigor and strength as Scott's Emulsion.

King Humbert of Italy has a private fortune of $30,000,000. The whole of this sum is deposited with the Rothschilds at London. The King is a very sensible man, sensible also to the terrible loss of his throne, and he evidently means to save, if not his Kingdom at least his cash.

Bad Blood Between Them. The ever-slaving farmer's wife, her delicate sister in the city, suffer more than they care to tell. The dark rings round the eyes, headaches, dizziness, palpitation or rheumatic twinges, betoken a run-down system. The blood is poor, and in a bar to enjoyment of life. Scott's Emulsion purifies the blood, strengthens and vitalizes the system, and speedily restores the bloom of health to the cheeks. It cures when all others fail.

The duties collected at the port of Toronto for the month of October amounted to $338,535.96, against $271,643.86 in October of last year, being an increase of $66,892.10. Calamity howling, it is remarked, is gradually becoming extremely un-favourable, and in this statement there are nearly 67,000 reasons showing that it should be entirely discontinued.

Seize the Opportunity at Once. When the opportunity occurs to escape from death only lunatics will refuse to do it. But there are many consumptive people lying on death beds who can escape the threatened doom if they will take Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. Some are not aware of such a preparation, and if they it will be the result of ignorance. Those who know that Miller's Emulsion makes new blood and enables the consumptive to get strength to overcome the disease are self-destroyers if they still neglect to obtain the life-giving remedy. Miller's Emulsion is the great nerve strengthener and blood maker, and cures Coughs, Cold, Bronchitis, Sore-throat, and all Lung affections. In Big Bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

Bordeaux wine is very cheap in Europe sometimes. At present the owner of a large vineyard near Bordeaux is sending out circulars in which he offers to send cases of 300 bottles of two-year-old wine, freight paid, to any town, even in Switzerland, for 130 francs. That means Bordeaux at about 5 cents a bottle.

Tore His Flesh In Agony. "I was troubled with blind itching piles for 20 years; was unable to work and tore my flesh in agony. United States and Canadian doctors failed to relieve. Chase's Ointment was a God-send. I am a better man than in 20 years, and am able to work every day." Phillip Wallace, blacksmith, Troquois, Ont. Chase's Ointment cures piles, eczema, and irritant diseases. All druggists, 60c. per box.

At Roswell, Alaska, a young girl was sentenced to four weeks' imprisonment for mailing a letter bearing a cancelled post stamp. She appealed and finally obtained a verdict in her favour because she proved she had not written the letter.
