SALLY DOWS,

An After War Romance of the South.

He obeyed, smilingly. Miss Sally suddenly slipped behind him. He felt

HE LEAPED TO HIS FEET. The soft imprint of her little hands on his shoulders, a warm breath stirred the roots of his hair, and then the light pressure on his scalp of what seemed the lips of a child.

He leaped to his feet, yet before he could turn completely round—a difficulty the young lady had evidently calculated upon—he was too late. The floating draperies of the arful and shameless Miss Sally were already disappearing among the toms in the direction of the hollow!

CHAPTER V. HE house occupied by the manager of the Drummond syndicate in Redlands—the former residence of a local lawyer and justice of the peace—was not large, but had an imposing portico of wooden doric columns which supported the roof and fronted the main street.

extended to the roof and fronted the main street. The all-pervading creeper closely covered it; the sidewalk before it was shaded by a row of broad-leaved allantus. The front room, with French windows opening on the portico, was used by Col. Courtland as a general office beyond this sitting-room and dining-room overlooked the old-fashioned garden with its detached kitchen and inevitable negro cabin. It was a close evening; there were dark clouds coming up in the direction of the turnpike road, but the leaves of the allantus hung heavy and motionless in the hush of the impending storm.

Will Asiatic Cholera Follow?

Mr. Joe Howard's theory that one horror of a similar nature follows another to the number of three has a chance for confirmation this summer if certain predictions prove true. First it was the gripe; "A whim" the French define it. Second came deaths by scores from its after effects, or from the many atmospheric changes of the past few months. Severe cases of pneumonia, bronchitis, intense catarrh and general loss of strength were the results, until death was almost welcomed as a relief to the sufferers. No that this epidemic and its sequels has proven to be the most terribly "whim" that ever visited this country. And now for number three; the theory is said to be advanced that the cholera is very likely to find fertile soil in the generally debilitated constitutions of our people resulting from the effects of such a winter and spring as has just passed. Whether the theory of three will be confirmed in this case or not remains to be seen. At any rate, it behooves every person still affected by any of the complaints due to these climatic changes and epidemics, such as catarrh or bronchial troubles, to look well to themselves and see that every trace of the trouble is removed this present month; before the heat of summer will more debilitate the system. For years we have found that simple old remedy, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, and as directed, to be the most certain remedy for all forms of lingering summer colds, catarrh or bronchial affections, as well as a preventive and cure for all kinds of summer complaints. It is absolutely certain that a remedy that has survived for eighty years as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has done, must have more than average merit. We suppose there is not a family in this country but what has this good old-fashioned remedy in the house. If there is, we advise them to get it at once or write the manufacturers, I. S. Johnson & Co., Weston, Mass., for a pamphlet describing its uses for the South-western States. Now is the time. Dollars are dangerous, and an ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. ap10 d6i wll Commandable. All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely excluded by the L. F. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and stomach, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretension that every ailment will not subsist.

HEART FAILURE, FAINTNESS, ACUTE DYSPEPSIA,

Complete Nervous Prostration, with HAWKER'S NERVE & STOMACH TONIC. A LADY'S EXPERIENCE. Mr. Wm. Thompson of Musquash, N. B., writes: "For 2 years past my wife has suffered with Acute Dyspepsia accompanied with complete nervous prostration and a smothering sensation about the heart which frequently produced an attack of faintness. She became weak and nervous, lost all strength, and constant feeling of dread. She suffered with intense pain in the stomach after eating, which was usually followed by the most distressing sensation about the heart and fainting spells. She tried a great many remedies and was treated by the doctors for 12 months, but obtained no relief. She became so discouraged that she gave up all hope of ever getting better, when her pastor suggested that she try HAWKER'S NERVE & STOMACH TONIC and LIVER PILLS. Within 10 days she was able to walk, and in several cases he knew of. We did not expect to obtain immediate relief from the Tonic, but after taking the second dose, she has continued to improve ever since until today she is as well as ever, and can enjoy her food without fear of suffering. I cannot speak too highly of these valuable medicines which have restored my wife to health and strength and saved much suffering and expense. Rev. Henry M. Spike, Rector of Musquash, N. B., says: "I am personally acquainted with Mrs. Thompson's case, and her treatment, and that the medicine which I recommended to her produced such remarkable results." Sold by all druggists and general dealers. TONIC 50 cts.; PILLS 25 cts. Manufactured by the HAWKER MEDICINE CO., Ltd., St. John, N. B.
