CELERY

Why do we hear and see so much about "Paines' Celery Compound?" Because it is claimed to have a certain amount of celery in its composition, and why are we blowing so much about celery? Because we have the genuine article, and in order to introduce it even more thoroughly, we make the following liberal offer:— Celery per bbl $2.00 for 3 bbls $5.00 for 6 bbls $9.50—a plan for keeping celery sent with each order; also a sample sent on receipt of address and 5 cents in stamps. When ordering state if for winter keeping or present use, we ship to all the Maritime Provinces, and celery will be received by our customers in perfect condition for winter keeping.

We are also growers and shippers of cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips, cauliflower, tomatoes, onions. Orders from unknown correspondents, will please accompany order with cash Address,—

Cross in Front of Engines. "One of the oddest traits in animal nature," said an old time Illinois Central engineer, "is the desire of every living thing to cross in front of the locomotive. At first it filled me with wonder, and I used to lie awake nights trying to explain it. Now it's grown to be an old story with me. "What goes in front of the engine? Why, everything. Let me see! I've seen snakes—and I'm a sober man, mind you—stick up their heads to see what was making all the rumble along the right of way and then deliberately start to crawl across the rails. I've seen many a quail spring up along the right of way, fly along just ahead of the engine and then shoot across in front. Several times when I've been running a mile a minute the engine has struck these birds and killed them. In the old days I used to jump a deer now and then, and the chances were he'd cross the track every time. Cattle invariably do it until they have learned better; so do pigs and all domestic animals. Even chickens will run fluttering across. "It seems to me I've killed enough animals to stock a farm and a menagerie."

Coleridge's Cloudiness. There is in Mr. Ellis Yarnoll's interesting volume of reminiscences, "Wordsworth and the Coleridges," a very amusing story of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, whose thoughts were sometimes too profound even for poets to follow. Wordsworth and Samuel Rogers had spent the evening with Coleridge, and as the two poets walked away together Rogers remarked cautiously: "I did not altogether understand the latter part of what Coleridge said." "I didn't understand any of it," Wordsworth hastily replied. "No more did I!" exclaimed Rogers, with a sigh of relief.

What Paper Costs. Ladies who go shopping have little idea of the cost of their trip, even in such a minor detail as the cost of paper for the packages they have sent home. A Baltimorean has recently compared the weight of paper with the food supplied to the purchaser. In one day's purchases it is said that the paper wrapping amounted to about 10 per cent of the total. In a list of supplies costing about $1.40 he found that the paper which was weighed with the provisions cost 14 1/2 cents.

The Kind He Bought. Little Edwin—Mamma, what is liquid air? Mamma—I don't know. Ask your papa. He's always going out between the acts "to get a little air."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Hope is a flatterer, but the most upright of all parasites, for she frequents the poor man's hut as well as the palace of his superiors.—Shenstone.
