FARM AND GARDEN.

HINTS AND NEWS NOTES FOR CITY AND COUNTRY.

Fruits for Winter—The Factory Value of Milk—The Japanese Viburnum Plicatum as a Choice Snowball.

A correspondent of the American Cultivator says, in reference to this matter, that apples are about the only fruits that farmers attempt to raise for winter use, and yet there is really no reason why pears and grapes should not be added to this list. It would well repay one to experiment with such fruits, even for home use alone. A cellar that is stocked with good winter pears and grapes will afford more pleasure to the owner than he imagines, and then after we have made a success of raising these fruits for home use we can enter into the business of supply the markets. I would advise growers of late winter pears to study the methods of keeping them late as much as the question of raising them. Generally the late fall months are noted for their winter pears, but after December, if not before, the fruit all disappears, and the markets are out of them. If one could at such time send in a lot of well-kept winter pears he could reap the just rewards that come to those who have no competition in their business. We need really to study the question of preserving the fruits later.

We have recently introduced here the Wilder and Barry pears, and these can be kept all through the winter in fair condition. They originally came from California, and some of them have been preserved without much trouble until April. Then we have the Josephine pear, which is a large, yellow fruit, which is fair to taste as well as to look at. This pear is a good grower and can be kept in excellent condition until March. This pear has not been grown as much as its excellent quality and name deserve. When placed in the market in the latter part of winter it is pretty sure to sell for fancy prices. In keeping these winter pears, however, only the very best and soundest should be preserved. We have another juicy and fair pear that can be kept well into March and even into April, and that is the well-known Beurre D'Arenburg. Some think that an acquired taste is necessary fully to appreciate, this winter pear, but fruit-loving people find no difficulty in acquiring new tastes when their favorite fruits are scarce and the variety to choose from small.

It is the same with grapes as with pears. We need to experiment more with late-growing varieties and then to study the best methods of preserving them. We have plenty of fall grapes and the markets also well supplied with them that prices are really low. But for very late grapes there is still a demand provided they are sound and well kept. There are many varieties of grapes that can be kept until very late in the winter, and by good cold storage they can be preserved until spring. Nearly all of the late fall varieties are amenable to good keeping, and they retain their hardness and fine appearance without much difficulty, when even cold temperature is provided for them. We could at least keep enough of these grapes for our own table, for there is no greater luxury in the winter than cold-storage grapes.

Factory Value of Milk.

The American Dairyman gives the following summary of a product chart that is the basis on which Canadian cheese factories operate: "A quantity of 5000 lbs. of milk of 3.2 per cent. butter fat should produce 160 lbs. of butter fat, from which 452½ lbs. of cheese can be obtained. It will require 11.03 lbs. of milk to make a pound of such cheese. A pound of butter fat will make 2.83 lb. of such cheese and the patron will be paid 88 cents per 100 lbs. for his milk. Where the percentage of fat is 3.3 there will be a 5-pound increase of it in 5000 lbs. of milk over the amount given for the 3.2 per cent. milk. This amount will make 458½ lbs. of cheese which requires 10.89 lbs. of milk to produce 1 lb. of cheese. Each pound of fat of such milk is expected to make 2.78 lbs. of cheese. The price paid for such milk is 88 cents per 100 lbs. Milk of 3.5 per cent. of fat is set down to contain 175 lbs. of it in 5000 lbs. of milk. This quantity makes 468 lbs. of cheese and requires 10.67 lbs. of milk to each pound of cheese. Every pound of fat should make 2.67 lbs. of cheese, milk to be paid at rate of 93 cents per 100 lbs. With milk of 3.7 per cent. fat, 185 lbs. of it is present in 5000 lbs. of milk, which should make 477 lbs. of cheese, each pound requiring 10.48 lbs. of milk. Each pound of fat is to make 2.57 lbs. of cheese and 93 cents per 100 lbs. is paid for the milk. Where the percentage of fat in milk is 3.9, 5000 lbs. of milk will give 195 lbs. of it. This amount makes 503½ lbs. of cheese, each pound requiring 9.92 lbs. of milk to make it. There should be 2.58 lbs. of cheese for every pound of fat and this class of milk costs $1.03 per 100 lbs."

A Choice Snowball.

A prominent floriculturist says in a local paper that the ordinary snowball is one of the commonest of shrubs. There is hardly a garden in the country that has not one or more of it. Its large balls of white flowers are so pretty that it has been a shrub that everybody had to have. Great as it is, the Japanese Viburnum Plicatum is far superior. It needs no pruning such as the other does to make it a shapely shrub, but from the start it forms a bush of uniform outline. Then in its foliage it far exceeds the other. The leaves are entire, not ragged-looking, and have a plaited appearance, and are of a thick substance that high winds will not tear. The leaves are of a rich, dark green velvety color, and they retain their color long after the foliage of everything else has turned brown and dropped off in the fall. But it is in its flowering that its high claim for favor is found. A more beautiful shrub does not exist. The leaves are arranged opposite each other all along the stems, and from the base of each leaf-stalk springs a ball of flowers. There are often as many as 10 pairs of these or 20 balls of beautiful white flowers, on a branch 18 inches long. There is hardly a branch on the whole bush but what is full of blossoms, so that it is easy to conceive what a grand sight one of these plants is when full of bloom. These balls, as they expand, all face upward, so that a full view of their great beauty is always to be had. It is one of the easiest shrubs to transplant, as it has a perfect mass of small fibrous roots. To be a universal favorite, a shrub must be hardy, easily transplanted and grown of good shape and beautiful in leaf and flower, and all this the Japan snowball is to the fullest extent.

HAWKER'S LIVER PILLS contain no mercury, are purely vegetable, safe, sure and effective. Do not gripe, small, easy to take. Sold everywhere.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

TONGUE AND SPEECH.

Various Positions Assumed in Making Vocal Sounds.

For making t e s and z the tongue is to be partially applied to a portion of the palate next the teeth. Not only, however, must the contact be incomplete, but its place is indefinite—may be half an inch further back, says Herbert Spencer, in The Contemporary Review.

To make sh and zh the contact has to be made not with the tip but with the upper surface of the tongue, and must be an incomplete contact. Though for making the liquids the tip of the tongue and the sides of the tongue are used, yet the requisite is not any exact adjustment of the tip, but an imperfect contact with the palate.

For the th the tip is used along with the edges of the tongue, but no perfect adjustment is required, either to the edges of the teeth or to the junction of the teeth with the palate, where the sound may equally well be made. Though for the t and d complete contact of tip and edges of the tongue with the palate is required, yet the place of contact is not definite, and the tip takes no more important share in the action than the sides.

Anyone who observes the movements of his tongue in speaking will find that there occur no cases in which the adjustments must have an exactness corresponding to the extreme power of discrimination which he up possesses; for speech this endowment is useless. Even were it useful, it could not be shown that it has been developed by survival of the fittest; for though perfect articulation is useful, yet imperfect articulation has rarely such an effect as to impede a man in the maintenance of his life if he is a good workman.

A German's intermingles of b's and d's do not disadvantage him. A Frenchman who, in the place of the sound of the th always makes the sound of z, succeeds as a teacher of music or dancing no less than if he achieved the English pronunciation. Nay, even such an imperfection of speech as that which arises from cleft palate does not prevent a man from getting on if he is capable.

True, it may go against him as a candidate for Parliament or as an "orator" of the unemployed (mostly not worth employing). But in the struggle for life he is not hindered by the effect to the extent of being less able than others to maintain himself and his offspring.

NIGHT GROWTH.

Nature's Best Work is Done During the Hour of Repose.

It is a curious fact that night is the time when nature utilizes for growth. Plants grow much more in the night than in the daytime, as can be proved any time by measurement. Measure a vine at night, then measure it again in the morning, and the next night, and it will be found that the night growth is two or three times that accomplished during the day. During the day the plant is very busy gathering nourishment from various sources; and during the night this raw material is assimilated into the plant life.

The same fact is true of the animal creation. Children grow more rapidly during the night. In the daytime, while the child is awake and active, the system is kept busy disposing of the wastes consequent on this activity; but during sleep the system is free to extend its operations beyond the mere replacing of wornout particles; hence the rapid growth.

This is why so many invalids need so much rest and sleep. The system has been taxed for years beyond its ability to repair the tissues, and hence the organism has become worn and disabled from the accumulation of waste products, and disease has resulted. With the proper conditions restored, and a season of perfect rest, nature will reassert herself, clearing up the clogged and dirty tissues and restoring the organs to their normal condition.—Good Health.

HARDUP PEOPLE'S CLUB.

A Queer Gathering That May be Seen in Paris.

At the entrance to the Avenue du Bois, on the left, is what is called the Cercle des Panes, which, translated, means, "The Hardup People's Club." This gathering is held under the magnificent verdant foliage of four rows of chestnuts, which were recently in all the glory of full bloom. It is supposed to be frequented by persons who cannot afford a carriage to drive to the wood, and yet who want to see and, above all, to be seen. The accommodations consist of arm and other chairs, which are paid for at the rate of two and four cents a sitting, and the plebeian bench, which costs nothing. Marriageable young ladies, flanked by a superb chaperon—generally the mamma or an aunt—muster there in force on the keen lookout for a lord and master. Men also frequent the spot. They are of all ages, from the pert, downy-lipped adolescent, fresh from college, to the made-up roue. Everyone there is well dressed and impecunious, and the other sex exerts all its efforts to deceive the other. Men are looking out for ladies, maids or widows with a dot, and ladies are in search of husbands.—Chicago Herald.

Wire and Cut Nails.

The holding power of wire and cut nails was recently investigated at the Watertown arsenal and the cut nails were shown to have a holding power about 73 per cent. greater than the other class. As the production of steel wire nails now exceeds the output of cut nails, and as the manufacturers of the latter claimed for them a greater holding power, a challenge was issued and accepted, and the arsenal test was to decide the dispute. In fifty-eight series of test the cut nails came out ahead in each, and in most cases very much ahead. In all 1,150 nails, ranging from 1 1-8 to 6 inches in length, were driven into spruce and pine timber, and the force required to pull them out was measured on an Emery testing machine. With floor nails from 2 to 4 inches long driven in spruce the resistance of the cut nails was 80 per cent higher than that of the wire nails; with finish nails in spruce the cut nail was 62 per cent ahead, and when driven into pine with the taper perpendicular to the grain of the wood the excess resistance in favor of the cut nail was 125 per cent. Even with the taper parallel to the grain of the wood the cut nail afforded a resistance twice that of the wire nail.

A Mystery of the Church.

Freddie—Ma, didn't the missionary say that the savages didn't wear any clothes?

Mother—Yes, my boy.

"Then why did pa put a button in the missionary box?"

The Elliott Case.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 4.—Many citizens of this city are willing to vouch for the truth of Frank Elliott's statement that he was cured of kidney disease of six years' standing by the use of Dodd's kidney pills. Everyone is astonished at the rapidity of thoroughness with which these pills do their work. As one who had tried them says: "A man feels, after using them, as though he had never enjoyed life before." The Rymal case, in which a paralytic was cured by Dodd's kidney pills, opened the eyes of the people in this vicinity to the virtues of this remedy.
