Mr. Gladstone's Troubles.

HE IS FORCED TO GIVE WAY ON THE SOUDAN QUESTION—THE FRANCHISE BILL IN DANGER—THE IRISH NATIONAL PRESS ON THE EMIGRATION MOVEMENT.

The New York Tribune's cable letter, dated March 17, says:—The singular and persistent rumors of dissension in the cabinet gained credence when it was found that it was not Mr. Gladstone but Lord Hartington, who spoke for the Ministry on Monday. It is freely acknowleged that Mr. Gladstone's illness, which was originally of the slightest character, confined him to his house, because he was finally outvoted and overruled in the cabinet, the majority insisting that a firmer tone should be taken about Egypt, and that there should be a fuller recognition of England's real responsibilities. Mr. Gladstone has heretofore been supposed to be absolute master in the cabinet, and in this instance he was obliged to give way, but preferred that the new departure should be announced by Lord Hartington. It is understood that Lord Hartington, Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Charles Dilke and nearly every other influential minister joined in advocating a more definite policy in Egypt. By far the more important political event of the week was the speech of Lord Hartington made in accordance with this decision in the House of Commons on Monday, in response to the Tory demand for a more specific statement of the ministerial policy in Egypt. While avoiding everything like an open contradiction of Mr. Gladstone's previous declaration. Lord Hartington's speech is generally regarded as the announcement of a new departure. He expressly admitted the duty of England to remain in Egypt until a stable government can be established there, capable of inspiring confidence, not only in Egypt, itself, but among European capitalists. He hinted strongly to the desirability of modifying the law of liquidation and reasserted the necessity of protecting the Red Sea littoral. He left the question of the retention of Khartoum open. The effect of the speech upon the house was evident from the smallness of the minority (thirteen) against the voting of the money for the military in Egypt. This reassures the country. Domestic difficulties in the meantime are not wanting. Pertinacious obstuction, taking the form of protracted questions and debates respecting Egypt and Ireland, has driven the Government to resort to Saturday sittings and a morning sitting next Tuesday, things unheard of at so early a date in any previous session. The second reading of the franchise bill is fixed for next Thursday, but the probable fate of that measure excites gloomy forebodings among the ministers, who are now doubtful whether it will run the gauntlet safely, even in the commons. Lord Salisbury on Wednesday announced, in definite terms, a resolve to reject the bill in the Lords unless there shall be violent public pressure in favor of passing it. Liberal journals admit that the bill is as good as dead, without great public demonstration throughout the country. Lord Salisbury's programme as defined by himself is "appeal to the people," which is identical with the hypocritical Bonapartist cry while the Bonapartist party existed. The ministers find themselves so much weaker than they were at the beginning of the session that they are already talking of a probable dissolution in June.

A press cable says: Irish papers are discussing the recent census returns in a bitter spirit. The Dublin Nation has an article entitled "Bleeding to Death," in which it says: "The life-blood of Ireland is being drained by vampires. Every one who has an interest in the country must gird his loins against this murderous union. The extermination of the Irish people has long been the traditional aim of English rulers. The present executive's will is set on actively promoting the murderous system which has already robbed the country of five or six millions of people." United Ireland devotes an article to the same subject, which it entitles "Killing a Nation by Inches." It says: "For all practical purposes Ireland in suffering a more awful drain of manhood than if engaged in a deadly conflict with a first-class European power. She has lost since the union more men than France lost in all the sanguinary wars of Napoleon. At least eight millions of people have been immolated in eighty years to the demon of English supremacy. Three millions of people, whose brawny frames supplied the physical force of the repeal meetings, were missing in 1852 when the census enumerators came to count them. Two million nine hundred and thirteen thousand of the population, who were spared by the famine, have been starved or transported since. The waste goes on faster and more furiously. Within the last year alone Ireland lost 103,000 emigrants, 71,000 of whom were single adults. She lost in mere thews and muscles more valued ones than were slain in any of the greatest battles of the world."

As things are at present the big bridge between Brooklyn and New York is a white elephant of the most prodigious dimensions. The cost of maintaining it is about $280,000 a year. The interest on the bonds is very nearly $1,000,000 yearly, and reckoning last year's earnings at $521,510 it will be seen that the concern is running more than $750,000 behind annually. To pay its way it must increase its daily earning by about $2,200. To do this the cars must carry some 42,000 more passengers every day than they do now. There are hopes, however, that the day of better things will come; when Brooklyn completes her rapid transit system, the railway traffic over the bridge ought to be immense, even up to its estimated capacity of 250,000 a day.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
