

PRINCE PATRIOT OF YORK.

Paddy, dear, and did you bear
The news that's going round?
The Shamrock blooms as ne'er before
All o'er the Irish ground;
The Queen has come to Dublin town,
And right o' top of that,
She telegraphs the Duke of York,
To call the baby Pat.

She might have given to the Duke
The choice of several names;
For instance Matthew, Mark and Luke
And John and Joe and James;
And Jacob, Isaac, Abraham,
But no—instead of that,
She telegraphs the Duke of York
To call the baby Pat!

She might have wished the boy to bear
Some Scotch or English name,
Some chieftain's of the mighty past
That fills the trump of fame;
But Scottish names she put aside,
And English—think o' that—
And turning to the Emerald Isle,
She said, "Let's call him Pat!"

O Paddy, dear, 'tis very clear
The Shamrock's blooming right,
So let's be wearing of the green
And dance a jig to night;
The Queen has come to Dublin town,
And right o' top of that,
She telegraphs the Duke of York
To call the baby Pat!
