NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP)—A public address announcer at the Sydney Forum during the 1949 hockey playoffs asked that John MacDonald report to the box office for an urgent message.

There were letters from the 4100-seat in the stands for reasons a red-faced PA man found out in a hurry. Twenty-four John MacDonald struggled through the jam-packed areas to the phone. It proved that it's advisable to be armed with more specific data such as middle names and nicknames when seeking a John MacDonald in these parts.

John Donald MacDonald would not narrow the field much. But John Donald (Brother) MacDonald will get the proper directions from any athleticly inclined Nova Scotian.

In Pictou, it's just about everyone knows Brother—physical training director for the Nova Scotia team, coach of the hockey, basketball, baseball and track coach, referee and umpire. MacDonald is assistant commissioner, radio sportscaster and racecar.

Habs' To Be Blake Wants Chance To Make Good
MONTREAL (CP)—The man in seven years as coach of Montreal Canadiens has always led them either to the National Hockey League title or the Stanley Cup — and frequently both — said Tuesday he wants another chance to make good.

Licking the wounds of a scolding by Chicago Black Hawks in this year's cup semi-final, Toe Blake told newspaper men "It's been my hardest year as a coach, my most disappointing year."

Blake is a record and, with a fifth straight NHL title in the bag this season. Canadiens are still gunning for Detroit's record of seven first-place finishes in a row.

There is also talk of wholesale changes in the lineup that used to say good-bye to the rest of the league early in the schedule and then, in the playoffs, steamroller his way to the Stanley Cup against tough resistance.

However, general manager Frank Selke does not seem to have changes in mind at the moment.

"Our veterans disappointed us in the series," he said. "Our rookies didn't produce. Next year, we hope that our veterans will be back healthy and ready to play. Our rookies will be more mature."

Major league baseball teams got down to serious business Tuesday with the world champion New York Yankees erupting as Pirates downed Philadelphia Phillies 6-0. Friend had the help of a grand slam homer by Roberto Clement and a solo homer by Don Hoak. Phillies got just five hits off Fried.

All scheduled night games were in the National: Cincinnati at Los Angeles, Milwaukee at San Francisco.

In late day games played on the West coast, Wally Pate spoiled the Dodgers' debut in their fancy new Chavez Ravine stadium by slugging a three-run homer to lead Cincinnati to a 6-3 win over Los Angeles before 32,550.

Bob Purkey picked up the win, with Dodger star Johnny Podres taking the loss.

At San Francisco a right hander Juan Marchal hurled a six shutout to stop Milwaukee 6-0. Marchal won his own game with a double and a hit.

Baseball Season Opens

By PIUS CALLAGHAN
The Yankees' opening against Washington was a first for the team as Philadelphia Phillies gave victories on opening day at the expense of losing two outlaws.

Last season the Phillies lost their first 17 games to the eventual pennant winner and that was indeed a mark that the Quaker City boys were sure not bragging about. However, they've made sure that no one is taking credit for their success as they welcomed the descending league champions 1-0.

Over at Washington, fans watched their favorites, the Senators game a 4-1 victory over the Braves. The Senators were seen to be sufficient other reason why to their club should beat them to the wire.

These occurrences are good for baseball. If all teams could have a fair share of contests—especially their home games—the leagues would enjoy more success at the box office. It's mighty hard to keep fans coming if a team keeps losing with monotonous regularity.

A Close Race Looms

The Yankees seem to be by far the odds on to win the American League once again. Of course, it's hardly likely that Willy Foyler will equal his performance of 1961, nor do we expect Roger Maris to lose out of home runs.

But it doesn't appear necessary that these two hallplayers reach such heights or the Bombers to rule once again. There is no reason to believe that the Yankees will be the only club to beat them to the wire.

In the National League, once again it certainly should be a losing season for the Cardinals. The Dodgers and Giants are a senior and right now no outfit should rule in 1962 campaign.

The Dodgers and Giants are a fair chance and Milwaukee Braves are rated by others as the team most likely to succeed to Cincinnati's throne.

The Cardinals are out of the picture. The Cardinals could prove the greatest surprise and then these Redlegs might just get a repeat.

From an interest standpoint, this National League looks like a real natural.

Has Good Season

A CHARLOTTEVILLE (AP) — Dave Buntain, was a key member of the Dartmouth Varsity hockey team this past winter. The Dartmouth squad finished third in the Ivy League.

Derek, played centre on the first line and scored 11 goals and got 21 assists which placed him third in team scoring. In addition, in Ivy League competition alone, his 14 points placed him second in the Ivy League.

"Derek is found for pound the best hockey player in the league," said Dartmouth coach Eddie Jeremiah. "His excellent hockey sense and ability to mix offense and defense made him through the season. In his last nine games Buntain had 20 of his 22 points," the coach continued.

"His play gave Linemate Dave Leighton, Excelsior, Minnesota, the league scoring championship. In addition, he helped the team as a whole, with Derek on the first line we won five out of eight games. In conclusion, he was my all-important player; he thinks like a pro," added Jeremiah.

DEREK had one of his best games against Northwestern University of Boston, Mass. when he notched two goals and four assists for six points. He led his club to their most convincing triumph of the campaign, an 11-3 victory.

He also excelled while giving five assists against the University of New Hampshire in a 5-1 victory. Derek was the pivotal factor in Dartmouth's come-from-behind triumph over Brown University. With his club trailing 5-4 and a Hiltz more than a minute remaining, he tipped in a long blast to tie the score. Then in the overtime he pocketed the clincher at 2:05.

Derek previously attended Bishop's College in Lennoxville, Quebec, and was captain of that hockey squad in 1957. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Buntain of Charlottetown.

So much so, that Mrs. Horton says "it's so nerve-racking I'm so nervous I'm most afraid to watch the games."

"I've even when Ken was a small boy, I can remember him walking on a cold Saturday morning to the old arena in York Bay with his gear over his shoulder. He would play for his own team, then he would play around the rink all day to fill in for other teams when a mother was missing. He loved it."
