Fine Concert Presented By R.C.A.F. Choral Group

Music lovers along the South Shore enjoyed a rare treat last Friday evening March 27th when the Summerside R. C. A. F. Station Choral Group presented a concert in the Tryon Baptist Hall.

All those who heard the choral group at the South Shore Musical Festival were so anxious to hear them again that, in spite of the bad condition of the unpaved roads, the hall was filled with an expectant audience.

The curtains were opened to reveal a chorus of 55 voices, 15 more than at festival time. The girls in their white blouses and black skirts, and the men in their smart uniforms made a very striking picture.

F/O Jack Cahane was master of ceremonies and added much to the evening's entertainment by interspersing the numbers with amusing anecdotes. He presented, with suitable remarks, F/L Len Lief, the organizer and manager of the choral group, A/P/O Allan Hogson, the official accompanist who added much to the success of the concert, and William Arthur Jones, the director of the chorus.

The programme opened with the singing of "O Canada", and proceeded as follows: Mixed choruses, Elgar's majestic "Land of Hope and Glory", and "Look For The Silver Lining", by Kern. The difference in the moods of these two selections showed immediately the versatility of the chorus.

The ladies of the group then sang two delightful numbers, "Rapturous Hour", Hahn, and Brahms's Lullaby.

F/O Ralph Emery added to the element of humor in the programme by singing two numbers in costume, "The Preacher And The Bear" and "Ain't It A Shame", which sent the audience into gales of laughter and which were encored loudly.

The whole chorus followed with the sound lecture "Sledge Bells" by Robertson, and the harmonious "Long Day Closes," by Sullivan.

Soprano solos by Mrs. Jack Cahane were next, "The Lilac Tree", Cartlan, and "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak. Her beautiful lyric voice and charming personality completely captivated the audience. As an encore she sang the lovely Italian song by Giordani, "Caro Mio Ben."

The male members of the chorus sang a tender air called "Secrets" and the stirring Welsh war song, "Men of Harlech." The audience requested that for an encore "Secrets" be repeated.

Then the complete group presented another musical comedy number "June Is Busting Out All Over," Rogers, and "The Big Brown Bear," Mannaccucca, both numbers which they seemed to enjoy as much as the audience.

F/O Ralph Emery returned to the stage to sing some songs in a more serious mood, and thrilled his listeners with "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Smilin' Thru," and as an encore, "Passing By."

Before the final chorus, Mrs. Charles Roberts, the vice-president of the South Shore Musical Festival, thanked the choral group for giving of their time and talent so generously, expressed the unanimous opinion of the audience that the concert had exceeded even their expectations and hoped that they might have the privilege of hearing the chor-

Easter Services At Alberton

In common with Christian churches throughout the world large numbers of worshippers assembled for Easter services at Alberton yesterday. All places of worship were beautiful with Easter lilies and other spring flowers.

Let's Talk It Over

An educationist, speaking of the school boards in his district, said that, although half the boards were doing a good job, many of the others were "uninterested, uneducated, and rabidly opposed to change." Making allowance for the fact that there are people masquerading as reformers who attempt to turn the "status quo" upside down without much thought of the consequences, it is still true that "uninterested," "uneducated" and "rabidly opposed to change" are very near, synonymous terms.

We shall always have with us the two extremist groups: those who embrace every half-cooked, ill-considered plan for advanced, and those who are shackled to tradition, and look with dismay at a constantly changing world. The well-being of our society depends on the number of people we have in influential positions, who are "middle-of-the-road" in outlook, who "make haste slowly" and who see to it that our freedom, as Tennyson puts it, "broadens slowly down, from precedent to precedent."

Islanders, perhaps partly because of our isolated position on the map, partly because of our blood strains, are inclined a little toward the ultra-conservative viewpoint. We have less to fear from radical opinion, which has little chance to gain a foothold here, than we have to fear from the standpoint philosophy of the good people who believe "whatever is right." It is possible that leaning towards the right is safer than a leftist incline. Ultra-conservative policies slow up the wheels of progress, but extreme radical policies set those wheels on the road to chaos. Still, our antiquated electoral system, which successive governments seem afraid to tamper with, lest they incur the wrath of the exponents of standpatism, is a rather shabby monument to our unprogressive political outlook.

Ontario led all provinces in number of telephones per capita in 1951 with 29.1 per 100 persons.

us again in the near future. The choral group closed the evening's programme with the inspiring "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." In this selection, the club displayed breadth of tone and the power to work out the dynamics of a score.

The concert closed with "The Queen."

Proceeds from the concert were given to the South Shore Musical Festival under whose auspices the performance was given—S.S.

Enjoy Visit In Canada's Capital

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacLeod have returned to their home in Victoria West after spending the past two months in Ottawa, as guests of their daughter, Mrs. Bruce Coulson at Mr. Coulson's home. While in the capital city they visited all the places of interest, such as the Royal Mint, where they saw the process of minting gold and silver being carried out, the museum and National Art Gallery of Canada, the Archives where relics and records are on exhibition, the Peace Tower, and the Memorial room, where the names of all the boys killed in the 1914-1918 war are listed in a large book and a leaf is turned over each day.

They also visited the gallery in the Chateau Laurier, the Parliament Buildings, where they attended House sessions, and the Senate Chamber, where they met Senator and Mrs. Barbour. On Sundays they attended Chalmers United Church. Their many friends in Victoria West and vicinity are pleased to have them home again, and that they had such an entertaining and interesting visit.

Israel's Gov't, Pleased

Israel's government expressed deep satisfaction at the announcement. A statement issued in Tel Aviv said, "Israel hopes that re- Jewish of injustice will be completed by the termination of the anti-Jewish campaign and will welcome resumption of normal relations between the Soviet Union and Israel."

Russia broke diplomatic relations with Israel Feb. 12, three weeks before Stalin's death. A bomb had gone off at the Soviet legation in Tel Aviv.

Six of the 15 doctors were named publicly Saturday for the first time. All are medical professors. They are V. K. Vasilenko, V. F. Zelmeyn, B. S. Preobrazhenski, V. V. Zakuosov, N. A. Shereshevsky and N. A. Popova, a woman.

The first four were members of the academy of medical sciences, an informed source said. Zakuosov was reported to have once been a delegate to the United Nations economic and social council.

The news of the new administration's action in the case was broadcast widely by the Moscow radio.

Need Not Move

Less publicly, the word leaked out that the Soviet foreign ministry notified the British and U.S. embassies 10 days ago that, contrary to previous requests, they need not move from their buildings near the Kremlin unless they wish to do so.

The Russian government notified the U.S. and Britain last year it needed the buildings that Soviet diplomats were occupying and leases would not be renewed. The British were house-hunting. The Americans are having a new 10-storey building built, to include both office space and apartments.

American officials in Washington said the Soviet offer was being dealt with thanks. They said the U.S. prefers to go ahead with the planned move to a new and sturdier building even though it is away from the centre of town.

Speculate

Continued from page 1. authorities to regard the release of the doctors as an action designed primarily to win approval and good will in non-Communist countries.

One speculation which some officials appear to make sense is that Beria, who took over the ministries of internal affairs and state security combining them into a single internal affairs agency when Malenkov succeeded Stalin, is strengthening his own power over the secret police system. The idea here is that he could use the discrediting of the police in connection with the announcement that the doctors were arrested on false evidence, to eliminate persons who were more loyal to Stalin, and perhaps to Malenkov, than to Beria.

The original announcement last January of the arrest of nine doctors said they were accused of murdering Soviet leaders who had died four to seven years earlier.

Purge Did Not Develop

That appeared to signal the start of an all-out purge. However, the purge did not develop and in a matter of weeks, Stalin's death ended the mystery. The doctors who had been arrested on false evidence, to eliminate persons who were more loyal to Stalin, and perhaps to Malenkov, than to Beria.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

A few sports fans may be talking about the marvellous showing of the Boston Bruins against the Detroit Red Wings, an occasional remark may be dropped on the coming Marciano-Walcott fight, but the main dish in the sports conversational banquet is undoubtedly the C.A.H.A. — M.A.H.A. — M.M.H.L. muddle which was started when Dudley & Co. informed the Islanders and Miners that Erwin Grosse was ineligible to play with Charlottetown.

"Cast your bread upon the waters and it will return to you after many days" is a familiar quotation. It seems to be also true that if you cast a bomb upon the waters it will also return after many days, and blast you into small pieces. Little did Chamberlain think what would be the devastating results when he continued to use Teddy Powers after he had been recalled by Eddie Shore. Just why this would disqualify Powers' replacement, Grosse, hasn't been very clearly explained. We could understand the games in which Powers played after his recall being thrown out, but why must it affect Grosse? Still, if it's down in black and white in the C.A.H.A. rules and regulations, it must be so.

It seems fairly certain that the C.A.H.A. is the real villain in this masterpiece of mismanagement, and that the Islanders have been made the goals. The C.A.H.A. had declared Grosse eligible, the Islanders were conforming to the rules in playing him, and if the C.A.H.A. Krenlin unless they wish to do so.
