MR. AND MRS. LORN BURKE

Very Pretty Wedding Is Solemnized At Basilica

St. Dunstan's Basilica was the scene of a very pretty wedding on May 22nd, when, before an altar beautifully decorated with spring flowers, ferns and colored vigil lights, Miss Beryl Catherine Beagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett O. Beagan was united in marriage to Mr. Lorn Joseph Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burke. Right Rev. Monsignor Patrick Mahon performed the ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was wearing a white, ankle-length gown of white American Jacquard fashioned with full skirt and crushed bodice. The tight fitting bodice was topped with stylish bateau neckline. The elbow length sleeves were complemented with white nylon gloves. Her fingertips veil of French illusion fell from a head-dress of embroidered net sprayed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The graceful hair style enhanced by "The Marie A. Leane" on the staff of which the bride is a valued member. Her white slippers with jewelled high heels and a cascade bouquet of red betterrose roses completed the exquisite ensemble.

Miss Margaret Beagan attended her sister as maid-of-honor and was attractively in an ankle-length gown of heavy blue nylon flared tulle, which featured a full skirt, tight fitting bodice and bateau neckline which came to a point in the back. With this she wore a hat to match in plateau style, wrist-length gloves and carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers.

The twin sisters of the bride, the Misses Eileen and Eleanor Beagan were charming in gowns and hats similar to that worn by the maid of honor. They also carried nosegays of assorted spring flowers.

Mr. Frank Burke, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. Wendell Burke and Mr. Arthur Burke, brothers of the groom were ushers.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of pink and gold brocaded tulle with picture hat to match and a corsage of yellow baby flowers. The mother of the groom was attired in a dress of pink flowered nylon satin topped with navy duster. Her flowered shell hat was of pastel pink and her corsage of pink roses.

During the Mass appropriate hymns were sweetly rendered by Miss Eileen Grant. Mrs. Joseph Dougan presided at the organ.

Following the ceremony, breakfast was served at the Queen Hotel to fifty immediate relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride's table, centered with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked with floral bouquets and tall white tapers in silver candleabra was very attractive. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. F. A. S. Jones to which the groom responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke left by car on a wedding trip to points of interest in the Maritimes and Maine, followed by hosts of good wishes. For travelling, the bride chose a blue and grey wool tweed suit in boxy style, a small pink flowered hat and accessories in navy. Her

N. Y. Heat Wave Cools Canadian

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (CP)—This is about women and weather—pick better subjects if you can.

It also has a bit about international relations. It tells how a heat wave cooled off a Canadian girl, boiling because of Yankee comments on Canuck weather.

The girl, Aileen—a housewife—you can find her at my address—came to New York to live in January, when icy blasts sent frozen citizens scurrying along the city's famed canyons.

FRIGID NEIGHBOR
Everybody talked about the cold weather, and everybody figured the cause was obvious.

"Cold air from Canada," was the phrase intoned over and over to explain the New York misery.

A salesgirl in suburban Jamaica didn't help. Meaning to be friendly she asked Aileen, a Nova Scotian:

"What's it like in Nova Scotia? I mean, you have night for six months and day for six months, don't you? Oh pardon me... I was thinking of Newfoundland."

COOL EXPLANATION
There was a female, frosty intarlude while someone carefully explained that the Atlantic provinces, while not strangers to snow, are some distance from the Arctic.

Such incidents brought tight-lipped feminine comments like "Good heavens, what sort of schoolbooks do they study?" Conciliatory male mutterings along the lines of "Now, now, when in Rome..." went unheeded.

A restaurant meal was interrupted when the good woman suddenly assumed a fixed stare, slammed down her cutlery and demanded:

Did you hear that? At the next table they're blaming the Florida cold snap on Canada, the idiots."

Canadian-American relations in capsule form—became as chilly as Aklavik.

COLD WAR THAWING
But all this has changed. A sizzling heat wave did what John Foster Dulles wouldn't have been able to do.

Sweating New Yorkers now hear television weather experts hold out hope "of cold air from Canada" to relieve the situation.

"They're glad, G-L-A-D, to be getting our weather now," is the delighted—and perhaps a little vindictive—comment out at our place.

WEST POINT W.

The regular monthly meeting of the West Point W. was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest MacDonald on June 5th, with this president in the chair.

Meeting opened by repeating the creed in unison. Roll call was answered by ten members with articles for grab bag. Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. Correspondence was read and discussion followed.

Members were reminded that the district convention will be held in Springfield Hall on Friday, June 14th, and plans were made to help in the usual manner.

It was decided to write asking for a swimming instructor to teach again this summer at West Point. The sum of 4.10 was received for print. Plans were also made to get together at different times to make things for sale for hospital fund at the opening of hospital in O'Leary.

Mrs. Frank Stewart and Mrs. Ernest MacDonald were appointed to attend executive meeting in 1958. Next meeting to be held at the home of Miss Mary Stewart in 1958. Next meeting to be held at the home of Miss Mary Stewart with Mrs. Anna Bartlett and Mrs. Phosie MacDonald assisting with lunch. Roll call to be answered with a dime.

Sick committee re-appointed. Sale of grams amounted to 2.00. Lunch 1.20. Proceeds for printing including money for print amounting to 7.30. Meeting adjourned.

THE EXTRA HIGH CONTENT OF FILM-FORMING SOLIDS* in Sherwin-Williams Housepaint... makes the difference!

LOW PRICE OF "BARGAIN" TYPE HOUSE PAINT

SWP HOUSE PAINT

90% FILM FORMING SOLIDS

F.F.S. represents the protective film which remains on the surface after the paint dries.

SWP contains TWICE the amount of F.F.S.—90% ensuring

- ... greater value, extra durability, longer gloss and color retention!
- ... maximum performance—gloss on floors, covers better, dries quicker, has greater hiding power.
- ... greater economy—1 gallon SWP covers the same area as 2 gallons of Bargain Type Paint!

Since using SHERWIN-WILLIAMS Housepaint we noticed the difference... in so many ways. With SWP Housepaint, painting is so much easier—it takes less time to apply, we find we use half the amount that was necessary when we used bargain type paints—and we obtain that attractive, "well-cared-for look" we like so much. You can have it too!

How? Well, any leading paint authority will tell you the reason. Sherwin-Williams Housepaint has better coverage because of the quantity of Film-Forming Solids* used... quality paints such as SWP contain 90% F.F.S.—compared with only 45% in low price, or bargain type paint.

When next it's paint-up time... choose Sherwin-Williams Housepaint and discover the differences for yourself—in performance, beauty, economy and protection! Your SWP dealer will be pleased to show you the wide range of beautiful colors and whiter, brighter whites.

BEAUTIFY AND PROTECT—porch and lawn furniture, bicycles, toys and boats—with ENAMELOID, the Alkyd type high gloss enamel, that is tops too, for woodwork, bathrooms and kitchen walls, and furniture!

FOR CITY OR VACATION WEAR

This is photographed on the balcony of the Virgin Isle Hotel on St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. The dress featured is perfect for vacation anywhere under the sun—ideal for city living as well. It is slim skirted with a bloused back bodice and a figure-conscious contour belt dipping low in back. Thanks to the high content of Acrilan acrylic fiber in this fabric, this elegant dress packs like a dream—wrinkles will hang out quickly and it can be washed quickly and easily.

Find More Hazards Driving School Bus Than A Taxi

TORONTO (CP)—Emily Gordon and Mrs. Donald Ross Dunfield have jobs here that they wouldn't recommend to other women—they're taxi drivers.

"It's hard work and you don't make much money, about $30 to $50 a week," says Miss Gordon. "Besides, you'd starve on the tips."

They are the only two women who were granted taxi licences in Metropolitan Toronto this year. Miss Gordon drives for a local firm, but Mrs. Dunfield now operates her own fleet of three station-wagons on charter work for private schools.

NO WOLVES

Both agree that talk of taxi "wolves" in the life of a woman really is a lot of nonsense.

"I've been driving for four years and have yet to meet a taxi wolf," said Emily. "If you know how to behave, you don't get hassled made at you."

She works up to 12 hours a day, six days a week, but seldom drives at night. "I don't think women should drive at night," she says.

Her boss, Philip McCarthy, said: "I wouldn't hire another woman, and I don't think they should get taxi licences. This is a tough business and no place for women."

Emily however intends keeping her job as a cabbie. She started driving at age 14. She first worked in a factory during the Second World War, when she lost her husband. She uses her maiden name in business.

She became a cab-driver after her doctor recommended that she get outside for her health.

"Women are every bit as good as men drivers," says Emily. She praises truck drivers for road courtesy but says streetcar and bus drivers are the greatest offenders. "They never give you a break."

On the other hand, Mrs. Dun-

Even The Horses Respond To Mom

CALGARY (CP)—A small dark-haired woman known as "mother" to everyone from horse-owners to stable sweepers has become a fixture on the prairie horse-racing circuit in the last 12 years.

Even the horses seem to respond to "Mom's" touch.

Mrs. R. J. Watt has done more than merely lend moral encouragement to the racing set. She has pitched in and done most of the behind-the-scenes jobs that keep the horses in racing condition.

She is the wife of trainer Bob Watt, whose handling of racehorses has made the Maxwell King stable of Winnipeg one of the outstanding Canadian stables.

HAS OWN HORSE

Until a few weeks ago Mrs. Watt was not officially a trainer, although she always managed to wind up with most of a trainer's duties. Then she bought a horse herself.

"I always try to help Bob," she said. "I walk the horses, do the stables—in fact, anything that needs doing."

Her own horse, Bonnie Spence, most adhere to the same training schedule as the seven or so other horses in the stable.

"We get up at five in the morning, have coffee at the barn and then start to work," she said. "We have a regular routine, you know, which usually ends about 11 o'clock. We're back at the barns at three and stay till the last race is over. That's 9:30 or later."

Besides touring racing centres on the prairie circuit, Mrs. Watt has travelled to Florida and Eastern Canada, shipping right along with the horses and her husband.

MAKES NO BETS

"When we set out for Florida I got some cloths I thought would suit the climate, like light slacks and jeans. Well, we left Winnipeg in 25-below weather and when we got to sunshine park we found it was 80 above at eight in the morning. I had to tie me right down to for some cool shorts."

Because racing is her "bread and butter," Mrs. Watt follows each race. She refuses, however, to bet.

"I'm a poor bettor," she laughs. "I'd rather see that two dollars in my pocket than somebody else's."

Their only son, IR, is in the mother's wanderings.

"Mom" is interested in other sports and she knits a mean stitch, but racing "is my life."

field has passengers that, in their way, can be dangerous.

"You never know when you're going to be sprayed by a water-gun or have a spider dangled down your back," says Mrs. Dunfield.

Girls are easy to manage, while boys are always pulling hair and creating mayhem.

"I just roar at them," she says, and then they are subdued.

Mrs. Dunfield has been driving since she was 12 and in the last 10 years has driven 419,000 miles. In 1946, she bought two station wagons and before she knew it, she had more customers than she could handle.

Now with three station wagons and three drivers Mrs. Dunfield says "I don't drive much anymore. I run the business."

WOOD SLANDS WEST

met at the home of Mrs. Martin MacKay for its monthly meeting, June 4th, with eighteen members present. The president presided and meeting opened by singing insitute Ode, followed by the creed in unison.

Minutes of last meeting were read and discussed. The School sick committees were heard from. A decision was made to have the electric lights put in our school, and later approved by trustees at school meeting.

A committee was appointed to supply the usual treat for the school children on closing day. A donation of two very lovely crocheted centre pieces were received from a former member, Mrs. Wm. MacMillan of Dartmouth and much appreciated.

New committees were appointed for next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Ben Herrington. Lunch was served by hostess, assisted by lunch committee. Meeting closed by singing National Anthem.

PRETTY PROFILES

The profile hat has had a good run this season, and this shouldn't be surprising since the line is extremely flattering to most faces. Emme does a new one in turquoise linen straw and flattens the wide brim on each side, curving it back

MORNING SMILE

Sweet young thing — and the sooner I never see you again the better for both of us when we meet.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada Council grants to aid Canadian cultural pursuits likely will be announced late in August, council Chairman Brooke Claxton said Wednesday.

A program of aid, mapped out at an executive meeting Tuesday, will be submitted to the 21-member council here Aug. 29-30.
