NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — Things looked brighter on Wall Street Tuesday as the stock market made it three straight on the upside.

Volume was 6,870,000 shares compared with 6,780,000 Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a gain of 4.89 at 795.48 after having been up as much as 7.23. These movements were not in the same class with the leap of 15.04 made Monday, the largest since June, 1965.

The market ended well on the upside despite severe profit taking among glamor stocks.

The feeling in Wall Street was of more general optimism, so far as the prospect for higher prices was concerned.

Most observers agreed investors were heartened by President Johnson's program for curbing inflation and for attaining lower interest rates.

Standard and Poor's 500-stock index advanced .41 to 78.32.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.1 to 287.5.

INCO GAINS

Dome Mines fell 1⅜ and McIntyre Porcupine ¼ but other Canadian stocks advanced. International Nickel advanced 1, Walker Gooderham ⅝, Alcan ⅜, Hudson Bay Mining ¼.

Prices were generally higher on the American exchange. But Brazilian Light and Power, Scurry Rainbow Oil and Canadian Javelin dropped ¼ and Molybdenite Canada was down 1-16.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks remained bouyant for the third straight session Tuesday on the Montreal Stock Exchange, as investors seemed to remain optimistic about the federal government's ability to fight inflation.

Brokers feel that the market is banking on an end to runaway inflation, which, they say, would in turn lead to lower interest rates on bonds.

Advances more than doubled declines 57 to 22 on the senior list; combined totals for the two exchanges were 97 to 56.

Canadian Breweries was the most active senior stock in sales of 10,486 shares, ending unchanged at 6⅝. CPR gained 1⅛ points to 57 and Walker-Gooderham ⅝ to 27¾.

BELL TELEPHONE LOSES

Utilities were narrowly higher, with Trans-Canada Pipe Line adding ⅞ at 28⅜ and Maritime Telephone ⅛ at 24¼. Bell Telephone lost ¾ to 49¾.

Among the stronger banks Toronto-Dominion was up 1⅛ points to 55½.

Steel of Canada, which Tuesday announced price increases of some of its main products, advanced ¾ to 23¼. Dominion Foundries was up ⅜ to 21¼.

On the Canadian Stock Exchange, Louanna Gold ended one cent higher at 23 cents on a turnover of 233,700 shares. Pennbec Mining finished two cents stronger at 24 cents on 217,500 shares.

Industrial volume was 133,800 shares and mines and oils 1,001,900 shares, compared with 105,300 and 720,200 Monday.

On index, industrials advanced 0.54 at 144.54; utilities 0.29 at 132.98; banks 0.79 at 110.14; papers lost 0.18 at 110.85. The composite index rose 0.52 at 139.99.

TORONTO

TORONTO (CP)—Prices advanced for the third consecutive daily session on the Toronto Stock Exchange Tuesday with industrials and speculatives sharing the limelight.

A total of 3,758,000 shares traded compared with 3,948,600 Monday.

Industrials have shown good strength since Finance Minister Sharp announced his anti-inflationary policy Thursday night and the industrial index, an indicator of key stock movements, rose .77 to 146.21.

In the main list, Stelco made a good spurt after the company announced a steel price increase Tuesday. The stock added ¾ at 23¼. Algoma Steel and Dofasco each were ahead ⅜ to 26⅜ and 21⅜.

Peel-Elder jumped 4½ to 14 on only 500 shares.

SPECULATIVES ACTIVE

The speculative market resumed its heavy trading with a number of issues making good gains.

Frobex and Area, who recently encountered copper mineralization in a joint - drilling program on the Gaspe property of Wexford Mines, highlighted the group.

Frobex climbed 28 cents to 2.74 on 416,944 shares and Area 16 cents to 2.26 on 190,580.

On index, golds were up 1.50 to 171.56, base metals .25 to 87.68 and the TSE .70 to 139.57. Western oils eased .13 to 98.78.

Assassin Of Prime Minister Had Grudge Against Society

By BRIAN BARROW

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Dimitri Tsafendas, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's assassin, was a surly psychopath with an ill-defined grudge against society.

It has been established beyond all doubt that there were no political motives behind his lethal knife thrusts.

Yet it is already evident that his crime will have a deep and far-reaching effect on the political situation in South Africa.

Tsafendas removed from the scene the one man whose presence meant strength, stability and an unswerving continuity of purpose. No Afrinaker leader since Paul Kruger enjoyed as much veneration and loyalty among his people as Verwoerd.

His stature in this country, even among his political enemies, was gigantic. He was the most astute politician South Africa has ever had. To the Afrikaner and indeed to all his Nationalist followers he was a revered father figure who did more to realize the Afrikaner dream than any other man alive.

It was he who severed the link with Britain and took South Africa out of the Commonwealth and it was he who fulfilled the greatest of all Afrikaner aspirations—the establishment of an Afrikaner-dominated South African republic.

SIGNS OF RIFT

He had in fact become a living legend. And he was going to be there for another 10 to 15 years, infallible and indestructible. Everyone looked up to him and this made him the greatest single unifying factor in the Afrikaners' history. But now he is gone and his disappearance has struck at the very roots of the Nationalist party's existence.

Three weeks before his murder his Nationalist party never seemed more solid. Then suddenly there were signs of a deep rift between the more moderate Nationalists of the Cape and the extremist right-wing groups in the north. No matter how deep this rift, Verwoerd had the power and moral authority to keep his party united indefinitely. When he cracked the whip, all obeyed.

His successor as prime minister will not have nearly the same strong hold on the situation and it now seems likely that the long-awaited split in the Nationalist ranks will come into the open at last. The result could be new and deeply significant moves in South African politics.

FERMENT IN PARTY

The rethinking was already in progress before the assassination. There was a ferment in the Nationalist party which was generating a lot of emotion, with well-defined factions in the Transvaal and the Cape jostling for positions of influence.

The struggle began after the massive Nationalist victory at the last general election and it became more intense after the easing of international pressures following the favorable judgment in the South-West Africa case.

The conflict was forced into the open only two weeks ago when the Nationalist newspapers of the Cape launched a bitter attack on a right-wing journal called the South African Observer which in a series of articles questioned the loyalty of a number of prominent Cape Nationalists known for their moderate views. The journal was conducting a kind of McCarthy inquiry of its own.

This clash however was only the top of the iceberg. It became much more significant when the fact leaked out that sponsors of the journal were a right-wing group of Nationalist parliamentarians led by the minister of posts and telegraphs, Dr. Albert Hertzog. This meant that the rift was not only among the rank and file but existed at top cabinet level.

LONG STRUGGLE LIKELY

One of the main differences between the two groups is over racial policy and concern that too much energy is being devoted to petty apartheid (such as not allowing a white football team to tour Japan) and not enough to the larger and more moral concept of separate freedom for the various races.

Each faction has been busy preparing its own leader—a man who best represents its idea of a successor to Dr. Verwoerd.

His disappearance from the scene has come so suddenly however, that neither side is sufficiently prepared for a trial of strength. Thus the new prime minister might well be a stop-gap leader who will keep the ship on course while the struggle for Verwoerd's real successor intensifies behind the scenes and eventually grows into a full-scale clash.

That clash might come sooner than many would care to think. When it does there will be a new regrouping among the various political parties which will draw even the opposition parties into the vortex and eventually see the beginning of a new deal in South Africa.

W. R. JENKINS LTD.

A Golden Opportunity

We have a number of new '66 Volkswagens — "all models", and several demonstrators. "We must sell" now.

OUR BANK MANAGER SAYS:
"You must get that new car inventory down before your new models come in."

OUR SALES MANAGER SAYS:
"Everything goes. Let the customer make the deal."

OUR BOSS SAYS:
"I don't care how you do it but do it."

WHICH MEANS:
While our present stock lasts you can purchase the world's finest small car at the lowest price in history.

- NO DOWN PAYMENT • 1st PAYMENT IN NOV.
- YOUR OLD CAR WILL NEVER BE WORTH AS MUCH AGAIN
- A NEW VOLKSWAGEN WILL NEVER HAVE A LOWER PRICE
- WE TAKE ANY MAKE OF CAR IN TRADE.

"Don't Wait Until Next Week—DO IT NOW!"

ATTENTION SCHOOL TEACHERS AND NURSES:
We can arrange special low monthly payments (with low interest rates) for you during this sale.

"OPEN NIGHTS UNTIL 8:30 DURING THIS SALE"
