BRAINS AND GOOD LOOKS

NO REASON WHY THEY SHOULDN'T GO TOGETHER.

The Duty of Looking Nice—A Sermon to Progressive Women by the Author of "Heavenly Twins"—Attractiveness Not Such a Fearful Sin, After All.

There is a very charming article by Mrs. Grand, the author of "The Heavenly Twins," in The London Humanitarian, entitled "The Moral and Material Appearance," but the right title is "The duty that is incumbent upon all advanced women of being at pretty as they know how."

Mrs. Grand discusses the question as to how it is that advanced women should be careless about their appearance, and she lays the sin at the door of the old fathers at the church, who used to regard beauty and woman as a dangerous addition to the resources of the evil one.

We are so steeped in ecclesiasticism that those of us who desire to ennoble our lives and do some good in our time generally begin, without asking why or wherefore, by disposing of our own personal appearance, and neglecting to cultivate such attractions as we may have.

The following observations are very sound, and I heartily commend them to the attention of those who are doing their best to win every woman her rightful place in the state.

It has been said that principles rule the world, but at short distances the same are despotic. When we speak the truth in a distant land, and it is especially that fine feelings, rather than fine words, call forth the finer feelings of an audience.

We are sentiment beings, and emotion is a factor to be reckoned with. It would seem, therefore, to be the bounden duty of every woman in a good cause to study the art of being prepossessing, and it is difficult to conceive anything more disastrously foolish than for women, at this critical period of their progress, to endanger their chances of success by being careless of the effect of their personal appearance.

On no account leave the heart out of your calculations. There are people who endeavor to travel on their heads, and in this case, while their hearts contract, and the consequence is that their harshness repels most officers than their cleverness convinces. To such a class of women, this critical period of their progress, to endanger their chances of success by being careless of the effect of their personal appearance.

The Elliott Case. BRANTFORD, Sept. 4.—Many citizens of this city are willing to vouch for the truth of Frank Elliott's statement that he was cured of kidney disease of six years' standing by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Everyone is astonished at the rapidity and thoroughness with which these pills do their work.

Water Turned to Wine.

Dear Friend, whose presence in the house, Whose gracious word benign, Could once at Cain's wedding feast Changed water into wine.

Come, visit us; and when dull work Grows weary, line on line, Revive our soul, and let us see Life's water turned to wine.

Gay mirth shall deepen into joy, Earth's hopes grow half divine, When Jesus visits us, to make Life's water glow as wine.

For when self-seeking turns to love, Not knowing name nor name, The miracle again we witness, And water turned to wine.

Simply Monstrous. "Jimmy Cricket hasn't that a big 'un," was the exclamation heard from some youngsters on Boylston street a few weeks since, as the writer stood conversing with a gentleman near the Albany railroad bridge not far from the junction of West Chester Park and Boylston street.

The cause of the boys' surprise was found to be an announcement upon the long bill-board lately erected for a famous theatrical company, opposite from where we were standing. A few minutes' observation convinced us that the boys were not the only persons attracted to this enormous spread of matter.

The board is the very largest in the world and the amount of paper used to cover it would make the fortune of every Italian Count, rick-packer upon the streets of Boston. Laborers stopped work, horse cars stopped, pedestrians halted in wonderment, as Mr. J. W. Black, Boston's old, well-known photographer, focusing his famous thousand dollar, wide angled lens over the great bill-board, to obtain by the sun's mysterious chemical touch an enduring photograph of the statements and legends thereon.

Among the class of which was the following: "It holds the fort while Old Jed Prouty is away!" "Every mother should have it in the house for autumn colds, soreness, lameness in body or feet." "Think of it, for Anodyne Liniment, unlike any other, was originated by an old family physician in 1816?"

"Without real merit could it have survived for eighty years?" These in bold letters, some of which nearly fell tall, proved to be what astonished the boys. This big sign demonstrates one point clearly by the courage and persistence requisite to the successful advertiser, like I. Johnson & Co., the proprietors of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; nothing daunts them. But after all, it is their forcible, persistent, courageous style of advertising which has made them successful, and they are now classed among the foremost advertisers of the day.

A Big Mistake. The moulting season, or the season when the hens shed their feathers will soon be at an end. The process is one that in certain respects debilitates and prevents hens from laying. The reason of this is that the growing of new feathers requires all the nitrogen and phosphates contained in the food and there is none left to form the egg.

A curious fact about the hen, and one that illustrates the foregoing statement, is this, if a hen's leg be broken during the laying season, she will lay her eggs without shells until the break is mended. The reason for this must be that all the lime contained in the food is required to unite the broken bone, there is therefore none for the formation of egg shells.

The formation of new feathers does not require any carbonaceous or fat producing food, consequently well fed hens get very fat during the moulting. Many farmers and poultry raisers not understanding all about these things kill off their old hens because they think they have stopped laying and are fat. This is a great mistake, because if the proper material be furnished them with their food to supply the increased demand for nitrogen and phosphates before the moulting season, they will lay through the moulting season, and will begin laying on the approach of cold weather and will continue to lay vigorously all winter, while the young pullets, raised to take the place of the old hens, may not begin to lay until much later in the season.

Very many people have learned from experience that Sheridan's Condition Powder mixed once daily with their food will supply the extra material needed to strengthen and invigorate their hens, enabling them to grow new plumage quickly and commence laying early. Two or three times a day, mix a teaspoonful of the Sheridan's Condition Powder with their food, and you will find that their young pullets will commence to lay at from four to six months old, and will lay continuously through the winter.

The Farmers' Poultry Raising Guide, published by the Johnson & Co., at 22 Canton Hill Street, Boston, at 25 cents, contains a vast amount of information on this subject. Johnson & Co. will send, post paid, two 25 cent packages of powder and one Guide for 50 cents, or a 2 lb. can of the powder, postage or express prepaid, for $1.20 and a guide free.

Avoid all Injurious Habits. Tea drinking is an injurious habit, and nervous people should be careful in the use of it. It is not a tonic, and if drunk strong it may be as baneful in its effects as brandy would be. Anyone who feels as if they were a bundle of nerves should give up both tea and tobacco, and use Sheridan's Condition Powder and Liver Cure, which will help them to exist in comfort without them.

George W. Dye, one of the wealthiest planters in north-west Georgia, is dead, and has left his fortune of over half a million dollars to the negro family who attended him for the last fifty years.

For Over Fifty Years. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relaxing the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other cause. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

A great drought exists all over central Illinois, no appreciable quantity of rain having fallen since May 27. No rain has fallen in Minnesota or either of the Dakotas in six weeks, and the pastures have been destroyed by the heat.

PROGRESS. It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach, and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Days of Agony. India contains one-third of the artificially irrigated land of the world, the quantity made servicable by that process in the colony being about 30,000,000 acres. Within the past forty years $165,000,000 has been expended in irrigating about 10,000,000 acres. The bulk of the expenditure yields a return of from 4 to 5 per cent, the yearly crop on the irrigated land in the year 1890-91 being estimated at $122,000,000.

W. H. ROGERS. THE GRODOR DYSPEPSIA CURE CO. AMHERST, N. S., May 27, 1893.

GENTLEMEN—I am 71 years of age. Have been afflicted with sick headache most all my life, which developed into Dyspepsia of a mild type about twenty years ago, and has continued to grow worse until during the past seven or eight years I have not been able to take a drink of cold water or milk, as they would produce severe pains and sometimes vomiting. I have been subject to severe pains in the chest, with dizziness, which have been more frequent during the past three or four years. My month was furred up in the mornings, accompanied with bad breath. My case was yearly growing worse.

During all this long period I have tried many popular medicines, as well as prescriptions from the regular medical practitioners, but without producing any improvement. In the fall of '92 I concluded to try a bottle or two of your medicine and such were its effects that I continued it and now I can drink cold water or milk without any inconvenience. Those dizzy pains are all gone and my mouth is as sweet as a baby's. In short, your medicine has cured me and I am sure that all Dyspepsias can be cured by its use.
