The Riddle of the Riderless Horse

By JEAN & CYRIL CASALIS

Fortunately Cornelle say the force of that argument, and with-out even questioning Malcolm as to how he had got the crop, he went in doors, slipped on some clothes, and led the way to the stables in quest of Jani. Observa-tion is a strong point with most natives, and the stable-boy's reply to their question was decided—Mortimer had carried his crop when he set out for Brandfontein.

it his business to explain its presence somehow. "But how long are we to wait?" Cornelle asked. "Give him till to-morrow afternoon. We'll go into Brandfontein, if necessary, and sound the police."

"How do you make that out?" "Well, I imagine that Japie won't keep last night's doing to himself, and as soon as the chap who got that crop into the house hears that it has gone, he'll make a dash for it."

Modern Etiquette

(By ROBERTA LEE)

Just how should a man lift a stiff hat when tipping it to a woman?

A. The hat should be taken by the brim, directly in front, lifted enough to escape the head slightly, then brought forward a few inches.

Q. When one is smoking at the table, in a public dining room, and there is no ash tray is it all right to use his plate or a saucer.

A. It is much better to ask the waiter for an ash tray.

Q. How should a woman write her full name after the death of her husband?

A. The same as always: Mrs. Paul Wilson, or Martha Brown Wilson.

Scared Floors If the hardwood floors have become scared with dark marks from rollers or furniture casters, rub the marks with very fine steel wool, dipped in quite soapy water. Rinse with clear water, and then apply a good furniture polish. They will be very much improved.

Making Jam When making jam, add a tablespoonful of glycerine to each pint of jam to prevent its crystallizing. By doing this, less sugar is required and it is more transparent.

Easier Threading A needle can be threaded more easily by pushing it through a sheet of white paper, about one-eighth inch from the edge, until the eye of the needle is visible.

How Can I??

(By ANNE ASHLEY)

Q. How can I treat hives? A. Try taking a teaspoonful of milk of magnesia two or three times a day. Or, dissolve one teaspoonful cream of tartar in a half glass of water and take before each meal.

Q. How can I prevent a thin skin from forming on the top of custard while it is cooking? A. This will not occur if a cloth or sheet of paper is placed over the top of the receptacle while the custard is cooking.

Q. How can I easily remove dog hair, fuzz, and lint from woollen clothing? A. Wet a rubber sponge, squeeze almost dry, and rub over the clothing.

Dorothy Dix Letter Box

As a Young Man Treats His Mother, so Will He Treat His Wife. Therefore, it is Well to Observe Her Carefully Before the Wedding is Performed

Dear Miss Dix—I am about to be married to a young man to whom I have been engaged for three years but I hesitate to take the fatal step because of his attitude toward his mother. I adore her, and she is one of the sweetest women in the world, but he seems to dislike her for no cause whatever. But he treats his own mother the same way. Is so rude and unkind to her that it embarrasses me, as she has many friends and has done so much for all of her children, my own family say that he will treat any woman marries him as he does his mother. That would mean divorce for me, because I wouldn't stand it. It seems to love me enough, but "it is always his subject." What would you do if you were in my place? PROSPECTIVE BRIDE.

Answer:—The wedding off while there was yet time to set myself, for if any one thing in the world is so it is that a man will always treat his wife the way he treated his mother. If he shows no respect for his mother, if he has no appreciation of the sacrifices she has made for him, nor the wrong he will do to his wife as nothing but a slave was sole function in life is to serve him and to whom he doesn't have to even ordinarily polite.

Such a man may stop short of the actual brutality of physically beating his wife when the coffee's just to his taste, or the eggs are a half minute overboiled, but he'll flay her with words deeper than any whiplash and that leaves very soul bruised and sore.

If you are high-spirited and ornery, you wouldn't stand such treatment. You would leave him, but divorces are not so simple as all that. You can't put on your hat and walk out on an abusive husband as easily as you can upon an insulting boss. When lives have been tied up together, there are many complications and heartaches in unsmiling them. It is a terrible thing to speak up the home that you but built and into which you have put so much love, so many hopes, so much of yourself.

And, if there are children, you will think a long time trying to decide whether your own self-respect and dignity are worth more than a settled home for them to grow up in. So don't go into marriage thinking that if you don't like it you won't stick it. Don't take any unnecessary risks. It is as safely as you can.

And don't forget this—that the young man is jealous of your mother and dislikes her before marriage, he will be ten times more green-eyed after marriage. He will do everything in his power to separate you from her. That alone would keep your marriage from ever being happy. For, if we love our mothers, we resent any unkindness to them far more than any wrong done to us.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My neighbor with whom I had been great friends suddenly turned very cold to me. I asked her what was the matter and she made some evasive reply and had to let the matter drop. I have never known until recently what was the trouble. A friend of mine, who is a friend of hers, told me this neighbor, her husband and I were untrue to her and she had never so much as paid me a compliment in his life, or showed the slightest interest in me, and I am equally devoted to her. Before my friend told me about it, she had never said a word to me about it. I had never told my neighbor that I knew what she thought and so I feel that my hands are tied. But I want to go to her and see if I can't disabuse her mind of this crazy idea. What should I do? WORRIED.

Answer:—There are promises that are better broken than kept and this is one of them. I urge you to go to the neighbor and tell her what she has done. Make her call him into the room and hear the story and help disabuse her mind of a sick fancy over which she must have been brooding all of these years.

You owe it to the man to help straighten out this matter, because his wife must have treated him badly as she has you, believing that he had been guilty of such an offense against her.

Don't let any foolish idea about the sacredness of a promise keep you from bringing happiness to two people, as well as clearing your own name of a sin that you never committed.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 18. My mother and father are both set on my marrying a farmer. I hate and loathe the country and I hate and loathe this boy. But my father says that if I don't marry him I can never see my mother and she is the only one I love. My mother and father talked the matter over with his parents and they have settled it between them that we should marry, no matter how much I dislike him. Please tell me what to do. Should I marry him and live miserably for the remainder of my life just so my selfish parents can be happy for a few years? Or should I tell them that I don't want to marry him and just as my mother married Dad because she loved him? My mother and I argue about this much that I cry for hours over it. I know they used to make a couple off in Grandma's time, but this is 1939. PUZZLED.

Answer:—Don't be puzzled over this problem. Just stiffen up your backbone and refuse to let yourself be forced into a marriage that can bring you nothing but misery. Don't let anybody persuade you that you will fall in love with a man after marriage whom you didn't love before marriage. It is the other way around, and you want to go into marriage just sloshing over with sentiment and blinking you got Prince Charming for a husband.

Your parents certainly must have very little regard for your happiness if they want to force you into an unwilling marriage and are willing to sacrifice you just to show that they have authority over you. Girls are not given away as if they were pet poodles in this day. They make their own choice for husbands and the man that parents give them is chosen for them by their parents and mothers are justified in keeping their daughters from making foolish marriages if they can, but when it comes to picking out a nice young man it is their personal job.

For Tuesday, July 11, 1939

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Today holds a number of busi-ness that are hidden to the pes-simistic eye. If you make up your mind you are going to succeed in some particular undertaking, take the bull by the horns and keep at an ambitious thought not jumpy pace. News likely.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)—Good vibrations. Head advice from their sound heads. Distinguish this day with at least one noteworthy act or word. One fine act a day would make any of us celebrated if we would not omit our day's performance! The trouble is that we are too inconsistent.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Be interested in world wide activities about you, and even in far-reaching ones that spell sturdy progress. The field of the pioneers is your field. Lend it your tal-ents. At the same time, watch the budget, and you born after June 21 don't speak sharply!

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Especially favored under today's friendly rays: salesmanship, new

THE COOK'S CORNER

Strawberry Ice Cream

(Made with condensed milk) 2-3 cup condensed milk 1-2 cup water 1 cup crushed strawberries 1-3 cup fruit sugar 1 cup whipping cream Method: Add the water to the condensed milk and blend thor-oughly. Crush the strawberries fine and sweeten with sugar, add-ing more if necessary to suit your own taste, but remember that sugar slows up the freezing and to be smooth and velvety, ice cream should freeze rapidly.

Add the crushed fruit to the milk mixture and chill well. Whip the cream just until it will hold its shape, then fold into the first part. Turn into a tray of the refrigerator and freeze until it is mushy, then remove and scrape the mixture from the sides and bottom of the pan, beating smoothly. Work quickly so the cream will not melt, then smooth it over and replace in the refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible until firm.

Simple Strawberry Ice Cream

1 pint strawberries 1-2 cup fruit sugar 3-4 cup heavy cream 3-4 cup coffee cream 1-8 teaspoon salt 2 egg whites Method: Wash and hull the berries and crush them fine. Sprinkle with the sugar and set aside for 2 or 3 hours to absorb the sugar and draw out the juice.

Whip the heavy cream just until it will hold its shape and stir in the cream which has been scalded and chilled. Add the salt and the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Turn this mixture into a tray of the refrigerator and freeze until it is mushy. Remove and scrape down from the sides and bottom of the pan. Fold in the crushed, sweeten-ing strawberries and beat lightly until smooth. Return to the re-frigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible until firm.

Ideas to eliminate waste and con-serve energy, music and literary efforts, government projects to benefit the public. Enjoy your hobby during spare time.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Generally favorable. Everyday work and familiar en-deavors are in first order. If you are sure about the worth of some-thing new, try it, but don't let it dabble in anything that comes your way. Study, improve, also regenerate.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Heed suggestions to our Libra friends. Make this a day of systematized effort. It will be easier on your nerves as well as for accomplishment. Prepare for future obligations.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 22 (Sagittarius)—You can be up-to the minute in dress and furnis-hings yet be economical. Look for quality first. Between duties re-lieve the mind with diverting read-ing or exercise. Friendly rays.

DECEMBER 23 to JANUARY 31 (Capricorn)—No excuses, this is a day of opportunity! But oppor-tunity won't come over and climb onto your lap—no, sir! Go to meet it. Be alert!

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 20 (Aquarius)—Born before Feb. 7? Tact and knowing when not to speak are outstanding requisites here. You born after Feb. 6? Know how to spend and where you'll get best returns for your time and money. Don't strain mentally.

FEBRUARY 21 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—And this should be a "red letter" day for every Pisces who is out to make a mark for him (or herself)! See the other person's point of view, look for the best, move forward with faith.

A CHILD BORN TODAY will be courteous, kindly, graceful if brought up in harmonious sur-roundings and by a firm though understanding hand. It may tend to be bossy, churlish in early youth. The Housewife And Her Activities

THE BROOK

I wind about, and in and out, With here a blossom falling, And here and there a lily trout, And here and there a grayling, And here and there a foamy flake Upon me, as I travel With many a silvery water-break Above the golden gravel. I murmur under moon and stars In brambly wildernesses; I linger by my stinging bars; I loiter round my creases.

And out again I curve and flow, To join the brimming river, For men may come and men may go, But I go on for ever.

—Alfred, Lord Tennyson.

Orthodox Mohammedans are loath to construct a building or weave a rug that has straight lines or flawless symmetry. They believe that only Allah is perfect, and that to construct a perfect building or rug is sacrilegious.

Pineapple and peach juices frateralize in ginger ale punch. Add the ale at the last moment and serve in glasses or a pitcher half-filled with crushed ice. The ice is needed to dilute as well as to chill the beverage.

For an easily prepared spring or summer dessert, nothing is simpler than frozen fruit sauces, canned fruits or berries. Sweeten them slightly and pour them into a tray in a mechanical refrigerator for four hours or so. They make a nice salad when placed on lettuce and topped with dressing.

JAM SESSION FOR THE COOK

Catch 'em on the hop, those luscious fruits that are coming in. Get out the preserving pan, lay in a store of sugar, and be ready to buy the fruits and turn them into jam as soon as they have reached their minimum price—it may be any time now.

Always dissolve sugar over very gentle heat, stirring well until every solid grain has disappeared. Otherwise the sugar is liable to burn, spoiling both the jam and the preserving pan.

If a little fresh butter is smeared over the bottom and sides of the preserving pan this will help to prevent burning.

Always use a large wooden spoon for stirring jam—it doesn't get too hot in the handle and gives no fear of scorching the preserve.

Choose firm, dry fruit for jam-making. Bruised, squashy, or wet fruit, even if it costs less at the time will not prove truly economy, for the jam made from it will most likely go mouldily or ferment before it is used.

When jam gets to its boiling stage it must boil really hard, if it is going to set and keep well. A gentle bubbling and simmering is no good—it must have a good, hard, rollicking boil.

With this latter point in view, never put too great a quantity of fruit and sugar into the pan or it will not be possible to boil hard enough without an overflow.

On scorching jam has boiled long enough, put a little on to a cold saucer; leave in a cool place for a few minutes, and if on tilting the saucer the jam cracks fairly solidly it's time to remove the pan from the heat and put the pre-served into jars.

Vinegar put in the water in which vegetables are washed will draw out the insects; salt kills them, but does not remove them from the leaves.

Jack and George were vic-ing to which had the latest wig.

"Come home with me," said Jack, "and I'll prove that I have."

They arrived at Jack's home, and found his wife peeling the potatoes in that, propped up by pillows.

"That's nothing," said George, "you come home with me."

When they arrived at George's home they found his wife sitting close to a big fire, crying bitterly.

"What's the matter, dear?" asked George.

"I'm getting scorched," said his wife.

Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini are fishing together on one side of the lake, and Mr. Chamberlain the other. But while the Brit Minister caught fish after fish, the dictators could not even raise a bite.

"How do you do it, Neville?" they shouted across the water. "They don't seem to be any fish on our side."

"The fish are there all right," replied Mr. Chamberlain, "but they aren't open their mouths."

Take Precautions Against Disease

JACKSON, Ky., July 9.—Fearful of disaster, health authorities today put a 12-mile area around this flood-stricken eastern Kentucky mountain community under quarantine.

Searchers in Breathitt and Rowan counties—worse damaged by the Wednesday cloudburst and flood—continued their hunt for additional bodies. Fifty-five bodies have been found and at least 15 persons are reported missing.

State police guarded the quarantined area as volunteers and C. C. boys scoured the From Creek and Quicksand districts of Breathitt County for missing residents.
