THE CITY SCHOOLS.

Midsummer Examination.

QUEEN SQUARE SCHOOL.

Among the visitors to-day were Hon. John Longworth, Hon. A. A. McDonald, Hon. David Laird, L. H. Davies, M. P., Patk. Blake, M. P. P., E. J. Hodgson, Q. C., Archibald Kennedy, A. B. McDonald, T. A. Lepage, Rev. Dr. Grant.

The school continues to do excellent work with the right material. The boys in attendance number about three hundred. Though there are many breaches in the ranks of the higher classes, the lower forms are well filled up, and the teachers deserve great credit for the progress evident.

After the examination, there was a farewell entertainment in the Upper Hall. The singing of the boys was very good, reflecting great credit upon Miss Cox, their instructor in music; the recitations were well selected; all breathed a healthful, moral tone, and were fairly well rendered.

Hon. John Longworth distributed the Cards of Merit awarded by the Board of School Trustees, and the prizes. He expressed his satisfaction with the progress made by the classes at whose examination he was present.

Mr. T. A. Lepage said he was very well pleased with the result of his examination, in arithmetic, of Mr. Smith's room. The answers of some of the boys were very quick and correct.

Mr. L. H. Davies, M. P., said he was not able to be present while the examination was going on in the various rooms; but he was pleased to notice the good order prevailing in the school, and the evident zeal and heartiness with which the boys took part in the exercises. He complimented, especially, the winners of the prizes for good conduct and punctuality.

Cricket in England.

The proverbial uncertainty of cricket was once more demonstrated in the Kent and Lancashire match at old Trafford on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Kent was not supposed to have the ghost of a chance, but lost a splendid match by a very narrow shave. The scores were, Lancashire 206 and 238, and Kent 309 and 65. It was a most curious encounter, for the first four Kent wickets realized about 280 runs, and all the lot were dismissed for 309, the largest total ever scored against Lancashire on the old Trafford ground. The honors of this more than respectable score belonged entirely to Lord Harris and Mr. R. S. Jones, and both these batsman played superb cricket, the former getting 118, and the latter 83. For Lancashire Mr. Hornby was at the wicket twice on Tuesday, and his batting was of a remarkable character. He first of all scored 88 out of 200, and then when Lancashire had to follow he scored 96. In both these grand innings he displayed all his old dash and fire, and he was only at the wickets three hours and three-quarters for his combined total of 184. On the second day, Wednesday, Kent had only 126 runs to get to win. The splendid bowling of Watson and Barlow was backed up by magnificent fielding and excellent generalship, and, as before stated, Lancashire won by 70 runs, a result that must have been very galling to Lord Harris and his men, who seemed to have the game all their own way at one time.

The Missing Link.

ALLEGED DISCOVERY OF A SOUTH AMERICAN INDIAN TRIBE WITH TAILS.

The existence of a tribe of Indians in Paraguay with tails is asserted apparently on good authority. An Argentine who has an establishment in the Paraguaian missions, in the district of Tacuru, Tuyu, was collected at Yuba, when his mules were attacked by Guayayes Indians, who fled after killing several mules. The muleteers pursued, firing on the Indians, one of whom, a boy of eight years, was wounded and captured. The boy was brought to Posados, and excited much wonder, and some Germans photographed him, he having a tail six to eight inches long. The boy is very ugly, but his body is not covered with hair. A brother in possession of Col. Roca has also a tail, and it is said that all the tribe are similarly adorned.

Frightful Explosion.

THIRTY-FIVE TONS OF MOLTEN IRON SCATTERED OVER WORKMEN.

A terrific explosion occoured on the 22nd, at Blast Furnace No. 5, in the North Chicago Rolling Mills. Thirty-five tons of molten iron were scattered in every direction. Two men were horribly burned and will die—one named Joseph Onions, the other a new comer, name unknown. Fifteen other men were more or less severely burned, none, it is believed, fatally. Meagre reports by the telephone say the explosion occurred just as the day men came on duty. The accident is believed to have been caused by a defective flue in the steam blast, which became clogged and melted.

Shortly after his marriage with the eldest daughter of the Queen of England, the present Crown Prince of Prussia visited, together with the Prince of Wales, the military barracks in the Carlstrasse. The Prince was visibly surprised to see, on entering the first room, the likeness of Princess Victoria hanging over the corporal's table. After wandering through several of the rooms, in each of which the royal visitors has fonnd a portrait of the Princess, Prince William remarked to his brother-in-law, as they stepped into another room, "Look! There she is again! I feel half-inclined to be jealous; she seems to be a general favorite here!" But the soldiers, in their anxiety to create a pleasant surprise for the Prince, had practised a little piece of deception a la Potemkin. As the whole company possessed only one portrait of the Princess, they contrived to make it to do duty in each of the rooms in turn. As soon as Prince Frederick William's back was turned, while speaking with one of the soldiers, the picture was taken down, carried into the next room, and hung over the table of the corporal.—Berliner Tagblatt

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Scott Act in Charlottetown.

Sir,—Last Sunday afternoon, at the invitation of the Y. M. C. A., the writer had the honor to address in their hall a very respectable audience on the subject of Temperance. In the course of my remarks, I said that "Intemperance, which I define as including the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, and their excessive use as a beverage, is an evil, so declared to be by the Word of God, as judged to be from observation, and so proved to be by actual experience, "that this evil is becoming conspicuously prevalent in this city";—"that places where liquors can be obtained in small quantities are more numerous than many suppose";—"that bar-rooms are open to the public at all times, on Sunday and throughout the week, as is evident from the drunkness on our streets";—"that all this is in open violation of the laws of our city and contrary to our Christianity";—I said further: "that a few of our citizens had done their best to enforce the Scott Act, and had succeeded in some cases, but at present scarcely anything is being done";—"that the evil which debases and ruins appears now to have have full liberty, in spite of the law, the authorities, temperance societies, Y. M. C. A., and our churches";—"that if prompt and earnest effort is not made to check the progress of this monstrous evil, neither life nor property will be safe, and our most sacred things will be trodden under foot—a prophecy that was strongly fulfilled last Sunday evening, by the disturbance in one of our city churches, caused by drunkenness." Not one word did I say about the Stipendiary Magistrate refusing to act in prosecutions under the Scott Act, as reported in The Examiner. Now, Mr. Editor, my reasons for treating your readers to this rehash, the accurateness of which can easily be ascertained are, I have received a letter from a well-known gentlemen whose name for the present I shall surpress, who, I presume, after carefully informing himself from reliable sources as to what was said on the above occasion, makes the following statement: "I regret that one wearing the garb of a christian man should have taken the Sabbath for the utterances of what is simply an ignorant or wilful untruth." "I shall endeavor in some way to prevent a repetition of your untruthful comments."

I am your most obedient servant,
Edward Whitman,
Ch'town, June 27.

CURRENT NOTES.

It is understood that Mr. Justice M. C. Cameron, judge of the Court of Queen's Bench, Toronto, is to be appointed judge of the Court of Appeal, Toronto.

H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh is advocating the adoption in Europe of the American practice of annually devoting a sum of money for the breeding of sea-fish.

The water of the holy well at Mecca has been found on analysis to contain 597 grains of solid matter to the gallon, and is seven times worse than the sewage of London. This explains the prevalence of cholera among pilgrims.

John Teemer, who, by the decision of the judges, at the Pullman regatta, is given the best record ever made for three miles, is a native of McKeesport, Pa., and is 18 years old. He is comparatively unknown in the sporting world, has done most of his rowing on the Monongahela river, has a powerful physique, and was trained under Morris, ex-champion of America.

Fasting as a Cure for Rheumatism. Dr. Tanner's heresy may yet become the creed of regular practice. Tanner claimed that fasting was a good hygienic cure for many forms of blood disease, and now Dr. Wood, of the medical department of Bishop's college, Montreal, reports fasting as a cure for acute rheumatism. Plenty of water or lemonade was allowed but no medicine was given, and from the good results obtained in fasting from four to ten days Dr. Wood is inclined to believe that rheumatism is only a phase of indigestion.

The Pistol.—A lively scene was enacted on the suspension bridge on Sunday last at St. John, N. B. Some roughs who were crossing the bridge threw a stone at a colored man a short distance ahead of them. The colored man threatened to fire upon them if they repeated the operation. Another stone was thrown and the negro man was followed by the crowd. Instead of keeping to the road, the negro took to the fields and got into a boat near the river. Safe in the boat he fired four shots at the crowd on the bridge. Two shots were also fired from the bridge. No arrests.

Were it not for the many sad facts brought out in evidence before the Highland Crofters Commission one could enjoy a hearty laugh at the expense of some of the witnesses. One man bursting with indignation as he poured out an interminable list of alleged grievances and hardships, declared that he would not be trampled upon by any human worm, and expressed the hope that the Commissioner would make the landlords jump. Another man in answer to a question about the summing of his croft, said he had not a cow unless it was a few hens; while another admitted having a horse, but added that it was dead.

A western wiseacre has come to the conclusion that the performance by Sir Charles Tupper, without salary, of the duties of High Commissioner for Canada vacates his seat in Parliament. The notion is almost too ridiculous for the serious notice of anybody. To say that a member of the Government cannot perform the duties which appertain to the Government without resigning his seat in the Cabinet is to utter pure and unadulterated nonsense. If Sir Charles Tupper cannot visit England and promote the interests of Canada there and yet hold his seat in Parliament, Sir Richard Cartwright should have resigned his seat before he went to England to negotiate loans. The law states that, "If any member of the House of Commons accepts any office or commission for which money is paid, or to be paid, the seat of such member shall thereby be vacated, and his election shall thenceforth be null and void." Sir Charles Tupper has not accepted an office or commission for which money is paid, or to be paid. His seat is therefore not vacated.
