

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

APRIL 2, 1884.

At Their Old Tactics.

The Grits at Ottawa are busy just now at their old tactics of springing a vote of want of confidence, when the House is going into Committee of Supply.

"Black Duck" vs. Prohibition.

On the 25th March, in the House of Commons, a vote was reached on Foster's Prohibition Resolutions. Mr. White (Cardwell) moved an amendment that when the country pronounced in favor of prohibition the House would grant it.

The "Patriot" and the Piers Question.

YESTERDAY we drew attention to the unpatriotic course pursued by the Patriot on the piers question. The last issue of that paper proves the editor is descending further into the mire.

Thomas Sexton.

AMONG the small band of noted men, comprising the Irish party in the British House of Commons, the subject of this sketch, Thomas Sexton, is remarkable for his oratorical powers, and his abilities generally.

When scarcely thirteen years of age he competed for a clerkship in the Secretary's office of the Waterford and Limerick Company, against thirty other youths, Sexton being the youngest, and he obtained the first place.

society, and was one of the principal combatants in the dialectical duels of the body, and was finally elected president of the society, and held the position up to the time of leaving Waterford.

It seems that Sexton although busy with his pen, took little or no part in politics. However, when the Home Rule League was formed, he joined its ranks, and in 1879 came Sexton's first appearance in Irish politics.

Sexton was at last a member of Parliament, and for the first time in an arena where his abilities had the opportunity of asserting themselves. Even in this position recognition came to him slowly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Contradiction.

Sir,—In the New Era of the 21st ult. I observed a paragraph which stated that the new bridge built at Fullerton's Marsh about a year ago "is falling to pieces."

Yours, etc., PIERCE DOYLE. Summerside, March 31, 1884.

A Suggestion.

Sir,—How much better it would look on the part of those who complain of the voting power given by the Water Bill now before the Legislature, and who desire that the said Bill shall contain a clause compelling the proposed company to construct sewers, if the complainants were to join together and put a Bill into the House containing provisions in accordance with their views, and thereby show faith in the cure-all of their own nostrum, by investing their money for the public good, and thus give the best proof that their philanthropy far exceeds that generally supposed to be possessed by the dog in the manger!

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

TUESDAY, April 1.

The following Bills passed in the House of Assembly, were sent to the Council for their concurrence, namely:

An Act respecting Affidavits and Affirmations. An Act respecting the Execution of Deeds of Married Women.

An Act to continue certain Acts therein named.

Hon. Mr. McLeod presented a Bill to amend the City of Charlottetown Incorporation Act, which was read a second time and progress reported. The Bill relates especially to the mode of collecting the City Taxes, and to make provision for the payment of certain debentures shortly falling due.

Hon. Mr. McLeod presented a petition from Charles Palmer and others, asking for an Act to incorporate the P. E. Island Hospital, a Bill in accordance therewith was presented, read the first time and referred to the Special Committee on Private Bills.

Hon. Mr. Prowse presented a petition from Geo. B. Aitken and others, praying for an Act to incorporate the Montague Cemetery Company. A Bill in compliance therewith was presented, read the first time and referred to the Special Committee on Private Bills.

The County Courts Amendment Act was passed and sent to the Council for concurrence.

Hon. Mr. McLeod introduced a Bill to regulate nuisances in the City of Charlottetown. The object of the Bill is to prevent the sinking of privy vaults to a greater depth than four feet. Owners of privy vaults now existing, if deeper than four feet, shall, if remaining open after the first day of June next, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding thirty dollars.

The Bill to protect Wild Fowl was advanced a stage or two.

Hon. Mr. Sullivan introduced a Bill relating to Standard Time, which was read the first time, and referred to a Committee of the Whole House to-morrow.

The Act to incorporate the Charlottetown Water Works Company received further consideration in Committee, and progress thereon was again reported to the House.

The Bill to incorporate The Island Publishing Company was reported agreed to with amendments, to the effect that said Bill be entitled The Patriot Publishing Company, and not "The Island Publishing Company."

The House divided on the question of said title, and the names being called for, there appeared in favor of the title "The Patriot Publishing Company."

Yeas—Honorable Messrs. Sullivan, McLeod, Arsenault, Campbell, Leforgey, Prowse, McDonald, Messrs. McKay, Holland, Bentley, John McLean, McDougall, Alex. Martin, Gillis—14.

Nays—Messrs. Yeo, Perry, Beer, Richards, Hooper, Farquharson, Sinclair, D. C. Martin, J. R. McLean, McFadyen, Matheson, McLaren—12.

So it was carried in the affirmative.

The Bill was then ordered to be engrossed, and to be entitled "The Patriot Publishing Company."

The House adjourned at 11 o'clock, p. m.

The Anxiety About Gordon.

HIS LAST MESSAGE IS FOR ENGLISH TROOPS—NO HELP CAN REACH HIM FOR SEVEN MONTHS—FEARS FOR THE WORST.

Gen Graham's latest and bloodless victory is regarded both at Suakin and London as ending the campaign against Osman Digna, although there is no evidence as to what has become of that prudent leader nor what is the temper of the tribes between Suakin and Berber, by whose help it is now hoped the military authorities may open a road to Khartoum. The whole British force is expected to return to Cairo, except the garrison of Suakin. Gen. Gordon has totally disappeared from view. It is not known whether the Government are preparing any relief expedition, except the semi-peaceful enterprise by way of Berber. Gordon's last message was a request for English troops. Since then there has been silence. Energetic protests are heard against the plan of sending native instead of English cavalry. The party of action prophesies disaster alike in London and in Berber from abandonment of Gen. Gordon. Another cable despatch says: "Despite strong pressure exerted by the jingo section (the Radicals), the Government have determined to adhere to their decision not to attempt to send a cavalry expedition from Suakin to Berber. Military operations along the Nile and upon the Red Sea littoral will remain suspended until October, when it will be possible for English troops to march into the interior. During the burning heat of the spring and summer months military authorities assert that an expedition would be altogether impracticable, if not impossible. Additional weight is lent to this opinion by the disastrous effect of the heat upon Gen. Graham's troops in their last march to Tamai. The N. Y. Herald cable says: "Telegraphic communication with Khartoum still remains broken, and no news of Gen. Gordon is forthcoming. It is waited with feverish anxiety and suspense. The people hope for the best, but it is useless to deny that many fear the worst."
