SATURDAY, February 19, 1842.

Another new paper has been started at Halifax, N. S., called THE SATURDAY EVENING VISITOR. It is published by Mr. RICHARD NUGENT, the Proprietor of the Novascotian, and is devoted to Temperance, Education, Morality, &c. We have received the First and Second numbers, and, judging from these specimens, have no hesitation whatever in giving it our cordial recommendation.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Last week our columns were so fully occupied that we were under the necessity of deferring the publication of the following report of the proceedings of the Institute, on the evening of the 9th inst., with which we had been obligingly favoured by a correspondent. On the occasion to which it refers, as stated in our last, CHARLES HENSLEY, Esq., R. N., delivered an able Lecture on the "Uses of History," which was listened to with marked attention, and appears to have excited the admiration of all who heard it.

The Institute was honored with the presence of its Patron, His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, who was received at the door by the President and Committee, and who, upon taking his seat in a state chair upon the rostrum, under the canopy, on the right of his Honor the President, was loudly welcomed, and who listened, in common with all the audience, to the lecture with the deepest attention.

After the lecture, the President made some observations upon its subject matter, and congratulated the Institute with its then being, for the first time, honored with the presence of its Patron, as he felt convinced that from the interest which His Excellency had displayed in the progress of their institution, and by the powerful force of his example and influence, the Institute would now assume a different position in the community than it had hitherto enjoyed. The President then invited a discussion upon the subject matter of the lecture, and called upon the Rev. James Waddell to commence it. That Rev. gentleman, who has been ever found ready to put his shoulders to the wheel to advance the Institute, at once answered to the call, and made some very eloquent and appropriate remarks. He was followed by Dr. Conroy, who concluded his observations by moving a Resolution to the effect, that the learned lecturer be requested to furnish the Committee of the Institute with a copy of his admirable lecture, for the purpose of having it published. Upon this resolution being made, His Excellency the Patron rose, and said something to the following effect:—That he felt very great pleasure in seconding the motion, as nothing he had ever heard exceeded the beauty, usefulness and sublimity of the lecture just delivered, and he would wish to see it go forth to improve and inform the minds of those who had neither the time nor opportunity to consult the extensive field from which so vast a quantity of information was drawn. He stood there simply as a member of the Institute, and he felt happy to see the benches filled by those who spent the day actively employed at their different avocations, and who yet came here for recreation and instruction; such, he would assure them, here for recreation with the most beneficial results, as let them but would be attended with the most intellectual knowledge, and they would become taste of the cup of intellectual knowledge, and they would become fond of the flavour, and let them drink of it ever so deeply, they would never be accused of intemperance. His Excellency concluded by assuring the Institute that he would be ever found a firm friend and cheerful supporter of every thing that could improve the mind or advance the best interests of the inhabitants of the country.

His Excellency was cheered in several parts of his eloquent address, and sat down amid deafening plaudits of approbation. The President was then about to put the motion, when Mr. Hensley rose, and said, that he begged respectfully to interrupt the Hon. the President, and request him not to put the motion, as he had certain reasons that swayed his own mind in declining to have his Lecture published; that he felt extremely grateful for the manner in which His Excellency and other gentlemen had spoken upon the mode in which he had treated his subject, and also for the contemplated honor of having it published, and that he felt extreme pain in being obliged to refuse their request. Mr. Hensley then gave his reasons, which were deemed to be quite sufficient, and the motion was withdrawn.

The President then suggested, that although Mr. Hensley had declined giving to the Committee a copy of his Lecture, for publication, yet, that perhaps he would be so kind as to deliver a copy to be placed in the archives of the Institute; upon which His Excellency again rose, and after making some eloquent remarks, with his usual fluency, moved, that the unanimous thanks of the Institute be given to Mr. Hensley, for his able Lecture, and also to request him to furnish the Institute with a copy thereof, to be placed in its archives. This motion, so kindly moved by His Excellency, was generally seconded, but particularly by the Hon. Thomas H. Haviland, and was unanimously adopted. Whereupon, the President rose, stated the purport of the Resolution to Mr. Hensley, and said that he felt proud in being the medium of conveying the same to him. Mr. Hensley rose, and appeared much affected. He returned his sincere thanks for the handsome compliment that had been paid him, and most cheerfully acquiesced in depositing a copy of his Lecture in the archives of the Institute. It was then announced that Dr. Conroy would lecture on Wednesday evening, the 23d inst., upon "Animal Physiology."

The assembly then dispersed, all highly delighted and gratified with the proceedings of the evening.

On the 9th inst., His Excellency the Lieut. Governor, attended by several Ladies and Gentlemen, paid a visit to the manufactory of Mr. Watson Duchemin, in this Town, for making ship's Blocks. The mechanical skill exhibited in the various ingenious devices adopted for facilitating the labour, and economizing the materials in the production of Blocks, renders Mr. D. deserving the attention of the public at large. His Excellency expressed his satisfaction with every part of the process, and his desire that it might meet with merited success.—Gaz.

At a Meeting held at the School Room, at Grand Rustico, on the 18th ult., for the purpose of taking into consideration the erection of a Church in that Village, it was Resolved, That the thanks of the community in general are due to John Hodges Winsloe, Esq., for the liberal grant of 65 acres of Land, of which a great part is cleared, on Township No. 24, for the use and benefit of the Episcopal Church, in this Island.

That the munificent grant of £150 Sterling, made by the Venerable Society for the propagation of the Gospel in Foreign parts, in answer to a Memorial from this settlement, be thankfully acknowledged, and that the same be met by the best exertions of the Inhabitants to aid in the erection of a Church.—That the said Church be 44 feet long by 30 wide, with a tower 13 feet square and 45 feet high, and that it be built upon the tract of land granted by the Proprietor, Mr. Winsloe, for that purpose.—Gaz.

On the 2d inst., a public examination of the pupils of the District School of Nine Mile Creek, Lot 65, took place in presence of Capt. Cumberland and Lady, Mr. J. M'Neill, the Visitor, and several of the parents of the children. The scholars, numbering 45, were examined at considerable length in Reading, Spelling and English Grammar; some specimens of penmanship were also exhibited. The performances were in general creditable, both to the children and the Teacher, Mr. Donald McLeod. Several prizes, provided by the liberality of Mrs. Cumberland, were then distributed to some of the most deserving scholars in each class. At the close of the examination, Captain Cumberland addressed the scholars in an impressive manner, acknowledged the pleasure he derived from the improvement manifested, encouraged them to further exertions, by the promise of his attendance at a future examination, and then still more liberally rewarded the most deserving among them.—Ib.

MORAL RENOVATION; or, The Empire of Bacchus destroyed. THE PRIZE ESSAY. By the Rev. JOHN KNOX. CHARLOTTETOWN: COOPER & BREMNER.

MOFFAT'S VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES.

THESE Medicines are indebted for their name to their manifest and sensible action in purifying the springs and channels of life, and ending them with renewed tone and vigor. In many hundred certified cases which have been made public, and in almost every species of disease to which the human frame is liable, the happy effects of Moffat's Life Pills and Phenix Bitters have been gratefully and publicly acknowledged by all persons benefited, and who were previously unacquainted with the beautifully philosophical principles upon which they are compounded, and upon which they consequently act.

The Life Medicines recommend themselves in diseases of every form and description. The first operation is to loosen from the coats of the stomach and bowels the various impurities and crudities constantly settling around them; and to remove the hardened faeces which collect in the convolutions of the small intestines. Other medicines only partially cleanse these, and leave such collected masses behind as to produce habitual costiveness, with all its train of evils, or sudden diarrhoea, with its imminent dangers. This fact is well known to all regular anatomists, who examine the human bowels after death: and hence the prejudice of these well informed men against quick medicines—or medicines prepared and heralded to the public by ignorant persons. The second effect of the Life Medicines is to cleanse the kidneys and the bladder, and by this means, the liver and the lungs, the healthful action of which entirely depends upon the regularity of the urinary organs. The blood, which takes its red colour from the agency of the liver and the lungs, before it passes into the heart, being thus purified by them, and nourished by food coming from a clean stomach, courses freely through the veins, renews every part of the system, and triumphantly mounts the banner of health in the blooming cheek.

Moffat's Vegetable Life Medicines have been thoroughly tested, and pronounced a sovereign remedy for Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn and Headache, Restlessness, Illtemper, Anxiety, Langour and Me. Headache, Costiveness, Diarrhoea, Cholera, Fevers of all kinds, Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsies of all kinds, Gravel, Worms, Asthma and Consumption, Scurvy, Ulcers, Invertebrate Sores, Scorbatic Eruptions and Bad Complexions, Eruptive complaints, scallow, common Cold and Influenza, and various other complaints, which afflict the human frame. In Fever and Ague, particularly, the Life Medicines have been most eminently successful—so much so, that in the Fever and Ague Districts, Physicians almost universally prescribe them.

All that Mr. Moffat requires of his patients is, to be particular in taking the Life Medicines strictly according to the directions. It is not by a Newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit. It is alone by the results of a fair trial.
