Russia's Supreme Soviet To Meet Again July 28

LONDON (AP)—Russia's Supreme Soviet (Parliament), which last met four months ago to confirm General M. Malenkov as premier, is to meet again July 28, the Moscow radio announced Tuesday night.

The call was issued by Marshal Klement Voroshilov, chairman of the Supreme Soviet's Presidium, and Nikolai Pezov, secretary of the topics that will be considered.

The likelihood, however, is that the session will be concerned primarily with two things: 1. The Malenkov regime's first budget.

2. Rubber-stamping of the removal of Lavrenty P. Beria as internal affairs minister and his replacement by Sergei Kruglov.

The Supreme Soviet, the elected legislative body of the Soviet Union, has only nominal power. Its job is to approve whatever the Politburo passes on to it by the Communist party and the council of ministers (cabinet).

The legislators constitutionally should meet twice a year, but for some time they have been meeting only once a year, around budget time. The Russian budget usually is presented in the spring. The presentation was postponed this year, presumably because of Joseph Stalin's death and the governmental changes which followed.

Inquest Held In Death Following Road Accident

Mrs. Alex (Gertrude) White, Robinson, Maine, came to her death in the King's County Hospital due to a car accident in which she was a passenger. The inquest was held on June 28th, 1953, at Cambridge Corner, King's County, P.E.I., was the finding of the coroner's jury at the inquest held at the Legion Hall at Montague last night. Dr. G.S.A. Inman presided as coroner. Mr. S. S. Heslin, Q.C., appeared for the crown.

Dr. M. L. Bonnell, Murray River, the first witness, said he received a call at approximately 11:30 a.m. He went to Cambridge Corner. Mrs. White was lying on the ground on the bank above the ditch. She was unconscious and he took her to the King's County Hospital. She had a broken collar bone, and X-rays showed she had a broken pelvis. She was also cut and bruised. Following treatment she seemed to progress well for a few days, then began to run a fever. The resulting high fever seemed to indicate an injury to the brain. She passed away on June 6th.

While he was at the scene of the accident he saw two cars, one on the Peter's Road facing east in the north of Peter's Road in the right hand ditch. He said the little girl in the same car as the older lady was also slightly hurt. No occupants in the other car were hurt.

On being questioned by the coroner, he stated that he had had medical consultation with Dr. P. McIntyre on the case of Mrs. White.

William Dunn, Murray Harbour North, said he was driving through the Cambridge Road corner, and met another car after he had passed the corner. That car was going north. He stated that as he had been approaching the corner he had seen two clouds of dust, one on the Peter's Road, the other on the Cambridge Road. He thought that was the only car he had met on the road.

Heard Crash

Samuel Irving, Cambridge Corner, was home on Sunday morning, he said, sitting in his back yard. His house is located not far from either the Peter's Road or the Cambridge Road. He saw the two cars coming on the roads, and he had also seen the Dunn car pass the corner and also meet the other car. He said he had not seen the two cars hit, but heard the noise. He and his wife ran to the accident. There were two cars there. He saw Lester McKeeman and a lady there. Also saw a lady living on the bank and elderly man living on the front seat of the car.

The children were out on the road. He started to phone, but met another man, whom he sent to phone the doctor. He then stayed there until the doctor and police arrived.

From his home, he said, he could not estimate the speed of the cars, but they did not seem to be going very fast. Dust covered everything, he said, when the cars hit. There was also quite a bit of dust when the Dunn car passed.

James McNulty, Gaspereaux, said he was a passenger in the car with Lester McKeeman. He had met Lester at his home in Gaspereaux and went for a drive with him and a lady. They left in the forenoon and went to Greek River. Then started for home and saw the white car on the road when it was in front of them but had not seen it coming down the road. The McKeeman car struck the white car near the right door and must have slewed around. They were all sitting in the front seat.

Following the accident, he said, he got out and took the "stuff", seven teddies, and went up behind the Cambridge Hall and laid down. Stayed there till 10:30 p.m. He said he had slept there some one the time that day, but what he had drunk from the teddies had not put him asleep, he answered on question. After he awakened, he went to Burt MacLeod's home. Had a drink of water. Asked Mrs. MacLeod who was hurt. He looked at the car, then went home. Finished the liquor the next day. He said he had not given the driver any drinks.

Draw Car Approaching

Mrs. Robert White, Centreville, N.B., stated that the partly was heading for Dixon's at Gaspereaux in her husband's car. They were driving along coming to the corner, when she saw the car approaching. She wanted to see which way it was going to go, when the crash occurred. Their car was struck near the rear right door. In the rear seat was Mrs. Alex White, Sheila, Aylene, Brenda, and her self, in that order extending from the right door. When the crash occurred all the others in the back were thrown out except herself. The car finally stopped in the left ditch on the same road. She had a sensation of whirling. She got out of the car, and went to the children who were all lying on the road. Susan Brenda and Aylene regained consciousness and Sheila followed shortly. Mrs. Alex White was lying on the bank unconscious. She attributed Mrs. White's death to the accident.

Robert White, Centreville, N.B., said they were travelling about 40 at the crossroads, and had seen the other car. He thought he could see by until he was struck. The right hand door opened and the girls and Mrs. Alex White were thrown out. Mrs. White was found lying on the bank. Could not realize what had happened, and could not say if car had spun around. He got out and covered Mrs. White, thinking that she was dead, and went to see about the others. He said he thought it was a through road as there were no signs indicating what was the through road. He saw no signs of liquor, he said, and he had had none himself.

The report of Provincial Pathologist, Dr. Harold Shaw, was read by the coroner, in which it was stated that the body was bruised on the upper and lower extremities. After reviewing the clinical history of the patient with the doctor in charge of the case, the bruising about the head and the high fever were quite compatible with injury to brain tissue.

The jury included, for man Daniel Murray, Parkman Fraser, Alan Nelson, Raymond Fitzpatrick, Austin Fraser, Cecil French, Spencer Llewellyn.

sing during the year of Mr. A. E. MacDonald, secretary of the Co-operative Union of Canada, and Mr. J. J. Trainor, one of the stalwarts in the movement in this Province.

Thanks was expressed to St. Francis Xavier University for the honour bestowed upon this Province in granting an honorary Master of Arts degree to the president. "It happened," said Mr. McGuire, "that I was the recipient, but I realize I am but a humble representative of all you people and in honoring me you were honored."

He also thanked the board of directors and Mr. Dennis and his managerial staff for their co-operation and support.

Mayor Stewart brought greetings from the City, and congratulated the organization on the promotion of thrift and in providing of loans to members at low interest rates. His Worship noted that the history of the Credit Union goes back to the days of the pioneers when they banded together for mutual aid, the 55 Unions on the Island, with a membership of 10,000 was instead amalgamated of the Credit Union League and the Co-op services league, since the work of both are so closely related. He criticized the lack of participation the delegates took in the convention. "We have made progress," he added "but not enough to be proud of" was the view of Rev. Fr. Simpson.

Mr. J. E. O'Meara was of the opinion that the "movements" would work hand in hand, but under separate offices. Mr. Emmett Gorman advocated more Credit Union education for the youth of the community. Mr. Norman Riley said, "Progress comes with service."

He pointed out that the advertising and short courses given in Nova Scotia had shown results by increased membership.

Reynold Rodgers, Borden, believed that the members should get together and discuss their financial problems and by so doing the advice and experience of the older members would be of value to the younger ones.

Mr. Lincoln Dewar, of the Federation of Agriculture, introduced Mr. Greichbaum of Farm Radio Forum, Toronto who explained the uses to which the Forum could be put in promoting exchanges of ideas among different members and different groups.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. WILLIAM H. IRVING

The death occurred in the P. E. I. Hospital, June 13, after a lengthy illness of William H. Irving in his 72nd year.

Born at Cambridge, P. E. I., on April 16, 1882, he was the son of the late Thomas Irving and Elizabeth McHerron. He was throughout his life a fisherman, and resided in Murray Harbour North, until the fall of 1950 at which time he moved to Montague, where he made many lasting friendships. The late Mr. Irving enjoyed good health until about a year and a half before his death. His long months of suffering were endured by a cheerful and uncomplaining spirit.

Besides his sorrowing widow, he leaves to mourn three sons, and a daughter, Harold and Arnold of Montague, Lawrence in Pictou, and (Elsie) Mrs. Ken Ferguson, Pictou. Also surviving are a sister, (Annie) Mrs. W. J. MacMillan, Trenton, N.S., and a brother, Charles also of Trenton; a half sister, Bessie, Mrs. John MacDonald, Georgetown, and a half brother, Alex of Cambridge.

The funeral, largely attended, was held at Murray Harbour North Church on June 17, and was conducted by Rev. F. N. Young of Montague. He spoke words of comfort to the bereaved and paid fitting tribute to the departed. Hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd," "One Sweetly Solenn Thought" and "Abide With Me."

The "Old Rugged Cross" was beautifully rendered by Mr. Wilford MacLean.

A faith that keeps the narrow way Till life's last spark is fled And with a pure and heavenly ray Lights up a dying bed.

Lord, give me such faith as this And then what'er may come I taste even now the hallowed bliss Of an eternal home.

Funeralbearers were: Ethan Stewart, Jay Stewart, Newton Hicken, Milward MacLure, David Irving, and Edward Millar. His remains were tenderly laid to rest in Murray Harbour North cemetery. The many floral tributes and messages of sympathy bore testimony of the love and esteem in which the departed was held.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late William H. Irving wish to extend their sincere thanks to Dr. Inman, Dr. Laidlaw, Nurses and staff on the P. E. I. Hospital, and those who sent floral tributes and messages of sympathy, and to the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness shown to them in their recent sad bereavement.

Co-Op Credit Society, Ottawa, emphasized the need of close co-operation between all co-operative societies and the importance of people becoming familiar with the credit and loan system.

Evening Session

At the evening session, the special speaker was Rev. Dr. J. Nelson MacDonald of Dartmouth, N.S.

In forceful and inspiring address, Dr. MacDonald reminded his audience that we are living in a highly mechanized age, but the important thing was not the machines we were producing, but the man who was running them. "Are we better morally and spiritually than our fore fathers?" was the challenge put by the speaker. "We have made more advancement scientifically in the past 100 years preceding it, but had man himself advanced in proportion?" said the speaker.

The danger of leaving economic power in the hands of a few is becoming a very serious problem said Dr. MacDonald, who stated that ten men sit on the boards of all the largest banks of Canada, and that 83% of all the business in Canada is controlled by these men. "We must learn to control our democratic institutions, . . . We must build at the grass roots and make it work. . . We must think bigger than what we are. . . We must not be satisfied to think parochially or provincially but nationally."

Dr. MacDonald felt that the clergy and teachers in a community had a great responsibility in building up the social and economic life therein.

Dr. MacDonald in closing made reference to the two worlds in which we live, the world of plenty and ease and the world of poverty suffering and disease. "We must make it one world" said the speaker who quoted the word of the late President Roosevelt. "We shall never have a world fit for anyone until we have a world good for everyone."

A film entitled "The King's" was shown. It compared the loan protection given by the Credit Union to its members to the stamp on the doors of the people of the sixteenth century who were immune to imprisonment for having defaulted in their debts.

Mr. J. E. O'Meara showed slides depicting the work of Credit Unions and Co-op movements in India.
