

Montague Council Accepts Resignation Of Councillor

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Mr. VanDerstine said "Mr. White refused this position and no action has been taken."

OTHER BUSINESS

The routine business of the town was carried out during which Councillor Hughes reported that three doors, 10 by 10 to be placed in the fire hall. Mr. Kenneth Clements is installing the doors one of which is nearing completion.

The tender for sanding was let to Melvin MacLellan for $300 less the amount paid for work already done this fall.

The tender for the removal of a building from the Mahar Property of $40.00 by Messrs. Joe and Fred Vuozzo was accepted.

It was decided to declare Boxing Day, December 26, a civic holiday.

APPROVE DAYLIGHT TIME

A resolution forwarded from the secretary of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities re the adoption of daylight saving time in the province received the 100 per cent support of councillors present.

DISCUSS RINK

Also discussed was the matter of the skating rink situation in Montague. During the discussion Councillor Clements stated "If the school children continue to smash the windows, break the lights, fixtures and stoves, they do not deserve to have a rink."

Councillor Hughes took exception to Councillor Clements' statement saying that he did not feel that the blame should be put on the school children entirely but that it was well known that older people were mostly responsible.

He went on to say that something must be done to encourage sports in the community.

Councillor Fraser stated that he felt it was leadership that was required.

Present at the meeting were Councillors Clements, Hughes, Fraser and Greene. His Worship Mayor Yeo presided.

Dulles Said Recovering

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower visited State Secretary Dulles at Walter Reed Army Hospital Monday.

The president went to the hospital during the afternoon shortly after the state department reported that Dulles was continuing to make satisfactory progress from the inflamed colon condition which sent him to hospital Friday night.

Dulles plans to go to Paris next week, as scheduled, for talks with Atlantic Pact colleagues.

140-ton Princess flying boats which have been in mothballs since 1953.

The aircraft, the largest in the world, were built by Saunders-Roe, but never used commercially. Although fitted with 10 engines, the flying boats were said to be underpowered. Later when more powerful engines were available, the aircraft were out-fitted by turbo-jet planes.

Bennett said that if the proposed service is approved, it will begin as a freight run. It would likely be a tri-weekly service between Britain and Canada and a twice-weekly service to Rio.

Fish Landings Higher In Oct.

OTTAWA (CP)—Sea fish and shellfish landings in October rose 54 per cent in volume and 43 per cent in value compared with the corresponding month last year, the Bureau of Statistics reports.

The catch increased to 198,700,000 pounds from 128,696,000 and the landed value to $7,139,000 from $4,535,000. A greater yield in the British Columbia fisheries offset a smaller catch on the Atlantic Coast.

For the first 10 months of the year, landings were down 9.5 per cent at 1,547,604,000 pounds. However, the value increased 22 per cent to $92,093,000 from $75,668,000.

October landings in B.C. rose to 108,233,000 pounds from 29,031,000 and the value increased to $3,735,000 from $1,494,000. In the Atlantic fisheries landings declined to 90,467,000 pounds from 99,665,000 while the value rose to $3,404,000 from $3,039,000.

Two Flareups Mark Session Of The U.N.

By LLOYD McDONALD Canadian Press Staff Writer UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Two political flareups in the United Nations Monday took the emphasis off an East-West agreement on a continuing study by the UN of the effects of atomic radiation.

Neither the agreement nor the flareups were unexpected. But the coincidence of their occurrence on the same date tended to overshadow the unanimous vote in the General Assembly's political committee which keeps in being a UN committee of experts on atomic effects.

The Soviet bloc went along with an Indian-sponsored motion which in effect shields the expert committee from political fallout resulting from the current Geneva big three talks on the suspension of nuclear tests.

What the assembly committee achieved Monday was an East-West agreement on backing the non-partisan technical studies of radiation from all sources — including tests. It may result in political repercussions later, but at this stage no East or West power apparently wants to suppress the experts' study under UN auspices on whether an expanding atomic revolution constitutes a threat to mankind.

FRENCH GROUP LEAVES

However, once the unanimous radiation study vote was achieved in the political committee, the French delegation packed up and left in a body when the question of independence for Algeria was put forward as the last item of the committee's agenda.

This walkout had been forecast for some time, since France had given notice that she would not participate in a debate involving what she contends is a completely internal matter.

Cold Weather Holds Canada In Its Grip

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An early cold snap gripped virtually all Canada Monday night but there were signs that the bitter weather was easing in the western provinces.

Below-zero temperatures were general across the country except on the coasts. Vancouver struggled to unsnarl itself from a 10-inch snowfall and snow fell spottily elsewhere.

Light rain followed the snow over the southern British Columbia mainland and rising temperatures were forecast for coastal areas. But in the southern interior more snow was predicted. The weather in the northern and central regions of the province was to continue clear and cold.

COLD MODERATES

On the prairies, the cold spell was moderating slightly. The mercury climbed to 10 above in Edmonton Monday but was expected to dip to five to 10 below again Monday night.

Across Ontario there were sub-zero readings in the north and it was no higher than the 20s in the south. Continued cold was the outlook.

The outlook in southern Quebec was for clear and very cold weather with a Monday night low of zero at Montreal and eight below at Quebec City.

In the Maritime provinces it was mostly cloudy Monday with a few snowflurries. Temperatures ranged between 10 and 25 degrees. Strong winds and near-zero temperatures were forecast for the area, except New Brunswick where the prediction was for sub-zero readings.

Leftist Leads For President Of Venezuela

CARAVAS, Venezuela (AP)—Romulo Betancourt, a leftist who once won Venezuela's presidency through a coup, headed Monday's election to the office of president.

The outlook in southern Quebec was for clear and very cold weather with a Monday night low of zero at Montreal and eight below at Quebec City.

In the Maritime provinces it was mostly cloudy Monday with a few snowflurries. Temperatures ranged between 10 and 25 degrees. Strong winds and near-zero temperatures were forecast for the area, except New Brunswick where the prediction was for sub-zero readings.

Mounting returns from Sunday's voting gave the 50-year-old leader of the anti-Communist Democratic Action party 910,328 to 846,399 for his leading opponent, Rear Admiral Wolfgang Larrazabal, in a three-man race.

With about four-fifths of the returns unofficially counted Monday night, Rafael Caldera of the Christian Socialist party trailed badly. He had 324,750 votes.

The organization of Betancourt's Democratic Action party, largest in the nation, seemingly offset the magnetic personality of Larrazabal, head of the junta that ruled Venezuela after the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez last January.

The recommendation to the provincial government on Daylight Saving time. Councillor Gaudet said that in dealing with the matter, the councillors should keep two minor thoughts in mind, (1) they in their resolution should ask for a uniform time for the province and (2) not suggest any specified time.

It was further noted in this regard that a number of organizations in the province had indicated that they were very much in favor of Daylight Saving time.

It was referred to by Mayor Johnstone as "...a very contentious point before it get a unanimous approval by council."

Membership Problem Aired At Legion Zone Meeting

The question of ways and means of increasing membership in the branches of the Canadian Legion was fully dealt with at a meeting of the Queen's County branch of the Canadian Legion held Friday evening in the Ladies Auxiliary rooms of the Charlottetown Branch.

The general feeling of the members present was that this was a problem for the branch and that the Zone Command could do little except to stress the importance of the increased membership when Zone Rallies were held in any branch.

It was pointed out that across Canada only about 20 per cent of veterans were legion members while 60 per cent of veterans, who were beneficiaries of veterans legislation procured by the legion, were non-members of the Legion. It was emphasized by the members that this is not as it should and that it was the duty of all legion members to strive for increased membership.

MORE MEETINGS

Among those attending the meeting were delegates representing Kingston, Mount Stewart, Rustico and Charlottetown branches. Jack MacIsaac of Borden, the provincial president, was in attendance.

The meeting, chaired by Hammond Douglas, zone commander, opened with a remembrance of fallen comrades.

Under general discussion it was felt that zone meetings should be held more often with more definite plans being made well in advance. It was decided on motion that a zone meeting would be held each quarter with the first Wednesday of March being the date of the next meeting.

The Mount Stewart delegation offered the facilities of their home for this meeting.

CRIB TOURNAMENT

It was decided that at the March meeting each branch would be entitled to have at least five members present.

It was decided that a cribbage tournament would be set up and called the Queen's County Cribbage Tournament. This tournament would be open to any branch within the zone. It was also decided that a trophy would be put up and would be paid for by a fee of $5 donated by each branch participating in the tournament.

It was noted by a representative of Rustico that the Rustico branch sponsored an essay contest prior to Remembrance Day. The contest was run in two sections with grade XI and XII comprising section one and grade IX and X making up the other section.

(6) That one of two Sydney Streets sites be designated for a six-year period to the Island Motor Transport Company for a bus terminal.

(7) That the city clerk be authorized to call tenders for renovations to the mayor's office and council chambers.

(8) That the city clerk be authorized to call tenders for supplying the city with oil for 1959.

(9) That the mayor proclaim Boxing Day on December 26th and that the council extend sympathy to Mrs. P. B. McCormac and family on the death of former councillor McCormac.

Special mention was made by Councillor F.G. O'Neill of shovelling snow on sidewalks and said that the major offenders were probably the service station owners. When he asked Police Chief MacArthur if there could be anything done about it, he was informed that the police department could not lay a summons.

It would have to come through the city surveyor's office.

PHASE COMPLETED

In the report of the sewer and water committee, Councillor A.J. Haslam in the absence of Councillor Arsenault, informed the council that the phase one of the combination sewer main has been completed; phase two is well on the road toward completion and phase three has yet to be started.

The main drawback on the latter has been due to the negotiations going on between the municipal and federal government concerning an area of land near the new navy building.

The report also stated that the proposed sewer project in the Ward Six area could be commenced at any time on many of the streets on higher ground level while the lower levelled streets could be started in the spring.

Councillor Wm. Boyles notified council that as of Monday morning (yesterday) the city's new fire inspectors and deputy fire marshal, Lt. Louis Ranahan was officially on duty in his offices located next to the tax office in city hall.

Ottawa Forecasts Russia Will Miss 7-Year Target

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—There is lusty skepticism here that Russia will attain the announced objectives of its new seven-year plan.

The feeling is that the Communist dictatorship will have to pay more attention to the needs of 200,000,000 Russians patiently waiting for a higher standard of living. After decades, belt-tightening can lose its appeal.

Thus it is felt here that the Soviet Union in the coming years will have to switch some of its foreign aid and heavy industry to domestic uses.

Most Russians are farmers and despite recent emphasis on boosting milk, meat and other agriculture production, the Soviet Union's land has been largely neglected for the last 30 years.

By 1965, the Communists say, Russia will produce as much coal, steel, electricity and oil as Western Europe and by 1970 may surge ahead of the United States.

But much less alarm is expressed here about Russia's economic penetration than is heard in some other capitals.

The reasoning is that this economic penetration so far has not succeeded by any means in pushing the West out of the so-called neutralist nations and is unlikely to do so in the future unless Russia devoted all its energies to this field and neglected Russia itself.

Speculation from time to time that Premier Khrushchev is in imminent danger of being overthrown by rearguard Stalinists is largely discounted here.

At the same time, there is no doubt here that Khrushchev wants to push the West out of Berlin. Russia is alarmed at the continuing exodus of East German refugees through Berlin and appears genuinely afraid of the bearing of nuclear weapons in West Germany.

city in the fall for several big truck loads. Those trucks take about three cords at a load. He also has many local customers who still regard the good old hardwood better than coal or oil. It's very clean fuel.

Those who were working on the big construction job at Georgetown, for almost two years have finished up the work and have been laid off. The job consisted of a new wharf and frost proof warehouse for spuds.

Mrs. Somerled Kelly, was in the city last week like so many others on Christmas shopping, business, etc.

Once again fishermen here report a market in the city for tommy cods that are taken in small nets. For many years those small fish were tossed away or fed to pigs as there was no market for such stuff. Now the fish, after tons and tons were dumped, are in demand on the U.S.A. markets. Some fishermen did well fishing them last season.

Mr. Val MacDonald, who spends most of his time in Labrador, as a carpenter, arrived home last week to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald. Val has spent many years in the north where they report good men get good pay, especially carpenters.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rossiter, were in the city on Friday on a business trip. Mr. Rossiter is the Irving Oil agent here along with operating his large farm. Jack is a big man with a big job or jobs to do all the time.

Mr. Fred Bennett, who was a patient in the P.E.I. Hospital for several weeks, left Sunday by plane for Boston, where he will reside for the winter months at least with his daughter Mrs. Henry S. Brooks, R.N.

He operated a home canning plant for many years, especially in the fall season after he completed operating the larger canneries in different parts of the island. Fred D. Bennett is known far and wide as one of the best in the canning line and he canned only the best in chicken, meats and vegetables. Cleanliness was his motto and it had to be clean and fresh or he turned it down. His plant was spotted at all times.

Well along in life now it is doubtful if he will again carry on the business and his retirement is a severe loss to this vicinity.

Mrs. Henry S. Brooks, Newton, Mass., was here last week to visit her father Mr. F. D. Bennett, who was a hospital patient for a long time. Mrs. Brooks left again on Sunday for her home by plane accompanied by her father who will spend the winter with her. Mrs. Brooks is a registered nurse in Boston for many years now.

A man from this vicinity who is employed in the city and driving from here to work daily, had an expensive trip one day recently when his truck stopped or stalled. He was informed he required a new motor at a cost of several hundred bucks. Motoring
