Business-Trained Man Heads Winnipeg Home-Building Co.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Myles Sheldon Robinson has put a formal business education to work for him in a busy house-building career.

The 37-year-old Winnipeg native graduated in commerce from the University of Manitoba, got a master's degree in business administration from the University of New York and became an executive trainee with a retail organization in New York.

"I had made up my mind to get out of Winnipeg," he said, "but suddenly realized my own country offered far greater prospects."

He returned to Winnipeg to join his father in a sporting goods business. That association lasted nearly four years, until 1954. Then Myles decided to try his own wings.

"I felt the house-building industry was the least specialized and the most backward in the construction world. I felt I could grow with it."

He founded Metropolitan Homes Ltd. and in its first year the firm turned out 30 houses. By the end of this year, about 2,300 Greater Winnipeg families will be living in homes built by Metropolitan.

Myles says he is "not a carpenter nor a technical man." But he gathered certain building principles and ideas near the start:

1. There was no profit in subcontracting. Each job that he could do himself could lead to a saving that could be passed on to cost-conscious consumers.

2. Bulk buying could lead to savings.

3. There was a market, and opportunity, for the mass builder in the Metropolitan Winnipeg area, which has a population of 500,000.

PRE-FABS MUCH WORK

Every operation that can be done away from the building site is done by craftsmen in the firm's plant at neighboring Transcona.

Mr. Robinson does not hesitate to seek advice and use professional aid.

His original estimate of the Winnipeg area market indicated there was a "shelter market," that many people wanted a place to live.

Since then this market has become "saturated" — second-house buyers have come into the market. So now Mr. Robinson is pursuing this market.

A year ago Mr. Robinson appeared before Governor-General Vanier to receive a Canadian Housing Design Council award, based on a belief by the firm that customers wanted a two-storey house at a time when one-storey homes were the usual product.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — king of spades.

A point count can be very helpful during the play of a hand as well as during the bidding. Here is a case where East put his knowledge of point count to good use and succeeded in defeating three notrump. West led the king of spades and continued with the queen and jack. East playing the 4-3-8 in that order. Declarer took the jack with the ace and led the queen of hearts and finessed.

East won with the king and returned a heart, deliberately refusing to cash his last spade. He wanted to sell declarer the idea that West had the missing five of spades.

Declarer had eight sure tricks at this point and now had to decide which way to finesse the diamond to obtain his ninth trick. Acting under the impression that West had the missing spade, he won the heart return in his hand and led the jack of diamonds and finessed. This play would have assured the contract, even though the finesse lost, if West had the five of spades.

But, unfortunately for South, East showed up with the queen of diamonds as well as the missing spade, and the outcome was that South went down one. It is true that declarer might have gone down anyhow if East had cashed the five of spades earlier, but East's subtle defense practically forced South to misguess the diamond finesse.

East's play was well founded. He realized, after West had shown up with the K-Q-J of spades, that South had every missing high card for his 16 to 18 point notrump. West had shown 6 points, dummy had 10, and East had 8, thus accounting for 24 high - card points. South therefore had to have precisely 16 points, which were bound to include the A-J of diamonds.

East realized that if he did not cash the spade at trick five South would very likely take the two-card diamond finesse through West in order to "insure" the contract. This was shrewd thinking on East's part — and it paid off.

"Perma-Fill" prevents rust and corrosion from forming on the metal surfaces by retaining it "in suspension" in the liquid. A continuous, gentle "scrubbing action" lifts rust and corrosion—so that when the cooling system is drained (after a year or more of carefree motoring) ALL impurities are carried away, leaving engine and radiator "new-car clean". No cleaning or flushing is necessary!
The Finest Protection Ever Designed for Car and Truck Cooling Systems—Replaces anti-freeze in winter, and water in summer ... and much safer and more effective than either. The safest and best coolant for ALL engines, including those with aluminum parts and synthetic hose connections. It won't freeze even at 62° below zero, or boil away even at 330° above!
