First Time For Table Potatoes To Be At Fair

This year will see the first time that an exhibit of table stock potatoes will be shown at the Maritime Winter Fair, Amherst. Young as chairman has been set up. The superintendent will be Mr. L. W. Black and with him, he will have Messrs. L. V. Spiney, W. R. Butland, W. P. MacLeod, E. M. Taylor, S. F. Clarkson, S. Colpitts and S. A. Hilton. Potatoes differ greatly in cooking quality. Two of the most important factors affecting quality, are variety and fertilizer treatment. In the ordinary potato show, awards are made on the basis of external characteristics. Agricultural representatives in the city estimate that not more than 60% of the present potato crop has been harvested in the Province. One inspector in a period of 24 hours is reported to have turned down 1,200 bags at one station. The Sebago variety of potato has reportedly withstood the ravages of blight much better than any other variety grown on the Island. The Keewez, though not grown in such quantities have given fine turnouts of splendid type and grade. Movement in table stock potatoes has improved in the last

Chandler, Chief Librarian, greeted the visitors and Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College, led them to the College. Fourteen library centres were represented at the meetings. Records for the three groups, Mrs. Oliver Giddings, Murray River; Miss Genevieve Soloman, Georgetown and Mrs. P. E. Murray, Bradabane, presented the opinions of the different groups to the full meeting. A demonstration of book mending by Mrs. Helen Bell and Miss Ema Murphy closed the afternoon session.

On Thursday morning the librarians met again to discuss a number of topics—the setting up of special groups of books for young people, reading clubs for children, and the distribution of magazines among branch libraries. Special attention was given to plans for the celebration of Young Canada's Book Week, Nov. 15 to 22. The librarians contributed many suggestions for the making of posters and bookmarks, visits to the library by teachers and pupils, book quizzes and contests, and an all-winter reading project.
