

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 11, 1890.

Notes and Comments.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have purchased the New Brunswick Railway and will make it a part of the through line.

The Irish saloon keepers in Chicago refuse to sell the beer of the British syndicate breweries. This, says the Montreal Gazette, is sentiment, not business.

United Presbyterians in the States must not smoke nor chew tobacco hereafter according to action taken by the General Assembly of that church, now in session at Buffalo, N. Y. The Illinois Presbytery recommended that action be taken against tobacco. The committee favorably reported on prohibiting elders and students from using the weed. This did not suit the General Assembly. The clergyman fought hard against the narcotic, which they compared as a poison with Paris green. Even if soothing to the mind it was deadly and debilitating to the body. Nobody in the two hundred defended tobacco, and it was agreed to accept an amended report from the committee in which laymen, as well as clergymen, elders and students, must not use the offensive drug.

Fashionable Wedding.

The event of to-day was the wedding of Mr. F. Parker Carvell, youngest son of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, and Miss Alexandra Carey, youngest daughter of the late Captain Carey, R. N., and grand-daughter of the late venerable Dr. Mackintosh. The ceremony took place at St. Peter's Church at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of a very large and deeply-interested congregation. It was performed by the Rev. S. Jones Hanford, grand-uncle of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. James Simpson, Priest Incumbent of St. Peter's. The groomsmen were Mr. Leith E. Brecken, and the ushers Messrs. C. D. Rankin and Eneas Macdonald. The bridesmaids were Miss Carey (sister of the bride), Miss Maud DesBrisay, and Miss Amy Brecken. There was a goodly number of guests. Altogether, the marriage party was one of the most brilliant that has been seen in Charlottetown. Everything was auspicious. The sun shone out of a cloudless sky, flags and streamers floated gaily in the breeze from the headquarters of the fire department in honor of the happy lieutenant of the Salvage Corps, as well as from the Drill Shed and several other edifices, and a salute of fifteen guns was fired by No. 1 Battery, Garrison Artillery, of which, also, the bridegroom is the popular lieutenant. The marriage bells rang out merrily. Indeed, there seemed to be but one circumstance to mitigate the happiness of the occasion, namely, the absence of the Lieutenant Governor, who is in South Carolina.

The wedding presents were numerous and elegant. Among them were a costly epergne by the employes of Messrs. Carvell Bros., a very valuable clock by the Salvage Corps, and a handsome lamp by No. 1 Battery of Artillery.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Carvell and the wedding guests went to the residence of Mrs. Henry Palmer, the bride's mother, where a reception was held between the hours of three and five.

After partaking of refreshments they took the afternoon train for Summerside, en route to Canada and the United States, a large number of their friends being at the station to bid them good bye and give them a parting cheer.

The happy pair have, we feel sure, the good wishes of the whole community, and we heartily and sincerely wish them health, happiness, long life and prosperity.

Georgetown Notes.

Although quiet and retiring, our little town is not without its movements—religious, social, political and otherwise; and if other parts of our Island home are, in the opinion of some, more highly favored by Dame Nature, still there is not a single hamlet or town which possesses in a larger degree potentialities which make for peace than Georgetown. Hence, we regret all the more that the school question should be the cause of much misunderstanding and heart-burnings. The name of the present highly-respected and capable Principal of our public school should, at least be excluded from the complications which are being brought about. He has always taken particular interest in all that concerns the welfare and progress of the community, in aiding and originating (especially the latter) schemes of education, enjoyment and healthful recreation. Georgetown could not dispense with the services and the genial presence of Mr. Stewart, one of whose latest works was the successful organization of the Boys' Band.

A graceful act of Christian charity has lately been performed in Georgetown. From a paragraph which lately appeared in your columns, many persons here expected that the visit which the Rev. Mr. Loyd has lately paid us would be his last. Thinking this was so, the Rev. Mr. Mason, of the Presbyterian Church, offered to close the doors of his place of worship to allow members of his congregation to be present at the service in the English Church. This is a matter for sincere gratitude to Almighty God, our common Father.

Dry Goods Employees' Association.

A well attended meeting of the Dry Goods clerks of the City was held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night to discuss the Monday half holiday movement for the months of July and August; also to form a society. Mr. J. S. Nelson occupied the chair. The different firms of the city were well represented and the boys were in fine spirits and seemed fully to appreciate the kindness of their employees, who, without one exception have agreed and signed to close their places of business at 1 o'clock p. m. on Monday's from June 30th until September 1st 1890.

By an unanimous vote it was decided to convey through the daily and weekly papers to the Dry Goods Merchants of Charlottetown the hearty thanks of all benefited employees, and also wish them every success during the year.

It was also moved and seconded that the following officers be elected for the year ending Dec. 31st 1890—Messrs. J. S. Nelson, Chairman; S. O. Murray, Treasurer; J. A. McLaren, Secy.

The Queen vs. Selliker—Grand Jury find a true bill for larceny. Prisoner arraigned. Pleaded guilty.

The Grand Jury submitted a report on the Jail. They also presented to the Chief Justice the following congratulatory address:

To the Honorable Wm. W. Sullivan, Chief Justice of P. E. Island.

My Lord,—The Grand Jury of Prince County, now assembled at the present term of the Court, desire respectfully to welcome your Lordship to this County on the occasion of your first presiding here in your judicial capacity, and also to offer you their congratulations on your elevation to the high and honorable rank of Chief Justice of your native Province.

Your long and prominent career in the public life of your County, and your position for many years as the official head of the bar, pointed you out as a fit successor of the late lamented Chief Justice Palmer, whose irreproachable character and merits as a judge have been universally recognized.

We feel convinced that we but echo the general approbation of our Province when we assure your Lordship, as we now do, that your appointment to the Bench gives entire satisfaction in this County; and that your administration of law and justice will be marked with ability, dignity and impartiality.

To this address His Lordship replied, thanking the Grand Jury for their words of welcome, and referring in feeling terms to the late Chief Justice Palmer, whose faithful attendance to the duties of office well merited the remarks made by them. He said that whatever his failings as a Judge might be, they could rest assured that he would discharge his duties with impartiality to all.

The News in Brief.

Gone to His Reward.

DEATH OF A CHRISTIAN BROTHER.

At 7.30, on Saturday evening, the 17th inst., surrounded by the Brothers, the novices, and their chaplain, Rev. A. Langlois, Bro. Elzear, James, the words of some of the Brothers and tendered up his soul to his Creator. The deceased was a native of Prince Edward Island, that little sea-girt strand, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, so fertile, not only in its natural productions, but also in vocations to the religious state. Born on the eve of the Assumption of our Blessed Lady, 1818, he entered the novitiate of the Brothers at Martineau, on the 8th August, 1833.

Previous to his departure for California, he taught school in his native land, but moved by the promptings of divine grace, he resolved to consecrate the remainder of his days to the Christian education of youth. Accordingly, like the holy patriarch of old, he left friends and kindred, never resting until he had placed a barrier of over three thousand miles between himself and the home which he was never more to see. Numerous and affectionate were his admiring friends in that fond Island home, many of his relatives have long been engaged in the arduous duties of the sacred ministry. Having finished his novitiate he was sent to Rev. Father McNally's School, West Oakland, then to Rev. Father King's; whence he was transferred to St. Mary's College, from which place he was sent to Martineau.

Of a robust constitution, he treated too lightly a cold which finally developed into consumption, of which he died. During his sickness, no matter what he suffered, no murmur of complaint was ever heard from him. He expired without even an audible sigh. During the ministrations of the priest and the prayers of the assembled community, the sweet name of Jesus, Mary and Joseph were his invocations, as his eyes turned for the last time on the image of his crucified God. He could well say, as he did about a week before his death, and when all thought his last moments had arrived, "I never regretted, as my sweet to die, and herein were verified the prophetic words of his dear father, who, while giving him his blessing ere they parted, said: 'James, in reward for your charity to the sick, God will give you a happy death.' His gratitude and thanks, living to God for his religious vocation were incessant and deeply affecting.

When the news of his death was heard by his former pupils to whom his genial disposition, endeared him, and for whom he so zealously labored, a fervent desire was expressed to be buried in the bosom of his soil; Those whom he taught to revere and love the Mother of God did not forget him now, for they could not fail to recognize in him a true client of the Queen of Heaven. He died in her beautiful month, and on Saturday, a privilege devoutly wished for by the true clients of Mary.

After a requiem Mass, celebrated by Rev. A. Langlois, who performed the funeral ceremonies his remains were interred in the plot set apart for deceased Brothers under the shadow of the Cross.

Rev. Bros. Bettelin, president; Bro. William Pro-Director, Bros. Basil and Julian, of St. Mary's College, and Rev. Bros. Sabastien, director of St. Joseph's Academy, Oakland, and friends from Martineau and vicinity, attended the funeral, among whom was the Rector of St. Catherine's Church, Rev. Father Aerdien, O. P.

Dear Island friends, mourn not for him, but rejoice. Offer for him the tribute of your prayers, rather than your tears. Chew the Zebrina for a fragrant flower has been plucked from your virgin soil, and has been transplanted to Heaven. This is one more offering you make to our good God. James—Brother Elzear—has gone to join that celestial band, the central figure of which is the Blessed of La Salle. He has fought the good fight; he has obtained the crown.—R. L. P. —San Francisco Monitor, May 21.

[The deceased was a brother of Mr. Daniel F. McDonald, of this city.]
