Halifax Market as at March 24th, 1953: To Producers: AL 52, AM 49, AS 45, B 34, C 30. To Retailers: AL 68, AM 65-6, AS 58, B 48, C 34 (Cartoned). To Consumers: AL 69-74 (Cartoned). Spot Price: AL 57, AM 54, AS 50, B 39, C 30.

Under light supplies this egg market remains firm and prices are holding steady. Local receipts are insufficient for requirements and are being supplemented by Ontario arrivals.

Although higher prices have effected retail sales to some extent, dealers report stocks consisting mostly of A Large size are clearing well.

Dairying. There was no change in the price of butter on the Halifax market during the past week, and the quotations are still 64c wholesale for prints delivered, with local jobbing at 66c.

In New Brunswick prices were also unchanged, although there was a slight tendency on some markets to weakness. Supplies of solids to creameries were coming forward as required and there was some increase in butter manufacture. Creamery operators and distributors recommended that last week's quotations on prints be continued, which are as follows: Creameries to wholesalers, one and two pound prints, 64c; wholesalers to retail stores, one and two pound prints, 66c.

In this Province the local jobbing price is 65c, while the wholesale price is that of Nova Scotia or New Brunswick delivered, less freight and handling charges.

The price in Montreal is remaining constant at 62c, while

Toronto has a tendency to weakness, and is now being quoted at 60 1/2c to 61c.

The announcement by the United States Department of Agriculture that all imports of dried milk products would be banned April 1st is a great disappointment to our Canadian dairymen. The problem is that although the United States is a good market for dairy products she has large stocks of her own at present.

Potatoes. Potato movement for the past week has been fair with 194 carloads shipped by rail for the week ending March 24th. The market in seed and tablestock is both dull and weak. Prices in Maine have again weakened and Mountains are as low as $1.25 to $1.50 per barrel. On the other hand prices of Idaho potatoes are going higher and producers in that state are receiving about $4.50 per 100 pounds.

Enough Maine potatoes are coming into Canada to further depress our market, and we cannot hope for any improvement in this country until the price trend changes there. It is understood that the Potato Marketing Board will meet within the next several days to further consider present price trends.

The following are the prices at certain Island centers as secured today: Digby: Tablestock moving in 75's and small packages at 95c per 75 lbs. No seed moving. Summerside: Market quiet. Considerable tablestock moving at 90c per 75 lbs. Sebago seed moving from storage.

Kensington: Market very quiet. Tablestock moving in small packages on basis of $1.00 per 75 lbs. Seed "small" purchased for March and April shipment now moving.

Souris: Fair movement in seed and tablestock. Some movement of tablestock at 70c per bus. Katakahid and Sebago Seed moving at 90c per bus. Cobble Seed $1.35 per bus. Katakahid and Sebago "small" $1.35 per bus. A considerable quantity of potatoes on hand in this area.

Morrell: Cobble Seed moving at $1.15 per bus. Sebago and Katakahid Seed moving at 95c per bus. Tablestock 90c to 95c per 75 lbs. Montague: Some tablestock moving at $1.00 per 75 lbs. Some seed going as tablestock. No seed moving.

Charlottetown: Limited movement of tablestock and Cobble seed.

Feeds. Feed prices continue strong and do not hold out very much hope for the cheaper livestock feed. It is expected in the trade that wheat will advance in prices in the near future. No. 1 feed barley is quoted at $2.95, bulk, carlot, delivered; with No. 1 feed oats at $2.57. Bran is rather hard to secure, and is quoted at $6.00 to $6.10 per ton delivered. Shorts can be procured at the same price. The situation on high protein feeds has not changed, and oilmeal is still being re-tailed at $5.00 to $5.10 per hundred.

Lenten Meditation

From The Columns of The Times, London. UNITY

One of the chief results for the disciples of the experience of Pentecost was a deep sense of unity; they became in an altogether new sense "one body." But it needs to be remembered that the condition which made this experience possible was that of a unity already achieved. A spirit of unity was both the root and the fruit of Pentecost.

In the record of that amazing experience it is stated that as the disciples waited for the promised gift of the Spirit "they were all with one accord in one place." So it would seem that the fundamental unity which is the gift of God can be received only when men have themselves achieved a certain unity of desire and purpose.

Pentecost happened not to a number of isolated individuals, but to a fellowship, gathered together.

Prayer for the unity of the Church can be answered only when there is a genuine will to unity which is itself the essential beginning of the unifying process. Unity must be both achieved and given.

Experience is showing that the United Nations Organization has far to go before the ideal which the title represents can become a reality, but the outward expression of unity shows that at least the desire is there, and this will help to produce and deepen the spirit of unity. It needs hardly to be said that in a world which has been and in some measure still is, torn asunder by conflicting ideologies and ambitions, a world in which the secret of unity still seems to elude man's grasp, a Christian Church, strong in the strength which unity alone can give, would be of incalculable value in helping men to see where the source of unity is to be found.

If at this season each Christian will search his own heart in order that all intolerance and self-righteous complacency, and will try to see in his fellow Christian, no matter in what way he may worship God, one who is no less the child of God than himself, he will have taken an important step towards that unity which in its turn will make increasingly possible the unifying work of the outpoured Spirit of God.
