

Seven Days A Week

(By Anne Shannon)

1. Monday: "Perfect cookies aren't a matter of luck" says Dorothy Shaw of the Home Equipment Staff of the Companion. "It's knowing the tricks of the trade that brings best results. First you need a good recipe—one that is tried and true, then measure accurately and follow directions to a T. Bake only one sheet of cookies at a time in a preheated oven. Don't bake cookies in a pan that has high sides. High sides cut off the heat from the cookies and send it upward. Bottoms burn before tops get brown. If you have no cookie sheet turn your drip pan upside down and bake cookies on the bottom. But before you begin, polish the bottom. In fact cookie sheets should be kept polished with fine steel wool. A shining surface reflects the heat."

tions, a group of dentists in Cleveland are using hypnosis to help their patients relax and concentrate on something enjoyable and forget what the dentist is doing. "Now," say they, "getting a tooth pulled can be as pleasant as going to a dance." (And I had to have all mine extracted the hard way!)

IN MEMORIAM

CHARLES ALEXANDER PRESTON SEAMAN

On April 19, 1952, relatives and friends were shocked and saddened by the sudden passing of Charles Alexander Preston Seaman at his late home, Brackley Beach, P.E.I.

Although not in good health for a number of years, his untimely death was entirely unexpected. About three weeks previous, he entered the Prince Edward Island Hospital for a check up. After spending two weeks in the hospital he returned home slightly improved. His loved ones held high hopes of steady progress in his health. But God willed it otherwise and he laid down his burden in this world and passed on to that eternal world where "he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

Alexander Seaman was born on the New Glasgow Road March 31, 1892, the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seaman. In 1918, he moved to Brackley Beach where he became one of the leading and most highly respected farmers of that district.

"Alex" as he was known to his friends, loved his fellowmen. His most outstanding characteristics were integrity of character, sympathy of heart and humility of spirit. His wise, balanced outlook and strong sense of duty enabled him to do justice to all men. His sympathies were towards all. His religion was real. His humble walk with God was the secret of his life. He loved his church in which he held the office of an Elder. It can truly be said that Alexander Seaman did justly, loved mercy and walked humbly with his God.

On January 1918, he married Annie Florence MacDonald, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacDonald, New Glasgow Road. To them were born two sons, Heath, with Canada Packers Ltd., Halifax and David on the family homestead, who sadly mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father. He is also survived by a brother, Rundell, proprietor of Seaman's Beverages in Charlottetown. He was predeceased by two brothers, Harry Heath in 1909 and William Reagh in 1950.

His funeral was held by his late residence conducted by the Rev. J.V. Crawford, assisted by the Rev. D. Wilson. Hymns sung were, "Abide With Me," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Interment took place at the Brackley Point Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Grant MacCallum, George Hughes, John Macdonald, Vernon Proude, Gordon Shaw and Walter Gregor. The many floral tributes bore silent testimony to the place he won in the hearts of his many friends.

Pleasant Grove Church Social

A very enjoyable social evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy on June 27th when members and adherents of Pleasant Grove United Church, which includes Suffolk, and Grand Tracadie, gathered to bid farewell to their pastor, Rev. John Douglas, and Mrs. Douglas, who gave so freely of her time and talents as organist and choir leader.

An address expressing appreciation of services faithfully performed, and keen regret at their departure was read by Mr. Charles Bird, Suffolk, while Mrs. James Lawless, Pleasant Grove presented Mrs. Douglas with a beautiful lace table cloth, a silver cake plate and silver candle holders. Mr. W. W. Clow, Grand Tracadie, presented Mr. Douglas with a gift of money.

Then Miss Evelyn MacLure came forward and presented Mr. and Mrs. Douglas with a gift of silver. Mr. Douglas, in his own happy manner, thanked all for their kindness on this occasion and spoke of the pleasant relations existing between pastor and people of Pleasant Grove Church.

After singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" all partook of a delicious lunch provided by the ladies. Serving were Mrs. Roy Keizer, Mrs. James McNabb, Mrs. Clarence Fanning, Mrs. W. J. Glennie, Mrs. Olman Mellick and the hostess.

A lively sing-song was enjoyed by all with Mrs. Douglas and Miss MacLure at the organ. The singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

The hymns chosen were favorites of the deceased and were as follows: "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "Lead Kindly Light," "There Is No Night In Heaven" and "Forever With The Lord."

The pallbearers were Joseph Harding, Parker MacRae, Jerry Adams, Harry Barrett, George Stewart and Warren Sims.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

It is driving me to distraction. Two weeks ago I bought a TV set, and since then my husband refuses to go out to the movies, or anywhere else. We used to go out at least one night a week, but now any more. Wednesday night he gave me some money and told me to go to the movies with some girl friends. Will our life be like this from now on?

ANSWER: Your husband is a victim of an epidemic that has been sweeping the country for the last three or four years. Practically every new owner of a TV set acts the same way. As a matter of fact, I'm surprised that you haven't been bitten by the same bug. As the novelty of the new toy wears off, your husband will assume at least some of his former social habits, but I cannot guarantee that he'll ever be as willing to go out as he was before entertainment walked into his house.

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago I lived next door to a very nice girl, but we were never particularly good friends. Now I have moved away, and find myself dreaming of her. I know I don't love her, and she is engaged to another boy, so what can these dreams mean?

ANSWER: Be assured, your dreams are absolutely meaningless. Perhaps something has made you think of the girl during the day and the thought has been translated into a dream. You can set your mind at rest about the meaning of dreams. They seldom portend more than overtiredness or indigestion.

Miss Nissen cannot reply personally to readers but will answer problems of general interest through this column.
