Death Yesterday Of Dr. A. B. Reid

One of this province's leading dentists and foremost sports enthusiasts, Dr. A. B. Reid of Victoria passed away yesterday morning in the Prince Edward Island Hospital after an illness of two weeks. He was 66 years of age.

Dr. Reid was widely known throughout the province and his death was learned with deep regret by the many friends which his kindly disposition had moulded.

He was born in Tryon on July 7, 1884, the son of the late Hon. Samuel B. Reid and Mrs. Reid, the former Vina Lea. He received his primary education at the Village School after which he attended Mount Allison Academy and Tufts University, receiving his D. M. D. degree from the latter institution.

After his graduation he commenced practice in this City where he married Miss Beulah Weller, who predeceased him several years ago.

The genial and popular doctor continued his practice in Charlottetown until his enlistment as a lieutenant with the Royal Canadian Dental Corps in 1940. Later that same year he received his discharge due to illness but not before qualifying for his captaincy. Returning to Charlottetown he resumed his dental practice for about one year. He then moved to Victoria and continued his dental work until two weeks ago.

Keenly interested in sport of all kinds, he himself participated in bicycle racing, hockey and rugby. In addition he was an ardent fisherman, yachting enthusiast and hunter.

Doctor Reid was president of the Victoria Athletic Club when for years before the First World War they were Maritime Champions.

He was also instrumental in re-organizing the club in the late twenties.

He was an active member of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Legion and also of the Masonic Order for many years. He was a charter member of the Charlottetown Rotary Club when that club was formed.

The late Doctor Reid is survived by one son, Brigadier W. W. "Bill" Reid, Provincial Director of Physical Fitness, one sister, Helen Lea Paterson, Cambridge, Mass., and an elder brother Eyerson in Boston.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the MacLean Funeral Home.

Approximately $28,000 in compensation benefits under hospital care has been paid out during the first nine months of 1950 by the Prince Edward Island Workmen's Compensation Board, it was learned yesterday from Mr. Horace Wright, chairman of the Board.

About $18,000 of this amount has been paid in benefits to those who have lost over seven days work due to injuries. The remaining $10,000 has been for hospital and doctor's bills.

Around 700 claims had been handled by the board from the first of the year until the end of September. Six of these were permanent disability cases calling for pensions.

Disability cases are divided into two sections, disability under and over ten per cent. If a person has a permanent disability under ten per cent he is paid a lump sum of money based on the length of time he is expected to live and the wages he was earning when injured. The worker receives an annual pension which becomes more than ten per cent disabled.

Nearly 900 firms are registered with the Board, Mr. Wright stated. The number employed by these firms ranges from two employees to five hundred.

Men employed as stevedores sustain more serious injuries than those employed in other forms of work. The largest number of claims are forwarded from men employed in construction work as more men are engaged in this type of work than in any other class of employment.

Last summer the Board sent three men to Halifax for treatment. Two were under the care of a brain specialist and one underwent an eye operation for the removal of a piece of steel. Two of these men have returned to work it was learned and the other will be back on the job shortly.

Accident Prevention

The role the Board is playing in preventing accidents was stressed by Mr. Wright as being every bit as meritorious as the paying of benefits.

Board officials have had boilers and other potential damage materials checked in the firms registered with the organization. The attention of employers and employees has been brought to faulty materials and in nearly all cases removed. This action prevents injuries to the workmen and also saves expenses for the board.

Gifted Canadian Singers Heard In Superb Concert

Community Concert members heard one of the most thrilling vocal concerts in many years last evening when Miss Pierrette Alarie, Miss Leopold Simoneau appeared on the stage at the Prince of Wales College.

Before an auditorium which was packed to the doors, Miss Alarie and Mr. Simoneau presented a program consisting mainly of numbers which would be familiar to the average music lover. Although the two artists sang a number of operatic and duets, for the most part they were well known and well loved ones.

With their accompanist, Mr. Gerald Caron, these two young French Canadian artists, who are husband and wife in private life, charmed their audience with the beauty of their songs, and the vivacity of their personalities.

Miss Alarie is a coloratura soprano who made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera in December, 1945, and has since then sung professionally since the war. Her voice is one of exquisite beauty, possessing a fullness and richness not common in a soprano of this type.

A highlight of her performance was her singing of the haunting "Bell Song" from the Opera "Lakme", which in itself is one of the most difficult coloratura arias written. This selection brought forth the brilliant play of full rich tones of which Miss Alarie has complete mastery, and the tragic melody which only a gifted artist can give.

In the singing of Mr. Simoneau the audience heard a truly stirring performance. This young lyric tenor has been likened to the internationally famous Richard Tauber, and coupled with this great talent he filled the auditorium with a personality which won the hearts of young and old.

His voice was strong and clear, and he used with great effectiveness a beautiful head tone which soared over his top notes in pure liquid beauty.

A substitution Mr. Simoneau made in his selections gave the audience the opportunity to hear his singing of Franz Lehár's beautiful "You Are My Heart Alone". In this number his golden voice was shown at its best, and his diction, even on his highest notes, was of the finest. Canada has produced in many years.

Mr. Simoneau met his bride in the studio of his Montreal singing teacher, and they were married in their native Montreal in 1946. Since that time they have given concerts in all parts of Canada and the United States, and recently made their debuts at the Paris Opera.

The concert was attended officially by Lieut. Governor T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse, and Mayor B. Earle MacDonald and Mrs. MacDonald.

During the intermission Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of P. W. C. spoke for a few moments on the recently formed P. W. C. Concert Series. He stated that the purpose of the organization is to give young people with outstanding talent an opportunity to be heard and to give others an opportunity to listen to good music.

For the coming season two concerts will be given by local artists, and the other by a young Toronto pianist.

The program for last evening was as follows: Songs by Miss Alarie; "Love has eyes" by Sir Henry Bishop; "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah" by Meyerbeer; "Bell Song" from "Lakme" by Delibes; and "Ohie Menche" by Giannini.

Songs by Mr. Simoneau: "Song of India" from "Sakko" by Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Dance mabre" by Saint-Saens; "You are my heart's delight" by Franz Lehár; and "Love went a-riding" by Frank Bridge.

Duets offered included one from "Hercules" by Handel; "Parlez-moi de ma mere" from Bizet's "Carmen"; drinking duet from "La Traviata" by Verdi; "Bacchante" from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman"; "Thus We Will Wander" by Johannes Brahms; the meeting duet in Act I of Massenet's opera "Manon"; "Will you remember" from "Maytime" by Sigmund Romberg; "Clair de la lune"; and "Dieu delà" from Messager's opera "Veronique."

The following telegram, addressed to Premier Walter Jones, was received yesterday by Hon. A. W. Matheson, acting Premier, from Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent at Ottawa:

"I send my sincere sympathy to you and your colleagues in the loss sustained by the Government of Prince Edward Island in the death of the Hon. H. N. Cox."

Premier Jones, who left last Thursday to attend a Holstein sale at Oakville, Ont., is not expected home before tomorrow evening.

The Board began operations on July 1, 1949 with a grant of $10,000 from the Provincial Government and is now financing itself. During its six months of operation in 1949 the Board paid out $18,000 in taking care of 182 claims.

Members of the Board's staff are Messrs. Horace Wright, chairman; Mr. M. E. Campbell, secretary; G. Hasen Phillips, assessment and payroll officer; Lorin J. MacLellan, claims officer; Miss Hilda Harper, accountant; and Miss Aletha Doyle, stenographer.

Island Odds And Ends

Island growers are at the top of the list, speaking of potatoes. They have been up there so long that we take their pre-eminence with a proud casualness.

It is altogether different when an Islander's name heads the slate of the biggest apple growing organization in the famed Nova Scotia Annapolis Valley.

A few days ago press dispatches mentioned the activities of the Co-operative Apple Growers Association of Nova Scotia, under its president, Fred M. Nash, under its president.

Most Charlottetown people of early middle age and older knew at once that Mr. Nash was a son of the late editor of the Patriot, the Hon. F. J. Nash, and were not surprised that the son had attained prominence in the sister province.

Fred M. Nash, now so well known as an apple-grower, was born and grew to manhood in Charlottetown. Throughout his school life he made his mark in football and hockey and was a leader in showing in other branches of athletics.

He was particularly effective as a hockey player in his youth and as a member of the Abegweit football team at a time when that club could hold its own with the best teams in the world of English rugby. Never-to-be forgotten was the game the Islanders played against a team from H.M.S. Cornwall, which was a cadet-training ship at that time carrying four or five men who had represented either England or Scotland in international competition. The contest took place in mid-summer when several Islanders, who had been playing Canadian rugby with McGill and other colleges were at home in Charlottetown to help out.

With the college talent and a great band of local talent to choose from, the Charlottetown men gave the sailors their toughest battle of a long unbeaten career. Only succumbing 6-3. The Navy men declared that it was their hardest game since they played the garrison team in Alexandria, Egypt some months before. Meantime they had played in many ports including Halifax and never lost a game. They beat a strong Wanderers team at Halifax 26-0. The Islanders were the first club to score on this side of the Atlantic. It was in English rugby of this type that Fred Nash made good.

Later he made good in another field as a fighter-pilot in the First World War. He was one of those who, day after day, sailed the skies in the flimsy crates of World War I, on the prow for German planes. In one of these encounters he was shot down and was a prisoner of war for some months in Germany.

After the Armistice ending the war in 1918 he returned to Charlottetown and later took up fruit farming in Berwick, Nova Scotia. That he is president of the most influential body of growers in Nova Scotia is a sufficient measure of his success in a field totally foreign to him at the outset of his career. This is a case of an Islander making good not abroad but very close to home where the competition is tougher and not always as spectacular.

Two Canadian emigration officials, winding up a six months tour of Canada with a three day stay on the Island last week, were startled by the fertility of this Province.

Tired by their long journey from British Columbia, and hundreds of stop-overs enroute, they nevertheless were roused to enthusiasm by what they saw of Island farm production in crops and cattle.

Only in the country surrounding the Eastern Townships in Quebec and in the lush farming part of Ontario had they seen comparably farming country.

As a reminder that we had quality in other lines of production, the two men, Mr. Wallace, attached to the Canadian Embassy at the Hague, Holland, and Mr. Ewen, attached to the Canadian Legation, Stockholm, Sweden, were treated to Malpeque oysters by Mr. Earl G. Cannon, manager of the National Employment Office, Summerside.

"Never tasted their equal" was the comment of Mr. Wallace, formerly resident of British Columbia and familiar with most of Europe.

It can't be denied that for Charlottetown folks who like hockey, and always did and who have not become fossilized, the town's Big Four Club has given zest to a dull season of the year. With golf, fishing, tennis, baseball, swimming, summer cottage life and horse-racing set aside by "Old Man Weather", hockey helps, along with the moment it is filling, the gap with great success all the more so because our team is carrying our hopes in inter-Maritime competition. There is nothing like outside competition to bring interest to a slimmer.

You can get the same effect by pitting a bunch of mainland horses against a few Island entries at the Charlottetown Exhibition track. Remember the excitement when Brewers Gallon raced here in 1949, and the crowds that flocked to see Gay Law, Carl Frisco, Scott Spencer, and others fight it out in the free-for-all in the same year?

Wolves in Ontario
Raid Sheep Flocks

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (CP)—Because of raids by wolves, one farmer in the Cochrane South district of Northern Ontario recently sold his flock of 104 sheep and lambs, officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture said today.

Some farmers in the Temiskaming district, farther south, are reported selling all their sheep for the same reason.

Dr. Found Speaks On T.B. Control At Rotary Club

"Approximately fifty active cases of tuberculosis are being treated in private homes in this Province," Dr. Eric Found stated in an address at the regular meeting of the Rotarians yesterday.

In his address which was entitled "Tuberculosis control on Prince Edward Island," Dr. Found said that cases were being treated at home because the 150 beds in the sanatorium were insufficient. He continued by saying "Without care for the care of the sick, education and early discovery causes irritation, frustration and disappointment."

In his talk Dr. Found told the Rotarians that although progress in T.B. control in Canada has been most encouraging, 5,000 deaths occurred from this preventable disease in Canada in 1949. Referring to the development of Tuberculosis Control in this Province, Dr. Found paid tribute to the pioneering work carried out in the 1920's by such clinicians as Dr. Brink, now director of the Ontario Tuberculosis Association, Dr. Wherry, now Executive Secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association and others who conducted travelling clinics, which were organized by Miss Mona Wilson and her staff.

After 1929 the work was continued and expanded by Dr. P. A. Greenham, whose untiring and conscientious efforts and constant vigilance we now possess a set-up which is up-to-date and abreast with all the Provinces in the Dominion.

Before outlining the role of Tuberculosis control, Dr. Found stated that without the close cooperation of our Minister of Health and Welfare, Hon. A. W. Matheson, along with his deputy Col. P. S. Fielding, and without the foresight of Dr. Harold Shaw and his Planning Board, the programme could never have advanced as it has in the past two years.

New additions to the staff and equipment of the Sanatorium have been made possible by the Federal Health Grants details of which have been published from time to time in the press.

It is now universally accepted Dr. Found emphasized, that tuberculosis is not hereditary, but rather that it is contracted by contact with an active infected case. The disease can be prevented and if discovered early can be treated and cured. In Prince Edward Island the educational effort is greatly enhanced by the Tuberculosis League during their campaign for fund raising through the sale of Christmas Seals.

Dr. Found stated that he thought sometimes that the family doctor is not given credit in the diagnosis. He held his listeners that out of 126 new active cases last year, 80 were directly or indirectly referred by the family doctor.

X-ray surveys for the discovery of hidden cases of tuberculosis in various sections of the Province are carried out at intervals from two to three years. It is stated that more than 70% of cases discovered by X-ray surveys have no knowledge that they have disease or where they may have contracted it.

Mr. Neil Hodson, Executive Secretary of the Prince Edward Island Tuberculosis League, has compiled valuable statistics regarding the activities of the Mobile Unit since 1946. Mr. Hodson states however that he is disappointed in the attendance at these clinics and that a fair average attendance through-

Dr. Frank Jelks presided at yesterday's luncheon. Reference to the annual radio auction was made by Rotarian George Walters, and the Club also decided to assist in the campaign for the blind. Sympathy was extended to Rotarian Brig. W. W. Reid on the death of his father, Dr. Reid.

Annual Provincial Campaign For Blind Starts October 31

The annual campaign of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Prince Edward Island starts on October 31, announced Mr. G. E. Wood, C.N.I.B. Field Secretary.

The Institute makes only one appeal each year in this Province. "A generous response from the public is vitally necessary if the Institute is to maintain its standard of services to the blind people in this district," said Mr. Wood. He explained that the object of this service is to train the blind to use their remaining four senses to the best advantage for their own comfort, happiness and independence.

Nearly 500 blind people in Canada last year were placed in jobs of various types by the Institute. About the same number made use of the Library of Braille and Talking Books, which are sent free of charge. Over one thousand who had recently lost their sight received the services of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind Home Teachers.

"Through the work of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, sightless people today are enjoying greater independence, greater activity and better living conditions than ever before," Mr. Wood stated. "With the support of the people of Prince Edward Island, we hope to give even better service in the coming year," he concluded.

Out in 1949 was in the vicinity of 32%. This is indeed disappointing and is due to a combination of fear, ignorance, and indifference.

Reviewing his talk, Dr. Found stated that one can understand how an educated, health minded public can utilize three main avenues. That is, the family doctor, the Mobile Unit X-ray, and the Public Health Nurse to direct people to the travelling clinics where all doubtful cases can be properly assessed and advised as to whether or not they have lung pathology, and if so, is it or is it not tuberculosis.

Dr. Found said the elimination of tuberculosis among cattle has greatly reduced the disease in humans as well as in other animals, and referred to the fact that Prince Edward Island has been a restricted area since 1925. In 1925 94,772 cattle were tested and 561 reactions discovered. In 1949-50 88,366 cattle were tested and only 16 reactions were discovered.

"To the best of our knowledge there are about 20 cases of gland and bone tuberculosis on Prince Edward Island today," Dr. Found said. "No doubt this comparatively low incidence can be chiefly attributed to our living in a restricted area and to the pasteurization of milk in many of our larger centres."

Dr. Frank Jelks presided at yesterday's luncheon. Reference to the annual radio auction was made by Rotarian George Walters, and the Club also decided to assist in the campaign for the blind. Sympathy was extended to Rotarian Brig. W. W. Reid on the death of his father, Dr. Reid.
