

Happenings of The Week

The Viscountess Alexander of Tunis received Hon. C. H. Locke, president of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, at Government House.

The Governor-General and the Viscountess Alexander of Tunis gave a reception on Sunday evening for the members of the Sadler's Wells Ballet.

General Mark Clark, Chief Army Field Forces, United States Army, Mrs. Clark and Major Jaccard, arrived in Ottawa to stay on Monday afternoon at Government House.

The series of Town and Gown teas held by the Women's Associates of McGill were resumed on Tuesday at the Faculty Club, 3450 McTavish Street, following the general meeting of the Association in the ballroom at three o'clock.

Among the invited guests to the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and the Royal Canadian Dental Corps Ball which will take place on Friday night, February 2, at their Armory, 3626 St. Urbain Street, are Maj.-Gen. A. E. Walford, C.B.E., M.M., E.D., and Mrs. Walford, Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton, C.B.E., C.D., and Mrs. Morton, Maj.-Gen. E. G. W. Keen, C.B.E., M.C., M.M., and Mrs. Keen, Col. U. Shier, O.B.E., C.D., and Mrs. Shier, Col. W. C. Dick, O.B.E., and Mrs. Dick, Col. E. D. Elwood, M.B.E., and Mrs. Elwood, Col. and Mrs. Jules Merrick, Col. J. Paul Laplante, O.B.E., E.D., and Mrs. Laplante, Lieut.-Col. A. H. Lowe, E.D., and Mrs. Lowe, Lieut.-Col. E. M. Desautels, O.B.E., E.D., and Mrs. Desautels, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. L. I. Playfair, Lieut.-Col. Ashton Kerr, M.C., and Mrs. Kerr, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. J. E. Cole, Surgeon-Captain D. R. Webster, O.B.E., and Mrs. Webster, Squadron-Ldr. J. F. Young, D.S.O., M.B.E., E.D., and Mrs. Young, Captain and Mrs. R. H. Wilson, and Mrs. R. H. Wilson.

Spring bouquets of daffodil and jonquil were arranged in the reception and drawing rooms of the Villa Ave. home of Lieutenant Governor T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse for the afternoon reception given by Mrs. Prowse during the afternoon. Those serving were Mrs. A. Walther, Mrs. Alan Erns, Mrs. Alan Macmillan, Mrs. B. B. Jones and Mrs. Allison Rogers, Mrs. L. E. Wellner and Mrs. L. E. Prowse ushered the guests to the dining-room.

Mrs. B. Earle MacDonald, wife of His Worship Mayor MacDonald, entertained for the wives of the visiting delegates at a coffee party at her home on Thursday morning.

Mrs. H. J. Gordon, Fitzroy Street, entertained for friends at bridge on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Troop who will be leaving Charlottetown for Saint John's, Newfoundland, where Mr. Troop has been transferred in the Bank of Montreal, have been guests of honour at several parties this week.

Mrs. Jean MacFarlane, Summerside, entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. D. MacFarlane, who was in Summerside this week presiding at the Presbyterial meetings, has returned to her home in Winsloe.

Mrs. Ensor Bowness has returned to her home in Summerside after spending two weeks in Toronto, the guest of her brother, Mr. Carl Dickie, and Mrs. Dickie.

Mrs. J. Dickinson of Hamilton, Ontario, who accompanied the remains of her nephew, Mr. Howard MacFarlane, to Summerside, is the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. MacFarlane.

Among the students who arrived in Summerside to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Howard MacFarlane on Tuesday afternoon were Messrs. Lowell Allen and Grant Mollison from Dalhousie University; the Misses Nancy MacFarlane and Isabel Howatt, Messrs. Alan Lecky and D. R. Morrison from Acadia University; Miss Dorothy Ellis, and Mr. David Morrison from Mount Allison University and Mr. John Ellis from Amherst, N.S.

Mrs. Robert Nicholson is in Chatham, N. B., where she is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Plouffe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bohaker entertained for friends on Thursday night at a Canada party.

Mrs. F. I. Andrew had friends in for bridge on Friday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Poole on Thursday evening entertained at a dinner bridge at her home on Hillsborough Street.

Mrs. Alfred MacNeill gave a bridge party on Monday evening at her Upper Prince Street apartment.

Mrs. Reginald Haslam of Springfield spent a few days in Summerside this week, the guest of Mrs. Carl Dickie, and Mrs. Dickie.

Mrs. Carl Crockett, Summerside, was hostess at bridge one evening this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sheen with their son, Gregory, have returned to Summerside this week after spending a few days in Moncton, N. B.

Mrs. Jean MacFarlane, Summerside, entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening.

Macmillan - Downe Wedding Group

Strange But True

By E. H. MacArthur

Only three Persian dittle flowers exist on earth. The blossom of this plant smells like honey. Frank Wood, Cross Roads, has candied eggs laid by hens of his poultry flock, found an egg with an unusual shell. He broke the egg and was amazed to find two complete shells, one white and the other dark brown.

The chasm of the Au Sable on the flanks of the Adirondacks Range of mountains has a cleft in gray sandstone with perpendicular walls one hundred feet high. The fissure itself is two miles in length. In the Appalachians are fans of five to twenty thousand feet and a greater one cuts through the Uintas are due to volcanic accumulations, no doubt.

On Tuesday evening, Mr. E. S. Chandler, manager of Chappell and Company, and Mrs. Chandler, entertained the company staff, their wives and friends at their home, North River Road. The early part of the evening was spent in playing cards and contests and this was followed by a sing-song with Mr. O. K. Presby at the piano, after which a buffet supper was served by the hostess, Mrs. Clarence Nickerson, manager of The Northern Electric Company, Moncton, was also a guest.

The Y. M. C. A. Banquet Hall was arranged with daffodil and iris bouquets for the annual pre-spring tea of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y on Tuesday. Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. Fredrick Gamble, Mrs. John Dickie, Mrs. Arnet Howatt, Mrs. Roy Cummore, Mrs. Frank Tinney, Mrs. Merritt Forsythe. Members of the Auxiliary and the girls of various Hi-Y groups served the guests from 3:30 to 6:00.

Mrs. James Cousins of Ballie Lot 18, who has recently returned from a five week trip to Boston, Mass., is visiting in Summerside the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Borden Connell.

Mrs. Carl Crockett, Summerside, was hostess at bridge one evening this week.

Mrs. Seymour Scott, Cornwall, has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scott, for the past week.

Mrs. W. A. Currie entertained at bridge at her home in Summerside on Monday evening.

Mrs. A. J. Reynolds of Windsor, N. S., president of the Maritime Conference Branch was a guest speaker at the Presbyterial in Summerside this week.

Mrs. R. L. Willet, Summerside, was hostess at bridge at her home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sheen with their son, Gregory, have returned to Summerside this week after spending a few days in Moncton, N. B.

Mrs. Jean MacFarlane, Summerside, entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. D. MacFarlane, who was in Summerside this week presiding at the Presbyterial meetings, has returned to her home in Winsloe.

Mrs. Ensor Bowness has returned to her home in Summerside after spending two weeks in Toronto, the guest of her brother, Mr. Carl Dickie, and Mrs. Dickie.

Mrs. J. Dickinson of Hamilton, Ontario, who accompanied the remains of her nephew, Mr. Howard MacFarlane, to Summerside, is the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. MacFarlane.

Among the students who arrived in Summerside to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Howard MacFarlane on Tuesday afternoon were Messrs. Lowell Allen and Grant Mollison from Dalhousie University; the Misses Nancy MacFarlane and Isabel Howatt, Messrs. Alan Lecky and D. R. Morrison from Acadia University; Miss Dorothy Ellis, and Mr. David Morrison from Mount Allison University and Mr. John Ellis from Amherst, N.S.

Mrs. Robert Nicholson is in Chatham, N. B., where she is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Plouffe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bohaker entertained for friends on Thursday night at a Canada party.

Mrs. F. I. Andrew had friends in for bridge on Friday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Poole on Thursday evening entertained at a dinner bridge at her home on Hillsborough Street.

Mrs. Alfred MacNeill gave a bridge party on Monday evening at her Upper Prince Street apartment.

Morning Smile

Misunderstood

Bruser had been knocked out in the first round, and now, back in the dressing-room, was discussing the fight with his manager. "Tell me, Bruser," said the manager, "why did you drop your guard as soon as Biffer went to hit you?"

"I was carrying out your instructions," growled Bruser. "My instructions?" exclaimed the manager. "Yes, when you should 'strike' I protested Bruser, 'what could I do I didn't want you to think me a blackleg.'"

Better English

By D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence: "It is no use to argue about the matter." 2. What is the correct pronunciation of "adequate"? 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Exchequer, exemplery, exhibitionist, exhilarate.

4. What does the word "sanguinary" mean? 5. What is a word beginning with er that means "having no certain course; wandering"?

Answers: 1. Say, "It is of no use." 2. Pronounced ad-ek-wit, e as in me unstressed, accent first syllable. 3. Exemplary. 4. Attended with or lacking much bloodshed. "Some people find much pleasure in reading it even to the ends of the earth." 5. Is there such a thing as brown coal? Yes, and it is composed distinctly of vegetable fragments. When coal sputters in the stove you may be sure it is interbedded with limestones. . . . Farmers cannot place their root crops on the market unless they measure up to a certain standard, but they are obliged to purchase coal from the dealers without this necessary protection.

John Smith, of the town of her aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Tanton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hayward, Summerside, entertained at mixed bridge at their home on Thursday evening.

Mrs. C. W. Kipper and son Gary of Slemom Park, R. C. A. F. Station are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Milligan, Summerside.

Miss Agnes McQuaid has returned from a pleasant vacation in Baltimore and Boston.

Miss Mabel Newsum and Mrs. G. M. Avarid were in Summerside this week attending the annual meeting of the Presbyterial of the United Church.

Design No. 1015

These portholders are so easy to crochet in color combinations to match kitchen accessories. Pattern No. 1015 contains complete instructions.

To order: Send 20 cents in coin to Needlework Bureau, Charlottetown, Guardian.

Design No. 1015

Name

Address

City

Province

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make new tinware rustproof? A. The tinware will never rust, no matter how much it is placed in water, if while it is new the surface is rubbed with lard, then thoroughly heated in the oven before using.

Q. How can I refinish the edges of rugs when they have become worn? A. Buttonhole the edges with heavy yarn of the proper color. This is a method practiced by repairers of fine rugs.

Q. How can I add attractiveness to the appearance of plain curtains? A. Serve the curtain in tall glasses, garnishing with whipped cream and pieces of currant jelly.

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee

Stuffed Cabbage Salad

A main salad mixture can be served attractively by scooping out the center of a firm cabbage head, stuffing with the salad—potato or vegetable, to which a little of the shredded cabbage can be added—and garnishing with sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, stuffed eggs, watercress, and thin slices of cold meat.

Bathroom Cleaning

Old Turkish towels make splendid cloths for cleaning the bathroom. They are so soft they will not scratch, yet are heavy enough to stand the hard wear of the cleansing powder.

The Wringer

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

We enjoyed a sleigh-ride this morning, along this road of ours, which at present is more ice than snow but nevertheless, affords excellent sleighing. We rode to the tinkle of sleigh-bells, a sound once extremely familiar, but now almost gone in the mechanical age we have come to. For the most part, these lie on shelves or hang neglected in a stable or have disappeared altogether. We recall when in the Winters of the past they rang out so merrily, brightening day and lending enchantment to the nights. We remember too, that they were removed from harness or muffled on the teams that moved in a funeral procession. It comes to mind too, with a smile, that they were a necessary part of a rig that went to town in winter.

"Yes", we overheard James relate to the grandchildren gathered about his knee and chair not long ago, hanging on to his every word, "every team had to carry a bell when it went to town in winter—sleigh, that is—in the long ago. And" he smiled "I mind having to turn back more than once when I started off without one. And I've had to buy one first thing when I got there or perhaps borrow one on the way. Sometimes I had to be away before daylight—and it's kind of hard to think of everything then."

The Stars Say --

By Genevieve Kemble

For Tomorrow

THIS day comes in with the expected delay, congestions, postponements in which it may be difficult to gain much headway, although the ambitions are stimulated to high purpose. There may be upset, radical change and erratic conditions up until late evening, after which cherished plans and objectives may be gratifying.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PATIENT MAY LIVE SAFELY MANY YEARS AFTER ATTACK OF CORONARY THROMBOSIS

When an attack of coronary thrombosis (heart stroke) occurs, we tend to feel that the end is not far off. It is true that some patients do die with the first attack, but, fortunately, most come through it. But both cases and family know of other cases in which the second, third or even fourth attack has occurred within a few months and the patient has finally passed away.

In Statistical Bulletin, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company (and insurance companies know more about this subject than anyone else), we read that "evidence is accumulating that persons with heart disease, even some relatively severe cases, can live for many years and carry on a modest degree of activity."

A recent study by this company shows how much we are mistaken about the certainty of early death in heart disease. The study consisted of a follow-up of a group of men with heart disease, who were considered eligible for total permanent disability benefits under the provisions of the life insurance contract. The men were admitted to disability in the years 1934 to 1936 and were traced to their anniversary date in 1947. All the men were under 60 years of age.

There were 540 men of whom 70 were disabled by valvular heart disease (mostly following rheumatism or rheumatic fever) and 470 by high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries. Of those with coronary thrombosis, 166 had had one or more attacks, 81 had brain or kidney involvement as well, and the remaining 223 had no reported complications.

Remember the illustration of the bridge built to withstand 20 ton loads that has been damaged. Now, though unable to carry 20 tons, it can safely carry 10 tons. After an attack of coronary thrombosis, a careful regular checkup by the physician or heart specialist will enable the patient to live safely for many years.

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Continued on page 8

Leader In Canadian Fashion

Selected as one of Canada's best dressed women, Mrs. George Buntain, wife of Cmdr. Buntain of Charlottetown, is shown in one of the attractive ensembles which she modelled in last year's benefit Fashion Show sponsored by the Junior Ladies' Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital. The Dominion's style experts placed Mrs. Buntain in the top ten of the nation's style leaders. A past-president of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, she is also active in the Home and School Association, and Ladies' Aid of the P. E. I. Hospital. —Garnham Photo.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Letters To Soldiers

Keep Them Impersonal, Cheerful And Newsy

A young girl asks me if I will tell her how to write a letter to a boy friend who has been drafted and is in an army camp. She isn't in love with him or he with her so there is no sentimental interest involved as the movies say. Otherwise, the matter would be easy.

But deprived of this source of inspiration the girl finds that writing letters to a boy is rather hard going. After she has told Joe that she has received his last letter and is glad to hear that he is well, she doesn't know how to go on from there. Yet she knows how heartening a letter from home always is and how neglected one often from home always is and how neglected one often from home always is and how neglected one often from home always is.

There used to be a handy little volume called "The Complete Letter Writer" that contained form letters in which one had only to insert "Dear Mary" or "My Beloved Evalina" or "Tom" or "Dick" or "Harry" according to the name and sex of the one to whom you were going to send the missive and, presto, the job was done. There was a letter couched in the most eloquent language, ex-dote. There was a letter couched in the most eloquent language, ex-dote. There was a letter couched in the most eloquent language, ex-dote.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

But when the writers say their hearts are breaking and the world is full of woe, we brood over it and it poisons our days and keeps us awake at night. We think they mean it, and are not just talking and posing and bidding for our sympathy. It is literally true that what we

best advice I can give them is, first, not to write anything in which that they would not be willing to see published in their home paper, and secondly, not to write letters that are gobs of gloom. So daughter, if you cannot be cheerful in a letter, keep away from the ink pot. Remember that anything that is written seems ten times as fatal and final as when it is spoken. When our friends tell us about their troubles we pat them on the back and say, "There, there, forget it. Let's go and have a nice dinner" and over a good steak or lobster newberg we both put the matter out of mind.

NECKLINE IN THE NEWS

For occasions that call for something special... this frock featuring a pretty portrait neckline outlined by a collar! The fared skirt captures the youthful feeling of fullness.

No. 2074 is cut in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92