CONVENT DE NOTRE DAME.

EXAMINATION—DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

We were not present during the private examination of the pupils which took place on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week; therefore, we have no opinion of our own to give concerning its results. The following brief account of the examination from the Herald speaks highly of the success attained by the pupils, as well as of the ability of the tutors, during the past term—

"Every one knows the care and assiduity bestowed by the Ladies of the Convent on their classes, and in every class the results of careful teaching were visible. Promptness and accuracy, marked every answer. From the lowest to the highest subjects, these were the prominent features. In History, Rhetoric, Geography, Astronomy, Botany and Zoology, there was manifested a familiarity with the subject, so far as the text-books went, which no fair examiner could disturb. The six books of Euclid offered no difficulties which the young ladies had not surmounted; and complicated Algebraical expressions were simplified with an adroitness and ease creditable alike to teachers and pupils. The mathematical department was, indeed, admirable. In Book-keeping, the specimens exhibited were, for beauty of penmanship, and neatness of the entries, models to copy from. And in the midst of all these lofty subjects, came the useful domestic business of the theory of cooking, in which the young ladies showed themselves as much at home as in demonstrating a proposition of Euclid, or solving a quadratic equation.

"Two essays, both written gracefully as to style, and accurately as to facts, were read by two young graduates of this year—Miss Emma Reilly and Miss Mary Jane Murphy. The first essay was on the 'Crusades,' and the other on 'Alfred the Great.'"

The soiree and distribution of prizes took place in the Music Hall of the Convent on Wednesday evening last. It was, as usual, attended by a very large and appreciative audience. The addresses, solos, duets, trios and choruses which formed the programme, were rendered in elegant style and taste. We believe the musical talent at present employed in this institution cannot be surpassed in any part of the Dominion. The department of music, now under the direction of Sister St. Hypolit, deserves special mention. The following is the programme rendered at the Soiree:—
