Natick Club Visits PEI

By CHRIS ANNETT

It was a long and patience trying evening for the fans at the Charlottetown Forum Monday evening as they saw the Charlottetown Rangers absorb a questionable 4-3 loss at the hands of the Summerside Junior Legionnaires.

Strip aside the brawl and the controversy over the minute that was not played and you have two evenly matched clubs that played on equal footing for the majority of the game. The Charlottetown club held an edge in play but fantastic goaltending on the part of Woodcock in the Summerside cage kept the Legionnaires in the game.

However the match was highlighted by a full scale brawl, and a raging controversy over the minute remaining on the OFFICIAL timers watch. The Forum has an electric clock at the north end but it is not the official time. No announcement was made to the effect that there was one minute of play remaining to play but it was discovered after the siren had gone (this is operated off the big clock) that there was still a minute remaining on the official watch. On the basis of this, the Rangers management has entered an official protest and members of the MAHA board of appeal will have to decide whether the match will be replayed.

The first period started and ended by the big clock, the second period was the same and yet the final session of play was only 59 minutes old (60 by the big clock) when the siren wailed. It will be interesting if the protest is upheld.

Another mystifying factor in the game was the fact that the two main participants in the free for all, Jamie Kennedy and Gerry Smith were not let out of the penalty box immediately following their five minute majors. This will be another factor in the protest no doubt and could be the clincher.

NATICK ARRIVES

A band of 97 young hockey players, parents and spectators arrived in Summerside yesterday afternoon for the renewal of the International Friendship hockey series. The group of Pee Wee and Bantam players plus supporters have travelled from Natick Mass to play the Summerside counterparts and this marks the sixth year that the two cities have traded visits.

This international series began six years ago, in 1961, but this year's competitions mark two new features to the rivalry. This is the first time that the U.S. club has brought along a Bantam team and this year the Pee Wees will be fighting not only for the honor of their respective communities but for a lovely Donald F. Cameron trophy.

The series just goes to show how much sport can do to develop good feelings between countries and people. It got its start back in 1961 in a rather offhand way. John Carroll who was then in charge of the little league baseball programme in Summerside and other officials in the league had discussed taking the winner of the little league loop to a major league baseball game in Boston in the past but the idea had never panned out.

However plans were laid in 1961 for a Summerside Pee Wee hockey team to visit the States and play their counterparts in Natick where Carroll was now residing. Plans were made and Walter Brown, the coach of the Boston Bruins donated 25 tickets to the Summerside officials. The trip was made and the Island Pee Wees won their first international match. W. A. Currie, who was then the mayor of Summerside, extended an invitation to the Natick crew to make a return visit and so the annual pilgrimages started.

Every other year the Natick team visits the Island and Summerside journeys stateside on the same schedule. Thus far the Island crew has won three of the five matches so this season will afford them an opportunity to pull ahead 4-2 in games should they win.

This year a Bantam club, the Natick Comets are accompanying the Pee Wees and this marks the first season that the older boys have visited. A good number of the players on the Bantam team from stateside were members of the Pee Wee teams that played Summerside in the past, so at least some of the faces will be familiar to Summerside fans. To the 97 persons who have travelled the long miles to Summerside, greetings and may your stay here be the best ever.

Afternoon Results

By DON ANGUS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Bill Ross' Humboldt, Sask., rink moved into first place in the Canadian schoolboy curling championship here Tuesday with a 9-8 victory over Quebec.

The decision gave Saskatchewan a 3-0 record after three rounds of the round-robin tournament. The Prairie rink had to stave off a late surge by Leslie Hollands' Arvida rink, which scored a three-ender in the final end.

Northern Ontario's Wayne Steski of North Bay moved into second spot in the 11-rink standings with an 8-7 triumph over Ontario, skipped by Mike Boyd of Kingston. The Steski foursome now has a 2-0 record, while Ontario has a 2-1 mark.

ALSO WIN SECOND

Two other rinks picked up their second wins in the third draw. Don Glinz's Nova Scotia quartet from Truro defeated Prince Edward Island, skipped by Keith MacEachern of Charlottetown, 8-5, and Alberta's Brian Howes of Calgary trounced New Brunswick, led by Bev Groves of Edmundston, 14-1. Both Nova Scotia and Alberta have 2-1 won-loss records.

The George Wilson - skipped team from Charleswood, Man., shook off the first day blues to earn its initial victory Tuesday —a one-sided 13-3 pasting of British Columbia, Quebec and New Brunswick. All have 1-2 marks.

HAS YET TO WIN

Prince Edward Island's loss to Nova Scotia was its second consecutive defeat without a win. The Charlottetown team, which had the bye Monday night, shares the cellar with Dan Herder's St. John's entry. Newfoundland sat out the third round.

SDU Pucksters To Host Tommies

St. Dunstan's University Saints host St. Thomas Tommies of Fredericton tonight in what could be the most important game of the season for SDU. With a second place standing and the league scoring race at steak, the Saints will have to make their last home games, to night and Saturday, as "must win" contests.

As far as the standings are concerned, St. Francis has first place wrapped up, but Mt. Allison and St. Dunstan's are running neck and neck for second. Mt. "A" has played one extra game, so if the Saints win tonight, second place would be decided pretty well Saturday afternoon when these two teams meet at the SDU rink.

Perhaps the most immediate concern tonight will be th league scoring race. St. Dunstan's forwards Maurice Roy and Mike Kelly, who have led the parade for the best part of the season, are facing a late season surge by St. F.X. forward Chi Chi Farenzena, who scored eight goals in his two weekend games. Roy tied the league scoring mark of 25 goals against UNB ten days ago set by Billy MacMillan two years ago. The high total for points, 41 points also set by MacMillan, is almost certain to go, as Roy needs only three points to tie it in the three games remaining.

Another mark set this year is the league record for assists in one season, formerly held by Wayne Synian of St. F.X. Mike Kelly of St. Dunstan's broke that record last week also with his 28th, and chances are that he can extend this total in the next three games.

St. Thomas has been plagued by injuries this year, and they are presently fifth in the standings. In their last game at Fredericton, they lost to St. Dunstan's 4-2.

The Saints host Mount Allison here on Saturday afternoon, and then close out the season with a big game against St. Francis Xavier in Antigonish on Monday night.

Alan Smith, MacDonald Upset In Island Mixed

Dr. Wen MacDonald and Alan Smith, both pre favorite rinks in the provincial Mixed Curling championships which started in Charlottetown yesterday, took first round loses by identical scores of 6-5 in thrilling games last evening.

Andy Humphry of Belvedere, who is riding on top of the ladder at the present moment with three wins and no losses broke a 5-5 deadlock in the final end of his match with Smith to take his win. Humphry had previously beaten John Squarebriggs Sr. and Ken MacDonald of Montague.

Dr. MacDonald locked horns with the determined Bill Beer quartet and he too went down to defeat by a 6-5 margin. However unlike Humphry, Beer had to take his win the hard way and that he did, stealing a rock coming home. Beer is one of three teams with two and zero records. George Nicholson from Montague and John Squarebriggs Jr. both have two wins too.

Four of the twenty five participating rinks bit the dust after the first day of play. The Jim Burden rink, the Peter Sinclair quartet, the Ivan MacKinnon foursome and the K. Smith team. All the teams entered in the playdowns are from the Charlottetown, Belvedere and RCAF Curling clubs. No team from Souris or Alberton entered.

The following is the draw for the first four rounds today:

9 A.M.

Henry Peters vs Al Wolfenden; John Squarebriggs Jr. vs Doug Bell; Dr. L. Cox vs Dr. E. S. Giddings; K. Acorn vs Geo. Worth.

11.45 a.m.

Dr. Wen MacDonald vs Andy Humphrey; Bill Beer vs Alan Smith; Geo. Nicholson vs E.F. Acorn; Wes Storey vs Ken MacDonald.

2.30 p.m.

D. O'Rourke vs Ivo Cudmore; Al Forgie vs D. Clarkson; John Squarebriggs Jr. vs Dr. L. Cox; Al Wolfenden vs Doug Bell.

5.15

Geo. Nicholson vs Andy Humphrey; Bill Beer vs John Squarebriggs, Sr.

Also an 8.00 draw of winners for 9.00 a.m. draw.

SHE'S NOT FALLING

Ronald, 19, and Cynthia Kauffman, 17, Seattle, Wash., brother-sister team in the world Figure Skating Championships at Davos, Switzerland, glide through the compulsory event. Though the young team placed fifth, it drew the greatest applause from the spectators. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Davos)

Canadian Figure Skaters Are Misinformed On Rules

DAVOS, Switzerland (CP-AP) Emmerich Danzer of Austria glided into the early lead n men's singles competition Tuesday at the world figure skating championships. Three Canadian men were well down the list after the first two of six compulsory figures.

After the compulsory figures in pairs competition, which also began Tuesday, Soviet entries were first and second. The Canadian brother-sister entry of Paul Huehnergard, 21, and Susan, 17, placed last and said their failure was because of "an error of interpretation" in Canada of the world rules.

KNIGHT SIXTH

Donald Knight, 18, of Dundas, Ont., the Canadian champion who finished third in the 1965 world competition, was sixth after two figures, with 301.6 points, trailing Nobuo Sato of Japan, 302.0 points.

In 10th place was the veteran Toronto skater, Dr. Charles Snelling, 29, with 288.4 points.

Jay Humphrey, 17, of Vancouver, was tied for 13th with Giordano Abbondato of Italy, with 276.4 points.

GOT 84 POINTS

The Huehnergards, Canadian senior pairs titleholders in 1965 and 1966, received only 84.0 points for the compulsory figures.

"We were misinformed," they told reporters later. "We were not told exactly just what was expected from us here."

Bruce Hyland, their trainer, said he trained the pair in the performance of the "serpentine footworks" as a school figure consisting of three curves in a mirror-like pattern.

He said he now had discovered world championship specifications demand that this particular figure be skated three times in circles imposed one upon the other.

"The Canadian skating authorities should have told us about it," Hyland said. There was little that could be done about it now, he added.

NHL's Bottom Three Clubs Affect Standings Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The bottom three teams in the National Hockey League tonight get a chance to loosen or tighten the knot that has bound the top three clubs in the race for first place since early in the season.

The first-place Chicago Black Hawks are only two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens, who are two points ahead of Detroit Red Wings.

The Canadiens play at home to Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs visit Chicago and Detroit is at New York against the Rangers.

A second, less spectacular, standings race is also involved —the Bruins are in fifth place only two points ahead of New York.

The third-place Leafs are safe from any immediate upward or downward movement. They are eight points behind Detroit and 17 ahead of Boston.

Toronto lost both its games last weekend and it meant the end of the soft life.

TRIED NEW TACT

Coach Punch Imlach said he "tried giving them an easy time of it and they showed it in the way they played on the weekend."

His medicine started Monday with an 8 a.m. vigorous practice and emergency goaltender Gary Smith got a bigger dose than he hoped for. A Bob Pulford slapshot hit him on the head and he was cut for six stitches even though he was wearing a mask.

But he'll play tonight, with Leafs' regular goalies, Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk, still out of action with injuries.

Defenceman Bob Baun will be back in action against the Hawks after missing a few games with an injury.

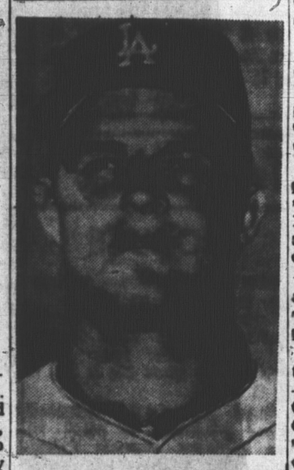
Imlach plans to go again with four lines, the new one comprised of centre Pete Stemkowski, left winger Orland Kurtenbach and converted defenceman Tim Horton at right wing.

Montreal goaltender Lorne (Gump) Worsley will be on the sidelines when the Canadiens meet Boston. He is expected to remain in hospital until today with a virus infection that forced him to leave the nets last Saturday night as the Canadiens beat Chicago 5-2.

That means Charlie Hodge will be in the nets tonight.

Mathematics is playing a part in the Bruins' surge from last place to fifth. Montreal Star columnist Elmer Ferguson writes that Boston manager Hap Emms has instituted a system of charts recording Bruins' errors.

At a game in Detroit some time ago he found that the Bruins gave away the puck 47 times in their own end. A record of debits and credits now is posted in the dressing room immediately after each game and Ferguson says errors in their own end of the rink have been cut to an average in the low 20s.



DON DRYSDALE

Koufax, Drysdale Are Demanding Huge Contracts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pitching ace Sandy Koufax is asking for $600,000 and his co-star, Don Drysdale, for $450,000 for three-year-contracts with Los Angeles Dodgers, says the Herald-Examiner.

The copyrighted story was confirmed in part by Dodgers' vice president and general manager, E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi.

"Yes, they are asking for a lot of money but this $600,000 is news to me," said Bavasi, who handles contract matters for the club.

Koufax, the Dodgers' two-time Cy Young Award winner and a 1965 26-game winner, was not available for comment.

Seniors Program Released

WINNIPEG (CP)—The second Canadian seniors curling championships will be held March 28-April 2.

The program for the tournament was released Tuesday by William E. Lumsden of Winnipeg, chairman of the Dominion Curling Association's seniors committee.

Rinks representing every province and Northern Ontario will compete in a round-robin of 10-end games. Each player on a rink must be at least 56 years of age.

The inaugural national final at Port Arthur last March was won by Leo Johnson of Winnipeg.

Three provincial representatives have already been declared —Jim Johnston of Dixie for Ontario, Wendell MacDonald of Charlottetown for Prince Edward Island and Russell Sholds of Lunenburg for Nova Scotia.
