Business Society News
THE KELLY OUTLOOK

Hello and Welcome once again to BUSINESS SOCIETY NEWS!

We know that you all anxiously awaiting tonight's Business Pub. And those of you who don't read this until Friday we apologize for your sore head and horrendous hangover.
In your mind we are dealing this with a soft touch.

The Pub begins at 8:30 tonight (Thursday) at The Barn with Cosmos Music Limited playing all the hits in music. A note to all engineers fortunate to get through the door, if you want to bring UPEI's answer book Mickey Mouse, Baird Judson, tell him to bring an original (or a reasonable hand drawn facsimile) as well as a note from his roommate, Jimmy Judson.

We would also like to thank those many Engineers who bought Business Society Memberships in a valiant attempt to join J.J.'s Troopers. Unfortunately, it can't cure your impotency.
Here is a tip for you engineers: don't tell any one you're numb from alcohol, and for some unknown reason you can't stand the stinch, that you are an engineer. She will realize it when her teeth begin to water and her stomach begins to turn.

By the way, THE BUSINESS SOCIETY is sponsoring its annual golf tournament Wednesday, Oct.
11. There are still openings for Business Students and the caddy list includes such favorites as "I'll wash your balls" Arka, George "Use my nose for a tee" Zakem (our first port caddy), and Dougie "no bigger than a golf club" Wright. (Watch it guys he would love you to grab the wrong club.
Further details will follow from Howard Casell's Hot at Saturday from THE BUSINESS SOCIETY office.
Live coverage will be provided by NBC, CBC, ABC, V, and CCCP-TV.

In the interest of higher learning we feel a great responsibility as the most elite students on campus to educate all the blobbering idiots on Campus especially the morons in Duffy. "Editors note: This questionnaire is designed for all engineers who can read (both of them).
Instructions: Write down the proper letter that answers the corresponding question: (Note: Engineers: Spelling mistakes don't count!) 1.
What has an IQ less than 70?

- A. Mongoloid
- B. Local illiterates
- C. engineers

Hint: This is tricky as B and C are the same.

2. An artsie and an Engineer jump off of the top of Duffy. Who hits the ground first?

- A. Artsie
- B. engineer
- C. Who cares?

3. Who are most likely to contract the disease A.I.D.S.?

- A. Homosexuals

- B. Haitians
- C. engineers

Hint: Another tricky one as both A and C are the same.

If you scored, 0 you can pick up your engineering diploma in any washroom on Campus. If you scored 1, you are an Artsie. If you scored 2, you are an Artsie on the Dean's list. If you scored 3, you are obviously the Chairman of engineering, whatever you are. (Don't bother writing to tell us your name because frankly we don't care.)

If you remember last week's "Speu from the Slop" the cellar-dwellers of Duffy were once again making low blows. (Speaking of low blows how is the job situation for engineers?) Remarks directed at our Director, Mr. J. Joseph Revell were no doubt made in envy as everybody knows that engineers dream of being Business Students (which the laws of nature have so graciously prohibited).
After speaking with Ron Collins he assured us he'd rather have hemroids than AIDS., disease plaguing the engineering community who frequently use the back door. And speaking of hemroids, what do you call hemroids on an engineer?

Why SPEED BUMPS, of course!
On a more serious note, why do engineers swim on their back? So the minnows won't nibble at their worm. And what do sharks call an engineer swimming in the ocean? Junk food.

Well thats it for this week. So don't forget the pub tonight at The Barn at 8:30 p.m. Happy Hour prices all night! And watch for news on the golf tournament.

TILL NEXT TIME Buy low and sell high!
