OCTOBER 16, 1884.

The Finances of Canada.

A STATEMENT of the Revenue and Expenditure of Canada, during the fiscal year 1883-4, has been issued. In brief it is as follows:—

Table with columns for RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURE, listing various government income and expenditure items.

It has been remarked, and it is worthy of remark, that this result is very near the estimate of the Finance Minister. Sir Leonard said that the surplus at the end of the year would probably be about $2,000,000, including $1,000,000 for Dominion Lands sales.

The receipts from Customs were less than those of last year, by $2,979,692, and from excise by $800,807. This falling off is due partly to the reductions made in the tariff, and partly to the temporary slackness of trade.

Table showing Exports and Imports for various years from 1874 to 1884, with values in dollars and cents.

The customs revenue during the twelve years has been as follows:

Table showing Receipts and Percentage for years 1873 to 1884.

The statement of expenditure shows an increase of $2,450,185 on the expenditure of the previous year. On public works, there was an increased outlay of $1,110,000, on militia an increase of $270,000, on Civil Government $150,000, on the Post Office $136,000, on the Fisheries 119,000, and on Dominion Lands $45,000.

It is explained that the increases are due to the development and settlement of the great Northwest, to the Fisheries exhibition, and to the natural growth of the requirements of the country.

The burden of taxation is measured by receipts from Customs and Excise, which for the past year amounted to $25,489,199. From this amount deduct the surplus on hand, and there remains as actual taxation for the carrying on of the business of the country, $23,772,326, or about $5.05 per head of the population.

The revenue obtained in the first three months of the present year amounts to $8,659,832, considerably more than was received during the same months of last year.

Make Autumn Leaf Excursions.

THERE was a London Flower-Girl Parade, formed by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, and others in the Autumn of 1880. All Londoners are lovers of flowers, partly perhaps, from the contrast they form, fresh from the pure country air, with the smoky atmosphere, and smut-begrimed condition of things in the great metropolis; but it cannot be denied that Londoners, as a rule, do "enthuse and carry on," when they visit the sources of "nature's verdant glories."

The sober green old forest, Will fling his banner out, In flaming folds and crimson, To the west winds joyous shout.

and if his trophies are collected in due season, and pressed, a whole winter may be made to smile by their use as wall ornaments, according to the taste and skill of the fair hand that displays them. A wreath, or urn, or harp or anchor leaved out upon the wall of the sitting room, (provided the autumnal tints of the leaves have dried into them, and preserved) has a refining influence, and it is a valuable instinct worth educating that inclines us to love the beautiful. Each season has its glories, and man is given eyes to see them, and a soul to feel how beautiful and how varied is their nature.

When the autumn closes up the summer, it showers down its profusion of gorgeously tinted leaves upon its grave, and bids the lover of nature "gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost." Yes, gather up the autumn leaf, and let winter be made warm to the loving eye, through the memory of what was no less beautiful, before it; gather up the autumn leaves before the snowy shroud that comes from the north has hidden them from view.

Summer's bright roses, one by one have past, Gone is the beauty of the golden sheaves; Ye come at last, (Prophets of winter hours, approaching fast) Oh, autumn leaves.

The Latin Language.

The Latin is an outgrowth of old Oscan, Etruscan, and Greek, and ranks as one of the original languages of Europe, giving paterinity to the Italian, French, and Spanish, and to a very large proportion of English. It ceased to be spoken in Italy about anno 581, and was first taught in England by Adelmus, (brother to Ina, King of Wessex, anno 689), in the 7th century. The use of Latin in law deeds in England gave way to the common tongue about anno 1,000; was revived in the reign of Henry II., but again gave way to English under Henry III. It was finally discontinued in religious worship in 1558, and in courts of law in 1731. The foreign pronunciation of Latin, viz., a, ah-e, a-i, e, etc, was adopted in English Universities, and many schools in 1875-6.

The Governor-General has given offence to some of the hard and fast Grits of Halifax by alluding in complimentary terms to Sir Charles Tupper—Nova Scotia's greatest son.

Wedding Bells.

Advices from Riviere Du Loup to the Herald announce that the marriage of Mr. Joseph Pope, Private Secretary to Sir John A. Macdonald, to Miss Henriette Taschereau, eldest daughter of the Hon. Henry Taschereau, of the Quebec Superior Court, was celebrated yesterday at Riviere Du Loup, by Rev. L. B. Lais. The bride wore a dress of white silk surah, trimmed with silk broche velvet, usual veil and orange blossoms and ornaments of pearls and diamonds. The presents were very numerous and costly. After the ceremony the wedding party were entertained at breakfast at the residence of the bride's father. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Blanche Taschereau, and Mr. W. C. DeBrisay, editor of the Charlottetown Herald, acted as best man. The guests included Judge and Mrs. Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada, and Mr. E. Pacaud, of Arthabaska. The newly married couple left at noon for Halifax amid showers of rice, old shoes, and hearty good wishes.

The Explosion at Quebec.

The Chronicle's account of the explosion at Quebec is published in THE EXAMINER to-day. The Montreal Gazette says: the cause of the explosion is still a mystery, but this much seems certain, that the perpetrators of the deed are not of the class of men who have earned the unenviable name of "dynamiters." There could be no possible reason on the part of any body of men for demolishing the building, and the suggestion that a public object was to be gained by the deed is too monstrous absurd to be worth a moment's consideration. The buildings were only in the course of erection, no one was employed about them excepting the workmen of different nationalities, and they alone would have been the sufferers, had life been lost. But for the fact stated with much emphasis and confidence that no explosives were used on the premises, there would be no room to doubt that accident alone had caused the explosion, and if subsequent investigation establishes that the dynamite must have been purposely placed in the building, the motive of the outrage will have to be sought in other than class interests. As to what motives could inspire the dastardly act it would serve no good purpose to speculate.

Dundas Notes.

This county exhibition is now passed, and pronounced by the hon. judges, to surpass its predecessors. The day was very favorable, and everything passed off quietly. But their is one thing to be much regretted, that the general run of our farmers and mechanics do not take more lively interest in these exhibitions.

Mr. McDougall's vessel, built for L. Kickham, & Co., Souris, was launched on the 4th inst., at 9 a. m. She glided into her native elements most splendidly, her building all though, was most successful. There were about 150 spectators present. Among the honorable mentions, were Hon. L. Kickham, Souris, Mr. James R. McLean, M. P. P., Souris, Mr. Alexander Martin, M. P. P., Valleyfield, Capt. Thos. Kickham, Souris, and John McDougall, M. P. P., her contractor. This vessel has two trucks, main head, two catheads, and two knight heads, splendid spars, white pine, costing the owners in the rough when here $300, and are the best sticks that could be obtained for a vessel of her tonnage. She is painted white, vermilion striped, gilt head and rail boards of most exquisite finish, made by Mr. Huntly, who is a celebrated mechanic. She will probably load with potatoes for the Boston or Newfoundland markets out of this harbor, which speaks well of her enterprising owners, giving the people in the vicinity in which she was built a good chance for their produce. This firm has done a large business already in cattle and produce this fall.

Our popular merchant, James Johnston, Esq., Grand River, who has done a large business, I am informed finds the mackerel scarcer this season than last, but of a better quality.

The crops are all gathered home around here, only potatoes, and they are gathered as fast as time permits.

R. Burdett & Son are loading a schooner here now, with potatoes, but the farmers are holding on for higher prices. There are good prospects of a lively trade in cereals here this fall.
