Illustration Field Day At Monticello To Be Held Tomorrow

The Dominion Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Provincial Department of Agriculture will hold a field day on the Illustration Station operated by Hugh J. MacDonald, Monticello, on Friday afternoon, August 24th at 2 p.m.

A cordial welcome has been extended to the Bear River and Selkirk Calf Clubs to attend this meeting and to give a demonstration and talk on "Good School Lunches".

Dr. G. Fisher, Director of Veterinary Services for Prince Edward Island will speak at some length on common diseases in livestock and the veterinary service which is now available to farmers of the Province.

In view of the growing interest in grass ensilage as a high quality feed for livestock, this particular method of treating hay will be dealt with in some detail by Mr. C. Parent, Superintendent, Experimental Station, Charlottetown.

A clover and grass seed mixture was ensiled at the O'Leary Illustration Station this year and its quality leaves little to be desired.

Loose-Housing System Mr. Parent will also deal with the more modern method of stabling cattle; namely, loose-housing. A loose-housing barn has been fitted to good advantage at the Experimental Farm, Upton and the Illustration Station operator at New London has recently completed the construction of a loose-housing barn for feeder steers.

Farmers will be interested in these two latest developments at Illustration Stations and should make it a point to hear these projects reviewed in detail.

Cereal varieties established at the Monticello Station will be reviewed by Mr. R. B. MacLaren, Cerealist, Experimental Station; and the outstanding features of the various varieties will be carefully reviewed for the benefit of those farmers present.

Pasture fertilization and management will be dealt with in some detail by W. N. Black who will further take farmers on a tour of the Illustration Station reviewing various experiments of a fact finding nature.

At the conclusion of the program, ice cream, tea and sandwiches will be served by the ladies of the Catholic Women's League.

Farmers are invited to attend this meeting where an excellent opportunity will be afforded to meet agricultural workers and discuss mutual problems.

Considerable progress in soil building has been achieved at this Station during the course of the past few years and farmers are invited to tour Mr. MacDonald's farm and view the experimental work as associated with manure and fertilizers.

Strange But True

By F. H. MacArthur

A prescription which no modern druggist could fill is preserved in the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. It was written about 1500 B.C., on a piece of limestone and measures 3 1/2 x 3 inches.

Indications on the prescription show that various classes of precious and semi-precious stones were used for patients of different degrees of wealth. For the wealthy a valuable stone was used. For those of moderate means a more modest stone would do. But for the poor, malachite, limestone which was quite common sufficed. Leave it to the medicos.

The town called "Beebe Plain," stands half in the State of Vermont and half in the Province of Quebec. The post office in this dual town was built on the border between the two countries and therefore, has the distinction of belonging to the postal service of two nations. The cellar opens into both countries. In earlier times, the building was used as a general store, and whiskey was known to have been sold in Canada and delivered to the U.S.A. without ever having left the cellar. What a bootlegger's paradise!

California boasts the tiniest post office in the world. The building is 5 x 6 and 6 ft. high. This unique post office stands in a lonely wind swept spot not far from the city of San Diego, and is maintained solely for the wealthy ranchers of the district. Not more than half a dozen persons get mail there. The postmaster remains on duty only while the scanty mail is being distributed.

The post office at Craig, British Columbia, is named for William Craig, who was born at Hamilton, Prince Edward Island, and pioneered the Blackburn district of British Columbia, after having worked on the C.P.R. Incidentally, Craig once carried the company's payroll - $30,000 - when Jesse James was hot on his trail. The pint sized R.R. Station at this place also bears Craig's name. His descendants still live in the district.

Besides having some unique animals, Australia boasts the largest, heaviest, and most peculiar birds' nests to be found anywhere. These are built by the Jungle fowl in mounds 15 feet high and 150 feet in circumference, skillfully interwoven with leaves, grass and other suitable material, they are of great interest to travelers.

Another curious nest builder is found in Cuba. In building, the male and female bird share the labor. They actually perforate the leaves of the palm and pass threads through the holes so as to form a cable by which the bird home is suspended.

What is more amazing an old bird and a young bird work together as carpenter and helper which would seem to be a sound argument against the theory that blind instinct animates the birds.

In the Zuyder Zee there's a bay called V. In China there is a small town called U, and France has a river and Sweden a town named A.

What is believed to be the shortest name in Canada for any family is Ek. Ek is a Swedish name, and the present family are believed to be descendants of the famous explorer, John Ek.

In official court items in the London press, the late King George V's widow is referred to as Queen Mary. And Queen Elizabeth is spoken of simply as the "Queen," not "Queen Elizabeth."

Incidentally, the oldest Queen manages to struggle along on an annual pension of $335,000 most of which is derived from the revenue of former royal estates.

After the provincial election held in P.E. Island on April 26, 1951, one of the ballot boxes was discovered in the police station at Charlottetown. How!

The following curious coincidences center around the Napoleons. They have to do with the letter "M" Marheauf was the first to recognize the genius of Napoleon.

Mortir was one of his ablest generals; Marie Louise shared his highest fortunes. Moscow was the trap into which he fell. Six Marshalls, Massena, Martier, Marmont, MacDonald, Murat and Mancy, and 26 generals of divisions under Napoleon I. had the letter M for their initial.

Three of his ministers were Marat, Montalivet, and Molliet. His last hiding place in France was Malmaison. He finally surrendered to Capt. Miltand and believe it or not, his companions on St. Helena were Montholon and Marchand.

Now turning to Napoleon III, we find the mysterious "M" all through his career. His military instructor was an officer named Maruth. His Empress was the Countess Montigo-

QUIX WASHES CLOTHES COMPLETELY CLEAN Yet Quix costs less Quix is quicker because it dissolves quicker. Quix never clots, jells or runs together in water like ordinary soap powders. Quix contains a special ingredient that actually makes colours brighter, whites whiter. Quix sells for less than other soap powders yet each package contains more actual net weight. Of many letters received, here is one from Mrs. Lena McAllister, Moncton, N. B. Dear Sir: Quix soap powder has changed my "anvil". Imagine my key to the best wash with one switch to Quix. It is absolutely the best soap powder I have ever used. It's Quix for me from now on.
