Celebrated First High Masses At St. Dunstan's

First Solemn High Masses were celebrated at St. Dunstan's Basilica and the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer Sunday by two newly ordained Oblate priests.

Rev. Robert Kelly, O.M.I., was celebrant at the Basilica with his brother Rev. James Kelly as deacon and Rev. Francis Ledwell as sub-deacon. Assistant priest was Rev. P. F. MacDonald.

Master of ceremonies was Clifford Murphy, Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax and Thurifer Charles Cheverie, also of Holy Heart. The sermon was delivered by Monsignor Patrick McMahon. Present in the sanctuary were Monsignor R. V. MacKenzie, Rev. L. A. Dougan, Rev. Bernard Gillis, D. D., and Rev. John Cash. The choir was under the direction of Leo Chaisson. Mrs. Joseph Dougan was organist.

At Holy Redeemer the celebrant was Rev. Lorne Macdonald, O.M.I. His deacon and sub-deacon respectively were Rev. James Trainor, O.M.I., and Rev. Maurice Coffin, O.M.I. W. J. Enright, C.Ss.R., was assistant priest. Master of ceremonies was Rev. Brother Joseph Rossier, O.M.I. Thurifer was Ian Macdonald, brother of the newly ordained priest. The sermon was delivered by Gregory Murphy, C.Ss.R., delivered the sermon.

Present in the sanctuary were Rev. William Simpson, Rev. John Gallagher, C.Ss.R., and Rev. Brother Aloysius, C.Ss.R. The mixed choir was under the direction of the church organist, Alex H. MacLean.

Following the Mass at the Basilica dinner was served to Father Kelly's immediate friends and relatives at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. McAdam, Belvedere Avenue. Later in the afternoon a reception was held at the same residence.

Some thirty-five guests attended a dinner at the Charlottetown Hotel, tendered in Father Macdonald's honour. Toastmaster was J. Pius Callaghan. Remarks were made by Father Macdonald's father, Mr. Allan J. Macdonald, Rt. Rev. R. V. MacKenzie, Very Rev. J. Gregory Murphy, C.Ss.R., Rev. W. J. Enright, C.Ss.R., Rev. James Trainor, O.M.I., and Rev. Lorne Macdonald, O.M.I.

Kingston Legion Welcomes Mr. And Mrs. Bruce To Home

A house warming party was given in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bruce, North River, by the Kingston Branch of the Canadian Legion on Thursday, June 18. Mr. Bruce is the President of the Kingston Branch, and he and Mrs. Bruce have lived in North River for twenty years before moving to their new home there.

About ninety members and wives were present at the housewarming along with eight invited guests. Mr. Hector Currie acted as chairman, and short speeches were presented by Commodore Rush, Doyle and Brynerton of the Charlottetown Branch. A gift of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce by Commodore A. C. MacEachern, North River, who was graciously thanked by Mr. Bruce. Refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed from ten to one o'clock.

The following address was given by Mr. MacEachern on presentation of the gift: Dear Helen and Roy—On the occasion of your moving into your beautiful new home the members of our Legion Branch, with their wives, are gathered here this evening to do you honour.

Both of you have been generous contributors of your time and talents to every worthwhile community enterprise and in spite of the many demands on your time you have never turned down any request for help—truly you are outstanding citizens of our community.

As President of the Kingston Branch of the Canadian Legion you have guided well the destinies of our Branch and thanks to your untiring efforts the Branch is flourishing and is highly regarded in the Community.

Because of men such as you Roy, our Legion is strong and a dynamic force for good in our great Dominion.

On this happy occasion the members of the Kingston Branch wish to present you with a small gift in token of the esteem in which you are held by your fellow comrades in the Branch.

Long may you prosper and continue to exert an influence for good in our community. May your fine example of service before self be an inspiration to all of us.

Largely Attended Funeral Of Mr. McLure Yesterday

The remains of the late Mr. W. Chester S. McLure were laid to rest at Cavendish Cemetery yesterday, after a very largely attended funeral service at St. James' Presbyterian Church in Charlottetown, representatives being present from the Federal Parliament and Provincial Legislature, the City Council, the Masonic Order, in which Mr. McLure was a Shriner; the Caledonian Club, Women's Conservative Association and other organizations.

Through loud speakers the service was heard by many marked in cars and on the church grounds who were unable to be accommodated within. The funeral cortege was escorted by City Police to the city limits, and by an R.C.M.P. motorcade to the old Cavendish cemetery where a large concourse attended the interment rites.

The remains were first taken from Mr. McLure's late residence, "Bonahinley," to the Kirk, where service was conducted by Rev. W. Harold Brown. Canon J. T. Thibot read the Scriptures, and Rev. Harold L. Milton led in prayer; the memorial address being given by Rev. J. S. Bonnell, D.D., pastor of the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York.

Hymns sung were "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "I Joyed When To The House of God." The procession then proceeded to Cavendish Cemetery, where Rev. W. Harold Brown officiated at the grave. The Masonic service was conducted by the PGM R. E. Kemp. The members of the Session of St. James Church attended in a body, also members of the Caledonian Club, AF and AM, and the Exhibition Association were represented by G. H. Buntain and H. J. Kennedy.

The Executive Council was represented by the Hon. B. E. Macdonald, Hon. Eugene Cullen, Hon. Dr. Bonnell, Hon. George J. McKay and Hon. Keir Clark. Major D. J. McCormack represented the 28th L.A.A. Regiment, of which Mr. McLure had been honorary Lieutenant Colonel.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was represented by Mr. Nell A. Matheson, M.P., and Hon. George W. Lewis, Conservative leader at Ottawa, by Mr. Percy Black, of Amherst.

The honorary pall bearers were Lieutenant Governor T. W. L. Prowse, Hon. Dougald MacKinnon, Acting Premier; Mayor J. D. Stewart, Mr. R. R. Bell, M.L.A., Hon. B. W. LePage, Hon. George D. DeBlais, R. E. Mutch, Col. D. A. MacKinnon, D.S.O., Messrs. B. B. Jones, George W. MacLeod, J. O. Hyman, Mr. Justice George J. Twomey, Dr. R. F. Seaman, Dr. Allan MacMillan, representing Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, O.B.E., who is absent from the Province; T. Roy Cudmore, R. C. Parent, H. Davidson, Alex Brown, Dr. Gordon Ferguson, Dr. Gordon Glascock.

The active pall bearers were Messrs. Hugh John McLure, Fenton McLure, Claude MacEachern, Earle Baker, Capt. James Coles and J. (Jay) Edwards. The mourners were Messrs. Wesley Smith, James Walker, Sydney Brehaut, Milton Brehaut, Kelsey Brehaut, Walter Brehaut, Gordon Grehaut, Hedley Brehaut, Ernest McCabe, Elwood Brehaut, Elmer Jones, Dr. Claude Simpson, Chief of Police Charles McArthur, Horace Smith, Jack Doyle, Raoul LePage, Garfield LePage, James L. LePage, Borden McLure, Willis McLellan, George McLellan.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Following is the text of the memorial address delivered by Rev. Dr. Bonnell: "As we gather today for these last solemn and tender offices of faith and love we meet in a mood of defeatism and despair."

"When the funeral of Robert Browning was held in Westminster Abbey, Burne-Jones, the English artist who was present said that it was all too sombre and melancholy. 'I would have given something for a banner or two,' he said, and much would I have given if a chorister had mounted the triforium and rent the air with a trumpet."

"It was the trumpet-note, challenging and defiant, that was sounded by St. Paul when he said, 'O! death where is thy sting? O! Grave where is thy victory?'"

"So today we are not absorbed in melancholy reflection as we think of our friend and comrade W. Chester S. McLure for he 'fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the faith.'"

Mr. McLure passed man's allotted span of three score years and ten by a full decade and now weary by the journey, and using his burden for a pillow, he has fallen asleep. It was said of a great man of Israel whose life's course had ended—'Thou shalt be missed for thy seat will be empty. Chester McLure will be missed for his seat will be empty in the halls of government.'

For several terms he served well his country, in the Canadian parliament, accepting the responsibilities of office as a sacred trust. Among the members of parliament few indeed were in their seat with such untiring regularity as Mr. McLure. He was respected and beloved by members of all parties. The interests of his constituents and especially the larger interests of his country were his unflinching concern. He fulfilled to a remarkable degree the ideals set forth by J. G. Holland.

God give us men! A time like this demands, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor; men who will not lie; Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog; In public duty and in private thinking. He will be missed because his seat will be empty in the circle of his friends. Said the writer of the Proverbs: 'He that would have friends must show himself friendly.' Chester McLure was a friendly man. His hearty and cheerful greeting brightened many a fellow traveler's way. Though he had constant access to the offices of governors and prime ministers he never lost the common touch. I first knew Chester McLure when he was a school-boy in Charlottetown and through more than fifty years that have followed have never ceased to respect and admire him. He repelled no man because he was humble and poor; and no one in need was ever turned away empty-handed from his door. Hundreds of people could testify to those remarkable letters of sympathy, of encouragement and of congratulations that flowed unceasingly from his pen. He will be missed because his seat will be empty in his home. It has been well said that a Christian home should be 'a little kingdom ruled by love.' And that was true of Chester McLure's home. If a man falls there he falls everywhere. It was there that Chester's character was most fully and tenderly revealed in devotion, unswerving loyalty and love. He will be missed for his place will be vacant in the session of his church and in the family pew. He took seriously his responsibilities as an Elder of the Kirk and as a Christian man. His faith was profound in its simplicity. He knew whom he believed. His trust was not in his own merits but in 'the mercy of God which is in Christ Jesus.' He often recited these familiar lines: 'Nothing in my hands I bring Simply to Thy cross I cling'. So we commit this friend and dear one into the keeping of the Master whom he served and loved. It may well be true of Chester McLure as was said of Bunyan's pilgrim when he came to the river of death: 'So he passed over; and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side.'

Changes Announced At Holy Redeemer

Rev. W. J. Enright, C.Ss.R., Rev. J. L. Madigan, C.Ss.R., and Rev. Brother Aloysius, C.Ss.R., all attached to the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, have received word of their transfers to St. Anne's Church, Montreal.

Father Enright leaves the latter part of this week. He was one of the first Redeemers to serve in Charlottetown when Holy Redeemer Parish came into existence 26 years ago. In 1929 he was named parish rector. Later the same year, on the outbreak of war, he became a chaplain in the armed forces.

Father Madigan will go to Montreal the second week in July. He has been stationed in Charlottetown for five years. Brother Aloysius came to Charlottetown in the fall of 1954. He leaves the latter part of this month for his new parish.

Provinces Ask

might emerge. When the meeting adjourned delegates were rather reluctant to comment on proceedings but provincial Treasurer Field of Nova Scotia said: 'We feel a satisfactory agreement would have to be somewhat at variance with what the prime minister outlined.' He declined to say what Nova Scotia wants. Premier Matheson of Prince Edward Island—the other of the three provincial heads at the meeting—said the federal proposal would not be of much benefit to his province with its small population. He flew back to Charlottetown Monday night, leaving his welfare minister, Alan Stewart, to represent him. Quebec's delegates, Welfare Minister Sauve and Municipal Affairs Minister Provost said Quebec would not commit itself until concrete federal proposals are made. But they indicated the problem of caring for able-bodied unemployed should rest with the central government.

Graduation

by Dr. Bonnell. Marie Gertrude Trainor led her class at Falconwood Hospital and Estelle Martha Connolly was class leader at the Provincial Infirmary. In his remarks Dr. Murchison stated he was pleased to have the opportunity to express to the graduating class his thanks and appreciation for their interest and co-operation as shown by their attention during the past two years.

He extended Dr. Bonnell congratulations on his recent appointment as Minister of Health and noted that the name Bonnell had been intimately connected with the Hospital for many years. He stated that Mr. Abram Bonnell, the father of the Rev. Dr. Sidney Bonnell had served for over 40 years as capable and efficient supervisor and that Mr. Harry Bonnell, father of the present Minister of Health had been supervisor at the Hospital for three years.

Dr. Murchison thanked His Honor, Lt. Gov. Prowse 'to whom we are indebted for his kindness and interest in so gracefully officiating at these functions.' In conclusion Dr. Murchison expressed best wishes to the graduating class for every future success and happiness in the years that lie ahead.

"During your period of training you have seen many advances in your hospitals and methods of training which are reflections of the over all human progress," stated Dr. Burge in his address to the graduates. "You should take some pleasure from the knowledge that you were part of your hospital and your contributions will always remain."

Dr. Burge congratulated the nurses in his opening remarks and told them they were well prepared to practice their profession. He noted they had already contributed much to society when he said "You have been a considerable influence in your own hospitals and to some extent in your community by your activities as student nurses and young ladies."

He spoke of the profession of nursing and its advances from the initial stages until the present dealing at some length with the progress made in the treatment of mental diseases. During the ceremony the large audience enjoyed a lovely vocal solo by Miss Patricia Lightizer and a piano duet by Misses Dorothy Rush and Hazel Kayes.

Rotarians Hear Address On Ancient Manuscripts

"An oriental scroll of the Book of Isaiah identified as being written 150 years B.C. highlights the recent discoveries in the Dead Sea Scrolls," Dr. Lawrence E. Toombs, B.A., B.Sc., Ph.D., Professor of Old Testament literature at the Drew Theological Seminary, told Rotarians in an address before the club at a luncheon meeting at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

The speaker described the discovery and known contents of four of the five manuscripts brought to light by Arab searchers. One is a commentary on the book of Habakkuk, another is a book of thanksgiving hymns and a third deals with the wars of the children of light against the children of darkness—the end of the world. One manuscript is in such a brittle state that to unroll it without injury, a conclusion may be reached by a number of years before an examination may be attempted. The scrolls were discovered by accident in a cave and were contained in seven jars sealed with tar.

Dr. Toombs described excavations in the area indicating a community centre with a dining hall, a scriptorium with forty seats for writers and even pens and ink in evidence. They were also wash basins, evidently provided to remove hand stains after writing. The inhabitants apparently lived on the cliff sides in the vicinity of the excavated area. Much work has yet to be done to get a clearer insight of the whole area and the civilization of the time in which the colony flourished.

Frank Storey introduced the speaker who was thanked for an unusual and highly interesting talk by the co-chairman, Gordon Avar. A pleasing feature of the meeting was a presentation to Miss Noreen MacPherson as Miss Rotary, following her success in achieving the distinction accorded her in being chosen Miss Charlottetown Centennial, to represent the city at the Canada-wide contest in London, Ont. Miss MacPherson will be accompanied by her husband, Mr. J. J. MacPherson.

ADDRESS BY FATHER AYERS

"After twenty-five years of accumulating old firearms as a hobby, I can give no better advice than to point out the futility of haphazard collecting," Rev. L. J. Ayers guest speaker said in the course of his address. "Unorganized collecting of antique items, without supporting records is a wasted effort and the result holds no great interest for those who would be otherwise concerned in the building up of an interesting and worth-while museum."

Rev. Father Ayers said he was thanked on behalf of the meeting by the President, Mr. Justice Tweedy, who congratulated him on the concise and able manner in which he dealt with a subject with which he was evidently quite familiar. "His suggestions would be of great value in formulating the future plans of the Society."

Drew Claims

rupted to ask whether Mr. Drew was trying to "break the record of Huey Long," filibustered one-time governor of Louisiana who was assassinated. TOO MUCH POWER Mr. Drew replied that "Huey Long went the way of many who get too much power and we don't want that to happen to the minister of defence production."

He said there is a delusion among Liberal members that the act's powers are necessary. In fact, the act hadn't been needed since in the last two years value of hundreds of millions of dollars in defence supplies were being purchased. Mr. Drew said he agrees an emergency exists, but not the kind of emergency warranting indefinite continuation of such wide powers.

"The emergency is the threat to our freedom, to the supremacy of Parliament and to the rule of law."

Little Theatre Guild Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Little Theatre Guild was held last night in the City Council Chambers. Routine business was transacted and the following slate of officers was installed for the coming year: President, Marjorie Ranahan; vice president, Jim Coyle; secretary, Mary MacQuaid; treasurer, Peter Shama. Ex Officio: Rebe Scantlebury, Harry Morris, Elmer Power and David Stewart.

Production manager, Nellie Hughes; publicity, Jeanette Carson; business manager, Sterling Walker; membership, Iphigene Arsenault; refreshments, Beverly Place; costumes, Adèle McKinnon; makeup, Betty Holl; music, Barbara Rogers; historian, Mrs. B. C. Prowse; radio, Hazel Hunter; casting, Mary Moran; play reading, Vera Miller; lighting, Charlie Willet; reception, Eric McGregor.

After the transaction of business Vice Miller gave a most informative and interesting talk on her recent trip to the Dominion Drama Festival in Regina. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Scantlebury invited the members to her home for refreshments.

watches, rare books and manuscripts, church hymnals, prayer books and copies of the Bible. "I have come across many of these throughout the Island and they all carry with them a history, which if written up and displayed, would prove of deep interest to both local people and visitors," Father Ayers said.

Speaking of the basic needs in the establishing of a Museum, Father Ayers stressed the necessity of establishing an incorporated legal body which would have the merit of being a going concern for all time. With such a background, many antique pieces would gravitate towards the museum through bequests and on exhibition for generations to come.

"Aimsless collecting should be avoided because it does not impress those from whom we hope to receive support," he said. Public interest is paramount, and the exhibits must be varied to meet these interests, but always intelligently and thorough in regard to tabulating and establishing the history of the objects dealt with.

Rev. Father Ayers was thanked on behalf of the meeting by the President, Mr. Justice Tweedy, who congratulated him on the concise and able manner in which he dealt with a subject with which he was evidently quite familiar. "His suggestions would be of great value in formulating the future plans of the Society."

Public Servants Ass'n Meeting

A quarterly meeting of the Provincial Public Servants' Association was held at Prince of Wales auditorium last evening, with a very large attendance with all Government departments well represented. Many items of business were discussed. The guest speaker was Dr. L. W. Shaw, Deputy Minister and Director of Education, who spoke on highway safety. In the course of his excellent address, Dr. Shaw stressed the point on highway safety is by the force of example. If each individual assumes his driving as his own responsibility then we will commence to have effective highway safety.

Following this several excellent films were shown and delicious refreshments served. The meeting was presided over by J. B. Sheifton, president of the association.

Anniversary Observance

The centennial celebration of St. Stephen's Anglican Church in Burlington continued last evening with the Venerable Archdeacon G. R. Harrison of Summerside officiating at a missionary service.

Choosing for his text a portion of the third verse of Jude, "Ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints," he exhorted the congregation in the unselfish sharing of a faith passed down from generation to generation from the time it was given to the Apostles to the present day.

The rector, Rev. W. Eric Ingraham assisted in the service of evening prayer and welcomed the Archdeacon, well known and loved by the people of this parish, and the choir of St. Mary's, Summerside, who with their organist, Mr. Everett Penwarden, led in the service of song.

Hymns, lessons and psalms were in keeping with the missionary theme. The visiting minister and choir were entertained at the community hall where refreshments were served. Tonight will be parish laymen's night. The officiating clergyman will be Canon Thibot of Charlottetown and Rev. A. E. Percy of Milton. The choir of St. Paul's, Charlottetown, and Milton will be in charge of the music.
