BROUGHAM AND WELLINGTON.—One day when his lordship had driven down to the House in the vehicle of his own invention, which Robinson, the coach-maker, had christened after him, he was met in the robing-room by the Duke of Wellington, who, after a low bow, accosted him: "I have hitherto lived under the impression that your lordship would go down to posterity as the great apostle of education, the emancipator of the negro, the restorer of abused charities, the reformer of the law. But no—you will be known only as the inventor of a carriage." "And I, my lord Duke, have always been under the delusion that your Grace would be remembered as the hero of a hundred battles, the liberator of Europe, the conqueror of Napoleon—but no, your Grace will be known as the inventor of a pair of boots." D—n the boots, I had forgotten them; you have the best of it.—Edinburgh Review.

A young man wants a situation where the only heavy thing is a salary. He is willing to dispense with any amount of work if this can be guaranteed.

A boarding school Miss being ill, deemed it vulgar to say she was "bilious," so she complained of being "Williamous." Maybe that was the matter with her.

Com, don't be timid," said a couple of foolish snobs to two mechanics; "Sit down and make yourselves our equals." "We should have to blow our brains out to do that," was the reply.

Josh Billings says: "when a young man ain't good for nothing else I like to see him carry a gold-headed cane. If he can't buy a cane, let him part his hair in the middle."

An Irish student was once asked what was meant by posthumous works? "They are such works," said he, "as a man writes after he is dead."

One day, at a farm house, a wag saw an old gobbler trying to eat the strings of some night caps that lay on the ground to bleach. "That is what I call introducing cotton into Turkey," said he, dryly.

"There is this in favor of marriage bonds—they are never stolen. There is no necessity at any time of putting them under lock and key."

"What are you doing there, all alone in that large house?" said a gentleman to an Irishman, the sole occupant of a dilapidated building in Pine Street.

"Sure and it's an officer I am, your Honor," said Pat.

"An officer! how so?"

"Why you see, the others are all gone, and I'm a leftenant."

A promising young shaver of five or six years was reading his lesson at school, one day, in that deliberate manner for whichurchins of that age are somewhat remarkable. As he proceeded with the task he came upon the passage, "Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from guile." Master Hopeful drawled out, "Keep—thy—tongue—from—evil—and—thy—lips—from—girls."

HUSBANDRY.—What agricultural operations are practised most frequently by Baby Farmers?

Cradling and Thrashing. A little boy disputing with his sister on some subject, we do not now remember what, exclaimed, "It's true, for Ma says so; and if Ma says so it is so, if it ain't so."

"Prisoner why did you follow this man, and beat and kick him so shamefully?" "I am very sorry your honor, I was a little drunk, and I thought it was my wife."

Agriculture.

RAISING TURNIPS.—We Americans do not esteem these roots so highly as our English friends who raise large quantities of them for stock feeding. We are inclined, however, to think more of them each year, and advise the sowing of this crop. For stock purposes the seed should be sown some weeks earlier than if the crop is intended for the market. There is very little difficulty in growing turnips if proper care is used in the selection of seed and soil and a fair dressing of manure is applied. It is far better, when it can be done, for the farmer to raise his own seed from a selected turnip, saving only the seed from the central seed stalk, which will ripen the earliest, and will be sure to produce good roots when sown.

The soil should not be wet, neither very dry, though in a wet season we have known this crop to give the best results on quite dry, and rather poor land. The soil should be in good condition, well pulverized, and fitted to receive the seed. We never like to see a person attempt to sow small seeds on coarse, lumpy ground. If the ground is well prepared, the seed can be expeditiously sown with improved seed sower. Care must be used to keep down the weeds by hoeing or otherwise, so that the field will be clean and neat. With such management, a crop varying from six hundred to one thousand bushels may be expected.

PLOUGHING AND CULTIVATING.—Only a few years ago and no such implement as a cultivator was known to the farmer, and the plough only was used to run between crops. Since the introduction of the cultivator we have had the horse shoe with several changes and modifications. We have used the cultivator to a great extent in years past, not only among growing crops, but among trees, and we prefer it to all other implements for this work. It was, and still is, our habit to run the cultivator often among the crops, even though we did not hoe. This we did especially in dry weather, for we have always noticed that all field crops stand a drought if the soil is kept loose around the plants. Some farmers who come under our observation, still cling to the plough, never using the cultivator or any of its modifications.

The farmer cannot afford to buy every new-fangled implement that is sent out, but he cannot afford to be without such as save a great deal of labor and are really good.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Assets, January 1st, 1868, Over Ten Million Dollars!

PRESIDENT: MORRIS FRANKLIN, ESQ., Vice President and Actuary: WILLIAM H. BEERS, JR. HEAD OFFICE 112 & 114 Broadway, N. Y. General Agent for the Dominion of Canada: WALTER BURKE, ESQ., Herald Buildings, Montreal.

The New York Life Insurance Company

IS ONE OF THE OLDEST INSTITUTIONS of the kind in America, having been chartered in the year 1811, and commenced business in 1814. During the twenty three years of its existence, it has issued policies upon the lives of more than Fifty thousand Persons.

and has paid in losses $5,000,000 to the families and representatives of those who have deceased while members of the Company.

Annual Income EXCEEDS Four Million Dollars.

A SAFE INVESTMENT. The instances are many within the experience of every Life Insurance Company, in which the proceeds of a Policy has saved from poverty the survivors of those who have thus made provision for their wants in times of prosperity and health. A wife may insure the life of her husband for her own benefit, and should she survive him, the amount of the insurance will be payable to her free from any claims against his estate; and in case of the death of the wife before that of the husband, the amount of the insurance may be made payable to her children.

THE COMPANY DECLARES ANNUAL CASH DIVIDENDS which are available in payment of each Annual Premium. All the insured in this Company receive dividends which can be used in part of the second and each subsequent Annual Premium thereafter; or the dividends may be allowed to accumulate, and subsequently used in whole or in part in the payment of Premiums. The business of the Company being PURELY UTUAL, each member pays only the average cost of insurance, all surplus being annually returned to the Policy holders. (Companies having a Stock Capital usually retain a large portion for the Stockholders.) The Dividends paid to Policy holders exceed $3,000,000.

Endowment Assurance Policies. These Policies are coming into general request as a sure and profitable investment for one's dearest years, they deserve the attention of all. The sum secured by an ordinary life policy becomes available upon the death of the assured, on the Endowment plan the amount is received by the assured himself upon his attaining a specified age, while full provision is made for death occurring prior thereto.

THE NON-FORFEITURE PLAN. This Company originated and introduced the valuable feature known as the Non-Forfeiture Plan which is rapidly superseding the old system of long payments, and has revolutionized the system of Life Insurance in the United States, and which has been adopted generally in a less favorable form by all Life Companies. A party, by this table, after the
