AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver.
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:
"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physicians I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."
W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro., Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine, FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable."
J. T. HAYES,
Mexico, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The Rev. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health." AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appete and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical system.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Mr. Poyser was leaning forward, with his elbows on his knees, his head on one side, and his mouth screwed up—apparently absorbed in making the tips of his fingers meet so as to represent with perfect accuracy the ribs of a ship. He was much too acute a man not to see through the whole business, and to foresee perfectly what would be his wife's view of the subject; but he disliked giving unpleasant answers; unless it was on a point of farming practice he would rather give up than have a quarrel, any day; and after all, it mattered more to his wife than to him. So after a few moments' silence, he looked up at her and said mildly, "What dost say?" Mrs. Poyser had her eyes fixed on her husband with cold severity during his silence, but now she turned away her head with a toss, looked icily at the opposite roof of the cow-shed, and spearing her knitting together with the l-rose pin, held it firmly together between her clasped hands.
"Say! Why, I say you may do as you like about giving up any o' your corn-land, afere your lease is up, which it wot'd be for a year come next Michaelmas Lady-day, but I'll not consent to take more dairy work into my hands, either for love or money; and there's nayther love nor money here, as I can see, on'y other folk's love o' theirselves, and the money as is to go into other folk's pockets. I know there's them as is born to sweat out, here Mrs. Poyser paused to gasp a little, and I know it's christened folk's duty to submit to their betters as far as flesh and blood 'll bear it; but I'll not make a martyr o' myself, and wear myself to skin and bone, and worret myself as if I was a churn wi' butter a-comin' in't, for no landlord in England, not if he was King George himself."
"No, no, my dear Mrs. Poyser, certainly not," said the Squire, still confident in his own powers of persuasion; you must not overwork yourself; but doesn't you think your work will rather be lessened than increased in this way? There is so much milk required at the Abbey, that you will have little increase of cheese and butter making from the addition to your dairy; and I believe selling the milk is the most profitable way of disposing of dairy produce, is it not?"
"Ay, that's true," said Mr. Poyser, unable to express an opinion on a question of farming profits, and forgetting that it was not in this case a purely abstract question.

"I dare say," said Mrs. Poyser bitterly, turning her head half way toward her husband, and looking at the vacant air-chair—"I dare say it's true for men as sit 'th' chimney-corner and make believe as every thing's cut wi' ins an' outs to fit int' every thing else. If you could make a pudding wi' thinking o' the better, it 'ud be easy getting a dinner. How do I know whether the milk 'll be wanted constant? I want to make me sure as the house wot'd be put o' board-wage afere we're many months older; and then I may have to be awake o' nights wi' twen'y gallons o' milk on my mind—and D'gall 'll take no more butter, let alone paying for it; and we must fast pigs till we're obliged to beg the butcher on our knees to buy 'em, and lose half of 'em wi' the measles. And there's the fetching and carrying, as 'ud be wellly half a day's work for a man an' hoss—that's to be took out o' the profits, I reckon! But there's folk's 'ud hold a sieve under the pump and expect to carry away the water."

"That difficulty—about the fetching and carrying—you will not have, Mrs. Poyser," said the Squire, who thought that this entrance into particulars indicated a distinct inclination to compromise on Mrs. Poyser's part—"Bethell will do that regularly, with the cart and pony."

"Oh, sir, begging your pardon, I've never been used t' having gentlefolks servants coming about my back place, a making love to both the galls at once, and keeping them with their hands on their hips listening to all manner o' gossip when they should be down on their knees a-scouring. If we're to go to ruin, it shanna be wi' having our back kitchen turned into a public."

"Well, Poyser," said the Squire, shifting his tactics, and looking as if he thought Mrs. Poyser had suddenly withdrawn from the proceedings and left the room, "you can turn the Hollows into feeding land. I can easily make another arrangement about supplying my house. And I shall not forget your readiness to accommodate your landlord as well as a neighbor. I know you will be glad to have your lease renewed for three years when the present one expires; otherwise, I dare say, Thurlie, who is a man of some capital, would be glad to take both the farms, as they could be worked so well together. But I do, want to part with an old tenant like you."

To be thrust out of the discussion in this way would have been enough to complete Mrs. Poyser's exasperation, even without the final threat. Her husband, really alarmed at the possibility of their leaving the old place where he had been bred and born—for he believed the old Squire had small spite enough for anything—was beginning a mild remonstrance explanatory of the inconveniences he should find in having to buy and sell more stock, with—"Well, sir, I think as it's rather hard—when Mrs. Poyser burst in with the disperate determination to have her say out this once, though it were to rain notices to quit, and the only shelter was the workhouse."

"Then, sir, if I may speak—as, for all I'm a woman, and there's folk as think a woman's fool enough to stan' by an' look on while the men sign her soul away, I've a right to speak, for I make one quarter of the rent, and save th' other quarter—I say, if Mr. Thurlie's so ready to take farms under you, it's a pity but what he should take this, and see if he likes to live in a house wi' all the plagues o' Egypt in 't—wi' the cellar full o' water, and frogs and toads hoppin' up the steps by dozens—and the floors rotten, and the rats and mice gnawing every bit o' cheese, and runnin' over our heads as we lie 'd till we expect 'em to eat us up alive—as it's a mercy they hanna eat the children long ago. I should like to see if there's another tenant beside Poyser as 'ud put up wi' never having a bit o' repairs done till a place tumbles down—and not then, on'y wi' begging and praying, and having to pay half—and being strung up wi' the rent as it's much if he gets enough out o' the land to pay, for all he's put his own money into the land beforehand. See if you'll get a stranger to lead such a life here as that; a maggot must be born i' the rotten cheese to like it, I reckon. You may run away from my words, sir," continued Mrs. Poyser, following the old Squire beyond the door—for after the first moments of stunned surprise he had got up, and waving his hand toward her with a smile, had walked out toward his pony. But it was impossible for him to get away immediately, for John was walking the pony up and down the yard, and was some distance from the causeway when his master beckoned.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of P. E. Island met in Zion Church on 17th inst.; present: Rev.
James Allan, J. M. Macleod, Neil McKay, Alex. Roulston, J. G. Cameron, Wm.
Grant, Wm. P. Archibald, M. A., Moderator; Geo. McMillan, B. A., Wm. A.
Mason, B. A., John McLeod, A. W.
Mishon and W. H. Spencer, Ministers; and Messrs. D. M. Fraser, Wm. Laird, Alex.
McBeath, and Lestock Anderson, Elders.

Rev. M. Frame's resignation of the pastoral charge of Mount Stewart and West St.
Peter's was accepted to take effect on 30th April. Both the congregation and Presbytery part with Mr. Frame reluctantly. The congregation feel that they lose an able, faithful and painstaking Minister, and the Presbytery that they part with a kind and genial brother, a true counsellor and a willing worker; but in the present state of Mr. Frame's health, all parties concur in the acceptance of his resignation, and sincerely hope that by rest from public speaking, he may be restored to health and spared for years of usefulness in the church. Understanding that it is Mr.
Frame's intention to reside in Charlot-tewtown, it was agreed to apply to the General Assembly for leave to retain his name on the roll of Presbytery. Rev. N.
McKay and the Clerk were appointed a committee to prepare a suitable minute in reference to Mr. Frame to be placed on the Records of Presbytery.

An extract minute of the Presbytery of Picton having been read, intimating that Rev. Mr. Carruthers, of Picton, had accepted the call to St. James' Church, Charlottetown, his induction was appointed to take place in St. James' Church on the 9th April, at 7 o'clock p. m., Rev. Mr. Archibald to preside, Rev. Geo. Fisher to preach the induction sermon, Rev. A. F. Carr to address the minister, and Rev. Geo. Mc-Millan to address the congregation. The Clerk was instructed to serve the edict of induction on the congregation on the 29th inst.

It was agreed to apply to the Home Mission Board for two probationers, and for two catechists to labor on the Island during the coming summer.

Rev. Mr. Spencer was appointed to preach and dispense the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in East St. Peter's on the 29th inst., and also to conduct service in the same place on Saturday, 28th inst., at 2 p. m., Rev. Mr. Fraser to supply Mr.
Spencer's pulpit in Georgetown and Mon-tagu on the 29th inst.

Rev. W. A. Moran was appointed to preach on 29th inst., at West St. Peter's at 11 o'clock; and Rev. John McLeod, of Strathalbyn, to preach on the same day at Valleyfield and Brown's Creek.

Rev. Mr. Carr is requested to meet with the congregation of Richmond Bay West, on business matters connected with the congregation, at an early day.

Rev. Messrs. Mason, McKay, the Moderator and the Clerk, were appointed a committee to confer with the ministers of other denominations with the view of securing their co-operation in obtaining an amendment of the present law in reference to seduction.

Rev. George McMillan was recommended to proceed with as little delay as possible to the erection of a Presbyterian Church in Kennington, securing, as far as possible, the co-operation of the neighboring Presbyterian congregations.

The Moderator and Clerk were appointed a committee to bring the claims of the Halifax Institution for the Deaf and Dumb before the notice of the Legislature of this Province.

It was agreed to hold a meeting of Presbytery at East St. Peter's, on 7th April, at 7 o'clock, p. m., for general business and for conference with the congregation.

The next quarterly meeting of Presbytery will be held in Summerside on first Tuesday of May, at 11 o'clock, a. m.
J. M. MACLEOD,
Presbytery Clerk.
