GOLD MINE at CAPE WOLFE.—The Summerside Journal says: The amalgamator for the West Cape gold mines was started for the first time on Wednesday. Report gives the yield for the first day's work at from one half ounce to three and one half pounds, but as the operations are carried on with closed doors, and a very select few only are admitted within, it is very difficult for those who are not in the secret to come anything near a correct estimate of what was really done.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—As our readers are already aware the Rev. John Burwash, M. A., will deliver a lecture this evening on "Water." Those who are able to attend will enjoy a rich treat. The lecture will be illustrated by a number of experiments, and we understand the Professor will convince his hearers by his own demonstration that water can be made to burn. The lecturer will, we think, explain the value and component parts of pure water for drinking purposes. If so, we would then be a little curious to know the difference, if any, between pure water and the water used by the citizens of Charlottetown. We shall know further on. Those who desire to procure a good seat at the lecture will do well to go early.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.]

A Farmers' Association.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.

At a large meeting of farmers at Portage La Prairie yesterday resolutions were passed declaring that the present prices of wheat compared with the prices abroad show that an unjust combination has been made against the farmers; that in view of the fact that all industries in America have formed combinations for mutual support, that the time has arrived for the farmers to combine, in order to get fair prices for their produce, and prevent their being victimized by wheat rings and milling associations. A committee of fifteen were appointed to consider and report on the best steps to be taken. The meeting was non-political except for an occasional outbreak by some speaker against the "Canadian Pacific Railway monopoly and high duties."

FOR SALE.

THE Church Property, corner of Prince and Euston Streets, consisting of Church and Dwelling House, with Land. Terms may be known on application to the undersigned. D. McNEILL, Secy of Trustees. Ch'town, Nov. 1, 1883.

When Anthony Trollope secured an appointment in the post office he had never learned the multiplication table, and had no more idea of the rules of three than of conic sections. The manner in which he was examined and admitted he afterwards described in "The Three Clerks," in the chapter relating to the admission of Charles Tudor into the Internal Navigation Office. In other respects he also resembled that wild young gentleman. During the seven years that he remained in his first position he was regarded as a worthless scapegrace, who was habitually unpunctual, always getting into debt, and always in trouble of some sort. One comical scene in "The Three Clerks" is based on an incident that actually befel him. A young woman in the country had got it into her head that he ought to marry her, and this idea culminated in the incident referred to. "At last the mother appeared at the post office. My hair almost stands on my head now as I remember the figure of the woman walking into the big room in which I sat, with six or seven other clerks, having a large basket on her arm and an immense bonnet on her head. The messenger had vainly endeavored to persuade her to remain in the ante-room. She followed the man in, and addressing me in a loud voice said: 'Anthony Trollope, when are you going to marry my daughter? We have all had our worst moments, and that was one of my worst. I lived through it, however, and did not marry the young lady after all.'

THE steamer Hartburn of West Hartlepool, 1245 tons register, Capt. Whitney and Bertha, in a disabled condition.

GAS-HEATING STOVES.

THESE Stoves can be seen in operation every evening at Mr. G. H. Hassard's Bookstore, South Side of Queen Square, where orders for Stoves can be left, and where an illustrated catalogue can be seen, containing every information. The cost of these Stoves range from $4.00 upwards. The cost of gas varies from less than one cent per hour upwards, according to the size of the stove and heat required. The great advantages of these Stoves are that they will heat any sized bedroom, nursery or sick room, in a few minutes after lighting the gas, the consumption of which can be instantly stopped by turning off the tap, thus preventing the waste of fuel, either before or after the necessary heat is required. No coal to be taken up stairs. No ashes to be brought down. No dust, dirt or smoke about the room, which is most important in case of sickness. At a cost of about one-half to three-fourths of a cent boiling water, warm food or hot drinks can be had at any time during the night, in from two to four minutes after lighting the gas, thus making the stove useful in the nursery and sick room, both summer and winter. The Stove also lights the room with the same gas that warms it. Ch'town, Oct. 24, 1883.—1m eod 1
