

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN.

The following is from the pen of Rev. C. H. Spurgeon:—

"Nobody is more like an honest man than a thorough rogue. When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he keeps a very small stock of it within. Do not chose you friend by his looks; handsome shoes often pinch the feet. Don't be fond of compliments; remember, 'Thank you, pussy, and thank you, pussy, killed the cat. Don't believe in the man who talks most; for mewing cats are seldom very good mousters. By no means put yourself in another person's power; if you but your thumb between two grinders, they are very apt to bite. Drink nothing without seeing it; sign nothing without reading it; and make sure that it means no more than it says. Don't go to law unless you have nothing to lose; lawyers' houses are built on fools' heads. In any business, never wade into the water where you cannot see bottom. Put no dependance upon the label of a bag; and count money after your own kin.—See the sack open before you buy what is in it; for he who trades in the dark asks to be cheated. Keep clear of the man who does not value his own character. Beware of every one who swears; he who would blaspheme his Maker, would make no bones of lying or stealing. Beware of no man more than yourself; we carry our worst enemies within us. When a new opinion or doctrine comes before you, do not bite till you know whether it is bread or a stone; and do not be sure that the ginger-bread is good because of the gilt on it. Never shout holla! till you are quite out of the wood; and don't cry fried fish till they are caught in the net. There's always time enough to boast—wait a little longer. Don't throw away dirty water till you have got clean; keep on at scraping the roads till you can get better work; for the poorest pay is better than none, and the humblest office is better than being out of employment. Always give up the road to bulls and madmen; and never fight with a coal-heaver, or contend with a base character, for they will be sure to backen you,—

'Neither trust nor contend, Nor lay wages, nor lend, And you may depend You'll have peace to your end.'

PRESERVATION OF LEATHER

The following valuable hints in regard to the preservation of leather we copy from the Shoe and Leather Reporter:

The extreme heat to which most men and women expose boots and shoes during winter deprives leather of its vitality, rendering it liable to break and crack.

When leather becomes so warm as to give off the smell of leather, it is singed. Close rubber shoes also destroy the life of leather. All varnishes and all blacking containing the properties of varnish should be avoided.

Shoe leather is generally abused. Persons know nothing or care less about the kind of material used than they do about the polish produced. Vitriol is used until every particle of oil in the leather is destroyed. To remedy this abuse the leather should be washed once a month with warm water; and when about half dry a coat of oil and tallow should be applied, and the boots set aside for a day or two. This will renew the elasticity and life in the leather, and when thus used upper leather will seldom break or crack.

Don't wash harness in water and with soap. No harness is ever so soiled that a damp sponge will not remove the dirt. When harness loses its lustre and turns brown, which almost any leather will do after long exposure to the air, the harness should be given a new coat of grain black. Before using this grain black, the surface should be thoroughly washed with potash water until all the grease is killed, and after the application of the grain black, oil and tallow should be applied to the surface. This will not only "fasten the color," but make the leather flexible. Harness which is grained can be cleaned with kerosene or spirits of turpentine, and no harm will result if the parts affected are washed and dried immediately afterwards.

FURNITURE WIVES.—Men marry for fortune, and sometimes to please their fancy; but, much oftener than is suspected, they consider what the world will say of it,—how such a woman in their friend's eyes will look at the head of a table. Hence we see so many insipid beauties made wives of, that could not have struck the particular fancy of any man that had any fancy at all. These I call furniture wives, as men buy furniture pictures, because they suit this or that niche in their dining-parlors.

"The stately step of a piper" is a proverb in Scotland, which reminds us of an anecdote of a certain noble lord when in attendance upon the Queen at Balmoral, a few years ago. Having been commissioned by a friend to procure a performer on the pipes, he applied to her Majesty's piper, a fine stalwart Highland-man, and upon being asked what kind of article was required, his lordship said in reply, "Just another as yourself." The consequential Celt readily exclaimed "There are plenty o' lords like yourself, but very few sic pipers as me."

A clergyman at Cambridge preached a sermon which one of the auditors commended. "Yes," said the gentleman to whom it was mentioned, "it was a good sermon, but he stole it." This was repeated to the preacher, who resented it, and called on the gentleman to retract. "I will," replied the aggressor. "I said you had stolen the sermon. I find I was wrong, for on referring to the book whence I thought it was taken, I found it there."

GIVE THEM THE BEST.—It has been said by a clergyman—who says everything well—"Never shy an old sermon at the devoted heads of the few who have ventured out on a rainy Sunday."

Unfailing Eye Preservers

LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's, CELEBRATED Perfected Spectacles AND EYE GLASSES. The Large and increasing sale of these PERFECTED GLASSES is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality. With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable. R. T. HOLMAN. Agent, Summerside.
