Dr. Gould's Great Work.

Though the determination of the places of the fixed stars in the northern hemisphere has engaged the attention of many observatories during the whole of this century and our knowledge of the places of the northern stars would therefore presumably be nearly perfect, it is a fact that Dr. Gould's work upon the southern skies practically equalized our knowledge of the two celestial hemispheres, says Professor T. J. J. See in The Atlantic. Such an achievement is a veritable monument to the American nation and has added new luster to the American name. Had the American people never contributed anything beyond the labors of Gould to the world's knowledge of astronomy this magnificent contribution alone would entitle the nation to an honorable place in the west of posterity.

And yet how little is the work of Gould known to even the best circle of American readers! So great was his devotion to the cause of pure science and so oblivious was he of contemporary fame that none but professional men of science are able to appreciate his incomparable services to the sublimest of the sciences. It is certain that he has gained a place among the greatest astronomers of any age or country and that the estimate now placed on his work will only increase with the flight of centuries. If England is justly proud of her Newton and Herschel, France of her Lagrange and Laplace, Germany of her Copernicus and Kepler, Italy of her Leonardo and Galilei, well may America honor her Pierce and Gould!

Faith Cure and a Carbuncle.

Say I have an obtrusive carbuncle on my nose. I call in the Christian Scientist, who administers "a high attenuation of truth." My belief in the carbuncle disappears, and with it goes the carbuncle, too, so far as I am concerned. It may be that I look in the glass and perceive no carbuncle. The Christian Scientist takes her fee and leaves me.

In comes my friend Brown and greets me with, "Hello, old man, you have got a nose on you," or some such vulgar and inconsiderate remark. I endeavor to assure him that he is mistaken and that the carbuncle is a creation of his diseased imagination. But Jones and Robinson speedily turn up and accost me in similar terms, until my mind becomes impressed with an uneasy suspicion that all is not as it should be with my nose. The morbid delusion of my friends extends to me.

I take up the glass again, and there, sure enough, is the carbuncle as large and angry as ever. Under these circumstances it seems a clear waste of money to pay a Christian Scientist to cure my carbuncle unless the fee is to include the treatment of the whole circle of my friends, and indeed of any one whom I may meet by chance in the street.—London Truth.

Power Exerted on a Bicycle.

Some recent results of tests made by Professor Carpenter of Cornell to determine the power required to drive bicycles may be of more interest to electrical engineers if reduced to their familiar unit of power, the watt. These tests show that for a speed of five miles an hour on a good level road the rider works at the rate of about 19 watts, which is about one-third the power used in an ordinary 16 candle power incandescent lamp. At ten miles an hour the power applied by the rider is about 80 watts, and for hard, continuous riding 100. For a short period a good rider can work at the rate of about 250 watts. Every lighted incandescent lamp therefore consumes about the same amount of power as that developed by three bicycle riders under the ordinary conditions, while it is possible for a rider to expend about as much power as is required for about five of these lamps.—Electrical Engineer.

Mistook the Mule.

Deacon Jackson was a very pious but very determined old colored citizen of Owl Creek valley. He had a young mule which his boys were unable to ride, and their failure to break the animal so exasperated the old man that he determined to ride it himself. He was, however, no sooner located on its back than he was thrown into an adjoining lot, where he was picked up with both legs broken and his neck badly sprained. "What on earth did such an old man as you mean by trying to ride a wild young mule like that?" asked the doctor. "Waal, suh," said Deacon Jackson, "I never does undertake to do nutthin widout fust consultin ov de Lawd an seein what he dun think erbout hit. I axed him ef I orter ride dat mule what my triffin no ercount boys couldn't ride, an de Lawd he sed, 'Yessah, jes' ez plain ez I am talkin to you.'" "Well, but he seems to have given you bad advice." "No, doctor, his judgment was all right, fer de Lawd knows dis ole nigger never seed de day when he was afeered to straddle anything from a circular saw up to er elephant, but dis time I think de Lawd was jes' mistooken in de mule."—Atlanta Journal.

Old Ab Drake.

Old Ab Drake was one of the "odd sticks" that flourished in a Vermont rural neighborhood a good many years ago. His wife was a meek, obedient, spiritless woman, over whom Ab tyrannized for 50 years, when she quietly slipped out of this world. Old Ab's panegyrics on his dead wife's virtues were loud and long. Before the funeral he said to one of his neighbors: "She

Famous Three R's.

The originator of the famous three "r's" alliteration "reading, 'riting and rithmetic" was Sir William Curtis, a lord mayor of London. In 1795 he proposed it as a toast before the board of education.
