Jaycees Hear Address On Wildlife Program

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

"More emphasis is being placed on our fish and wildlife program on P.E.I." Charles Bartlett, told the members of the Summerside Junior Chamber of Commerce, during their meeting Monday night. Mr. Bartlett was speaking on the wildlife of P.E.I., and other parts of Canada

Mr. Bartlett, director of fish and wildlife division for the department of industry and resources, said "the P.E.I. Fish and Game Association is attempting to set up a Harvey Moore scholarship fund at Prince of Wales College for students interested in wild life.

"Much of our present day public thinking respecting wildlife", the guest speaker said, "is as out-moded as the model- T Ford, and our wildlife research and management program has not kept pace with other land-use programs.

"As an example", Mr. Bartlett continued, "such thinking can be found in our bounty systems. As a means of predator control, the province of P.E.I. has paid out over $80,000 on skunk bounties alone in the period from 1932 to 1955 and continues to pay $15,000 to $16,000 annually on fox, skunk and racoon bounties.

"One might ask, with what effect?" he said. "All the available evidence indicates that our game bird populations have decreased over the past 20 years while our predators, particularly skunks, have increased in the same period".

The members were told that "wildlife management is rapidly becoming recognized as one of the major professions in the renewable resource field. At least five universities in Canada," Mr. Bartlett commented, "are offering training in wildlife management and biology and there are roughly about 700 people employed in a professional capacity in Canada".

The speaker, who illustrated his talks with slides, was introduced by Borden Boyles and thanked by Peter Green.

The meeting, with George Smallman as chairman, was held at Small's Birch Hill Tourist Home with 15 members present.

Committee reports were heard and members felt that the home improvement fair held here last week "was most successful".

Aluminium Ltd. Drops Price Boost

MONTREAL (CP) — Aluminium Limited announced Tuesday it has rescinded a one-cent increase in its U.S. price of primary aluminum ingots.

The increase, announced last Friday, raised the price from 23 to 24 cents a pound delivered to U.S. customers.

The move followed an announcement Monday that Aluminium Company of America would maintain its ingot price at 23 cents a pound and not follow the increase.

Alcoa said a higher price would hamper U.S. producers' positions in foreign markets.

Alcoa also said without the firm settlement of a better cost price relationship for fabricated products on a broad basis, and without the likelihood of a corresponding increase in ingot prices in world markets, an increase in ingot prices in the United States was neither justified nor realistic.

Community Talent Use Urged For Centennial

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Centennial commissioner John Fisher said here Canadiens should use their own talents, or at least hire Canadian advisers, to plan 1967 celebrations.

"If we're going to have a birthday party, let's bake our own cake," he said. "The best fun in having a birthday party is preparing for it—and not calling in the caterers."

Mr. Fisher was interviewed on the move by some communities, notably Fort Erie, Ont., to hire United States show business people to plan their centenary celebrations.

"There is a wealth of talent available among Canadians to do the job," he said. "If a town doesn't want to entrust it to a local person, it can get help from agencies in the larger centres.

"Most of the big Canadian advertising agencies have knowledge of how to organize a parade, put on an exhibition . dig into the past history of small centres for centenary ideas.

"We've been trying to impress everyone with the idea of using self-help in this, and to make it a grass-roots celebration. People shouldn't depend on the government doing everything for them—nor should they, in my opinion, hire some Americans to run their shows."

The centennial of Confederation commission, which Mr. Fisher heads jointly with Montreal poet Robert Choquette, is responsible for managing the big federal projects which will be undertaken to mark Canada's anniversary of Confederation.

It is also trying to encourage every community, national and local organizations, sports bodies, cultural groups, and every other body bringing together Canadian men, women, and—especiatly — children, to start now to plan for 1967 celebrations.

Canada's prominent show business people already are rapidly being employed in major projects.

Toronto actor - director Mavor Moore is artistic director of this year's Charlottetown program. Tom Patterson of Stratford Shakespearean fame is advising on a roving international arts festival for 1967. John Pratt of the wartime navy show is supervising all aspects of the entertainment program for the world's fair in Montreal.

But every community has its own talented people, centennial planners say. Even the village school teacher, who organized a Christmas concert last month, should be able to produce a pageant in 1967 if she starts working now.

Some Grain In Red Deals Being Shipped To Satellites

HALIFAX (CP)—Local shipping officials say a good portion of Canadian grain sales to the Soviet Union and Red China shipped through Halifax eventually see those countries. It is being diverted to Communist satelite countries before it leaves Canada.

The Greek freighter Orpheus has began loading 455,000 bushels of the 18,700,000-bushel Chinese order here. But the wheat will be delivered to Albania, China's ally in Europe, said I. H. Mathers and Son, the ship's agent. It is the first cargo of Chinese - purchased grain to move through Halifax this season.

The British freighter Sycamore Hill loaded 326,000 bushels of wheat for the Soviet Union here but before she sailed was ordered to deliver it to Cuba. A refusal by 32 Chinese crew members to sail to Cuba has held up the ship's departure. The men seek repatriation to Hong Kong, are under police guard charged with disobedience.

About 45,000,000 pounds of Canadian flour bought by Russia has been shipped through Halifax so far this winter. All of it went to Cuba, said Harry Mathers, president of the Mathers firm.

Only five cargoes of wheat actually going to the Soviet Union have passed through the port this winter. They totalled about 3,750,000 bushels.

Altogether the Russians agreed to buy 228,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and flour valued at $500,000,000.
