Walter Callow's Condition Improves

HALIFAX, Sept. 7 (CP)—Walter Callow, the man who wants Canada's crippled to share the pleasures of the man on the street, was reported "much improved" tonight after being seriously ill at Camp Hill Military Hospital.

Mr. Callow, blind and paralyzed founder of the famous Wheelchair Coach Movement, became ill a week ago. Hospital authorities said he was suffering from "complications of the long illness which has confined him to bed."

The 57-year-old First World War veteran injured his spine in a plane crash in 1917 when he was a member of the Royal Flying Corps. In 1930 he went to bed for keeps and 13 years ago became totally blind.

His wife died in 1931 and he brought up his daughter, then 10, by dealing in real estate and selling Christmas cards.

During the Second World War, Mr. Callow established a cigar "bank" for Canadian servicemen overseas. The bank, which got underway by Callow auctioning his bedside radio for $1,400, arranged for 3,000,000 smokes to be handed out to Canucks overseas.

The first three of 18 sulphuric acid plants now under construction in Britain are expected to be in production in October. Government officials said two more will start operations next May.

BIG INCREASE

Mr. Jertson has paid annual visits to the Province.

"I have now got the kind of company I want," he told a Guardian representative yesterday. Under the new company, research expenditures will be substantially increased in an effort to improve and broaden the uses of the product, and develop new outlets. They will look to Prince Edward Island to supply an increasingly large part of their raw material.

Will Concentrate On Research

"Everyone connected with the new company," he said, "is more interested in the future growth and stability of the business than in immediate profits. In other words, we intend to pass up dividends and spend that money on forward-looking research, which will benefit all concerned in the industry."

The Krim-Ko Company, under Mr. Jertson's direction expanded its operations in the production of twenty-five different stabilizers widely used throughout the food and drug industry in such products as chocolate milk, pie fillings, ice cream, toothpaste, emulsions and milk puddings.

The supply of Irish moss from Europe was cut off in World War II and the company was forced to find a domestic supply. A satisfactory quality was discovered in Setauate and was shipped to the company's Chicago plant for processing. The supply of Japanese agar, a critical material, was cut off with Japan's entry into the war. In 1942, the seaweed division was established and, through the use of seaweeds from Setauate, Prince Edward Island, Maine and Nova Scotia, evolved a substitute for the Japanese agar.

Irish moss is the primary type of seaweed used in the company's production. Last year the division

Montague W.I. Monthly Meeting

The September meeting of the Women's Institute, Montague, was held at the home of Mrs. Stewart Nelson, Tuesday evening, with the president, Mrs. A. D. MacLure, presiding. The meeting opened with "The Collect for Club Women" repeated in unison.

Roll call was followed by the minutes of the previous meeting read by the secretary, Mrs. Lorne Wigginton.

There was no report from the Red Cross or sick committees. One Red Cross sweater was handed in at the meeting. It was reported that several pieces of material for aprons were still unfinished and tentative plans were made for holding a pantry sale October 10. Refreshments were left for the October meeting.

The correspondence was read and discussed.

Mrs. MacLure and Mrs. Cecil Beck were named to represent the Institute in the current Cancer Campaign. It was decided, rather than appoint a sick committee, that each member visit at least one sick or bereaved member of the community during the next three months. The financial report was read by the treasurer, Mrs. G. MacDonald.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. M. C. Reynolds.

Top driver for Saratoga Raceway's meeting just concluded is 23-year-old Fred Back, a football, basketball and baseball star in his high school days. His Universal Driver Rating System average was .305. Next in standing was driver Garland Garnsey with .298. Aubrey Rodney was third with .296. Dell MacTavish of Lachute, P.Q., last year's champion, was sixth with .289. Back, who as he says himself, has been fooling around horses all his life but has only had a large stable for the past three years, had 17 wins, 27 seconds and 31 thirds in 138 starts.

Grain Crisis Not Due To Shortage Of Cars, Says Gordon

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP)—Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, hit back today at reports blaming the crisis in the movement of the bumper western grain crop on a shortage of railway box cars.

Speaking at the transportation communications and commercial travellers day luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition, Mr. Gordon declared that the difficulty confronting the railways is not in accepting the grain for shipment, but in getting rid of it when the rail haul is completed.

"Throughout April, May, June and July, the C. N. R. moved a daily average of 503 cars from the Prairies, a quantity that surpassed the quota set by the Canadian Wheat Board," he said. "One of the other points where we had as many as 2,400 cars in the yards awaiting unloading. The average number detained during July was around 2,500 cars."

"Clearly it is uneconomic in normal circumstances to use box cars as warehouses on wheels, and it is anything but helpful to the available supply of box cars to have them tied up at a time when the railways are hard pressed to meet the requirements for moving not only wheat but other important commodities."

"To avoid aggravating the congestion it has been necessary to make adjustments in the loading of cars at Prairie points. But to describe this situation as a shortage of box cars for which the railways are responsible is hardly an accurate representation of the facts."

24,000 Empty Cars

The facts will show that the C. N. R. now has on the western region some 24,000 empty box cars ready for the new crop and all other traffic offerings. This pool of cars amounts to no less than 37 percent of our total box car ownership on Canadian lines.

Mr. Gordon used the record of the past two decades to show the improvements that the railways have made in operating efficiency. Using 1928 as the base period, the C. N. R. has been able to carry forty per cent more net ton-miles of freight with thirteen per cent fewer freight cars of all types.

Measured by the average freight train speed, service was improved by 24 per cent. Due to improvements in design of rail and treatment of ties on main tracks, the tonnage of new rail laid last year was reduced by 36 per cent compared to 1928, and the number of ties installed was down 54 per cent. Each ton-mile carried required less man-hours.

"We not only carried more freight faster," he said, "but we used the driver's less manpower and materials and equipment, and I cite this as indicative of progress in the Canadian railway industry."
