The Markets.
At this season of the year there is a very small movement of Island produce, and we have no changes to note in prices.
Island factory made cheese is now sold in all the wholesale and retail stores. The quality is equal to the imported article, and the price of the trade is 11 1/2c to 12c.
Montreal quotations are 9c to 9 1/2c for cheese; butter, 16c to 17c; mess pork, $20 to $21; hams, 14c to 14 1/2c; sugars, in active demand, granulated, 8 1/2c; flour, a better demand exists, which, with lighter stocks, tends to give the market a steady tone.
The quote:
Superior Extra.....$5 05 @ $0 00 Extra Superfine..... 4 85 @ 4 90 Spring Extra..... 4 60 @ 4 70 Superfine..... 4 10 @ 4 20 TORONTO, July 18.

Oats—No. 1, 42c to 43c.
Flour—Superior, $4.70 to $4.75; Extra, $4.55 to $4.60.
Butter, 12c to 16c.
Wheat, firmer.
Butter coming in freely, but no shipping demand.
Eggs steady at 15c to 15 1/2c.
Wool more active; sales, New fleece—16c to 17c for coarse and 19c to 20c for fine to choice.

ENGLISH MARKETS.
LIVERPOOL, July 16.
Spot wheat firmly held.
PARIS, July 16.
Flour firmer; wheat unaltered.
Our Boston correspondent reports: Since our last we have little that is encouraging from our shore mackerel fleet, receipts for the past week have been but 1883 barrels against 7866 barrels for same week last year. Trade is rather quiet; still the quantity of mackerel coming to hand is so small that they are readily taken up as landed; dealers, however, are not inclined to purchase any faster than their orders require.
We quote sales of medium at $7 and large at $8.
Receipts from Nova Scotia have been light, and sales have been made at $7.50 per barrel.
There is already an active inquiry for P. E. Island mackerel, and we look for good prices on early receipts.
Eggs are wanted. We quote Nova Scotia and P. E. Island stock at 18 and 18 1/2 cents, with good prospects ahead.

School Notes.
Every school should have an appropriate opening exercise of a moral or religious tendency. The teaching were better indirect. All preaching should be avoided; it is distasteful to children, and defeats the end it is meant to secure. It is a grave mistake, however, to not impress, indirectly, the leading truths of morality and religion. These elements have a place in every human soul, are legitimate material for training.—Minnesota Journal of Education.
The following paragraph from the Illinois Schoolmaster gives a glimpse of the suggestive methods pursued by an American educational pioneer and reformer in the training of young teachers. It describes a visit to the normal school under the charge of Colonel Parker, and will serve to carry on the line of thought suggested last month in our remarks on the Minister's report:—
"There was a general experience meeting with the Colonel as leader. Each young lady was called upon to state in what particular she judged herself to have failed in her reading lesson, and also in what respect she felt gratified. There was no grabbing for note-books. But with a surprising freedom from restraint, they arose and explained the situation as they felt it. The Colonel made suggestions as they occurred to him, and elicited many others from the class, trying to make them philosophise on their defeat or success. Every Wednesday these girls spend in visiting schools, going wherever they please, but bringing in the next day a written report of what they saw.
They are not encouraged or allowed to criticise, but simply to observe, somewhat as Agassiz trained his pupils to observe the fish."

The Wife's Influence.
Two gentlemen, at a large reception in New York last winter, was discussing one of the foremost politicians of the country—a man who, whether in office or out, always keeps himself prominently before the public. "I knew him at college," said one of the gentlemen. "He was a man with a clear head, extraordinary memory, and and much personal magnetism. But I cannot understand why he chose a public life or has pushed himself forward so persistently. He was a lazy, thoughtful, visionary fellow, absolutely destitute of ambition."
"I can tell you the secret," said the other.
"You will find it in his wife's nose. There she is! did you ever see a more perfect incarnation of energy and love of command?
Napoleon would have chosen her for one of his Marshals at first sight." His friend was amused at the guess, and said presently:—"There is another of my old classmates. P. He was a thin, ambitious, scholarly fellow, with refined tastes and high aims. He now is a fat, indolent animal, without a thought, apparently, but his cognac and terrapin. Who is to blame for that? "His wife's mouth and her money. I will show her to you." He pointed out a gross, voluptuous woman, richly dressed. "P." he resumed "has lived in idleness since his marriage. He was not strong enough to carry the weight of so much wealth and vulgarity. They have borne him down. He will never rise." Young men at school and college are very apt to be enraptured with a sparkling eye, a rosy cheek, or some charm of manner in some young woman that they happen to meet.

THE WIFE'S INFLUENCE.
The London correspondent of the Bradford Daily Telegraph says:—Sir Charles Tupper, K. C., M. G., the newly appointed High Commissioner of Canada, arrived in London to-day, and has assumed the duties of the office, in succession to Sir Alexander Galt. Sir Charles Tupper, I predict, will become a welcome figure in English society; and, what is more to the purpose, command the confidence and esteem of the heads of the Government and the departments and the city men with whom he will be brought in contact. Sir Charles is as different as possible in manners and appearance to the typical colonial, and approaches nearer than any colonial minister I know to the ideal of an English statesman. He is scrupulously exact in attire, polished in style, a born orator, an elegant writer, and accomplished man of the world. The happiest results as regards the relations between the two countries may be expected to flow from the appointment of so distinguished a Canadian to the high office Sir Charles has been called upon to fill."

The Government of Mexico—a country generally regarded as very far behind Anglo-Saxon communities in point of enlightenment and the adoption of improvements—is undertaking an extensive forestry operation with a view of rehabilitating the valley of Mexico. A contract has been let for the planting of 4,000,000 trees in this locality within four years beginning from next March, the contractor receiving $200,- 000. The principal varieties to be planted are ash, willow, poplar, eucalyptus, tromesjapones, mountain cypress, and acacias, the contractor being bound to maintain them in good condition for two years after planting. Provision is also made for the study of the sciences of forestry by agricultural school graduates, the free distribution of fruit trees and other useful plants adapted to the climate, and the translation of works on arboriculture and the German forestry laws. That such a measure should have been taken by the Mexican Government is a marked indication of the progress of a country which has the reputation of being barely removed from semi-barbarism.
