Mr. MacNaught Addresses Audiences In New Zealand

Trade between Canada and Great Britain has dropped regrettably from the standpoint of Empire relations, but this position would probably improve with the lapse of time, Mr. J. W. MacNaught, K. C., M. P., of Summerside, stated in an address before the Hastings Chamber of Commerce in New Zealand last week.

Mr. MacNaught is touring New Zealand as the leader of the Canadian delegation of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. Accompanying him is Mr. George Fulford, M. P., of Brockhill, Ontario.

Two New Zealand newspapers carried the address by Mr. MacNaught last week and excerpts from his articles follow: "Friendly and genial, both visitors answered a number of questions on Canada, posed by interested business-men and gave high praise to the hospitality they had received since their arrival in New Zealand.

"We have been shown every kindness," Mr. MacNaught said. "Our tour has been well arranged in a manner that speaks volumes for your Department of Internal Affairs." He added that friendship between New Zealand and Canada had been closely cemented during the war years, and the chief ambassadors of goodwill had been air trainees from New Zealand who had served in Canada under the Empire air training scheme. They had earned respect and affection in Canada.

"Mr. MacNaught expressed a belief that the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association had a tremendous potential for the future good of the Empire, and would have a far-reaching effect on the future of Western civilization. It prepared the way for a common understanding of the problems of the British Nations.

"While he was speaking on Canada's government, Mr. MacNaught was asked whether the Dominion favoured abolishing its Upper House. Convinced of the usefulness of the Senate, he said that no great measure wished its dissolution. "I think the Senate has been very helpful to our development," he added. "Members of the Senate can, of course, stop any legislation they wish—but they are a sensible body and they don't."

"The Canadian people entertained not the slightest wish to become part of the United States, Mr. MacNaught continued. "We belong to the British Commonwealth of Nations and we intend to stay there. Higher wages offered in the United States caused a big drain on Canadian talent, but Canadian figures who had made good in the United States served to keep up the bonhomie between the two nations. When Canada's economy improved, it was hoped that the drain would be in the reverse direction.

"Mr. C. Ross Walker asked the speaker if Canada held surpluses of foodstuffs such as were piling up in the United States. Mr. MacNaught doubted that this was the case, with the possible exception of potatoes and fish. He also stated that there were comparatively few organized labour troubles, and little unemployment."

Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, M.P.

Rotary District Governor Visits S'side Club

Edwin K. Ford, Halifax, district governor of Rotary International, paid an official visit to Summerside yesterday and was the guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club held last night at the Olympia Restaurant.

The president of the local club, Dr. Arthur Lockhart, presided and after extending a welcome to all Rotarians and visiting guests called on the past district governor, Laurie Ellis, of Kentville, N. S., who expressed his great pleasure at being present.

Governor Ford chose as the title of his talk "What Shall We Do?" and stressed the danger of becoming involved in too many activities. He advised the setting up of guides to action and suggested that before a project was undertaken it should be viewed in the light of the following questions: Does it need doing? Is there some other agency whose responsibility it is to do it? Will it engage the activities and interest of the majority of the members? Is it within the competency of the club? Is it a short term commitment?

He pointed out that there had been a time in the history of Rotary when the conception of Rotary was that the greatest contribution a member could make to the community was to be a good citizen. "Today however," he said, "a greater service is possible if the club becomes a working organization in its own right and those clubs which have not adopted these latest concepts have not progressed."

Present last evening were the following visiting Rotarians: Past District Governor Laurie Ellis, Kentville, N. S.; Rotarian George Wood, Charlottetown; also the following guests, Messrs. Clarence Mercer, superintendent, Summerside High School; Sinclair Reid, manager, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Summerside; Laughlin MacKinnon, Montague; and Mr. Wilson, Mr. MacInnis and Mr. Clow of the press.—S.
