

THE WORLD'S OARSMEN.

WALLACE ROSS DEFEATS THEM ALL—AN EASY PULL WITH CONLEY, COURTNEY, HAMM AND TEN EYK.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.

The great regatta was brought to a close to-day, when Wallace Ross won the first prize in the final heat of the single scull race, with Conley a good second; the Nagle-Lee crew winning second money from the Halifax four in the four oared race and Trickett and Gaudaur capturing first and second prizes in the consolation race.

SINGLE SCULLS.

The final heat in the single scull race was called on at 8.15 o'clock. Lee did not put in an appearance, having over-slept himself. He was allowed to row for the sixth prize, starting in the scullers' consolation race.

THE SCULLERS APPEAR.

Wallace Ross was the first to put in an appearance. He was quickly followed by Conley, Hamm, Ten Eyk and Courtney. The latter looked very nervous and remained at the starting point, while all the others engaged in warning spins. Are you ready asks the starter, and before the men have time to make a reply bang goes the gun and away go the five scullers, Ross taking first water and Conley right after him. Courtney makes a bad start, with Hamm close upon him. Ten Eyk appears to have made up his mind that his only chance of winning is from the start, and he immediately pushes in with thirty-eight strokes to the minute. Wallace is rowing thirty-seven, and at the first minute out is leading Conley by a quarter of a length, with Ten Eyk well up for third place, Courtney and Hamm having a little race to themselves for fourth position. Two minutes out and Ross is so hard pressed by Conley that he increased his stroke to thirty-eight, while Conley strikes his up to forty. The pace of both is too terrific to last, but the St. John man seems determined to stick to it till he breaks his most dangerous opponent to pieces. At three minutes Wallace has increased his lead to half a length over Conley, the positions of the others remaining unchanged. At four minutes the

at his most dangerous opponent, and makes another fine sprint, which places his boat a length in advance. By this time Courtney has passed Hamm and is gaining rapidly on Ten Eyk. Six minutes pass and Wallace is sufficiently ahead of Conley to give the latter his back wash. This greatly interferes with Conley's progress, so he strikes out to get clear of Ross. By doing so he loses some ground and Ten Eyk and Courtney are almost even with him, with Ross two lengths to the good in front. Seven minutes out and Ross is rowing well within himself. In this position they remain until the one mile and a half point is reached. Ross takes his time in turning and when all have headed for home there is very little difference in the positions of Ross, Courtney, Hamm and Conley. The first mentioned and the latter having if anything the best of it. Ross has turned in 10.34. At 12 minutes out a race between Ross and Conley for first place, and between Courtney and Hamm for second. Thirteen minutes have elapsed since the start, and Ross is a length ahead of Conley and Courtney about the same distance in front of Hamm, with Ten Eyk out of the race. Two minutes later Ross has got Conley again in his wash, and Hamm has gained half a length upon Courtney. What a desperately exciting race it is now!

WILL CONLEY BEAT ROSS

out of first place and Hamm capture third place from Courtney's is now the great question asked by the spectators. After being 17 minutes out, Ross has matters all his own way. He pulls fast when Conley puts on a spurt, and lessens his stroke as Conley lets up. When 19 minutes have been occupied Ross still shows in the front rank, never having been headed. He is rowing a waiting race, notwithstanding that they are nearly home and 20 minutes have not yet elapsed. The watch now shows 20 minutes; in less than a minute more

ROSS HAS CROSSED THE LINE A WINNER, two lengths in front of Conley and three in advance of Courtney, the latter leading Hamm by about ten lengths. The time was 20.56. Ross has won a magnificent victory and is loudly applauded by those on shore and on board the several steamers. Conley is a favorite for having pulled such a splendid race and Courtney's true worth is discovered.

THE CONSOLATION RACE.

A great many candidates were expected in this race, but there was a general disappointment when only six scullers came for the world. None of the defeated Halifax oarsmen were in it, neither was Nagle nor Lantano. The reason of this was that most of those mentioned were to take part in the four oared race for second money and wanted to keep themselves fresh for it. The six scullers have come for the world. Who are they? That is Trickett, is it not? Yes it is—the champion of the world for a long time, till a few months ago, taking part in a consolation race! Such are the UPS AND DOWNS OF AN OARSMAN.

To-day, the champion, the broken down sculler, who is ready to start in a scrub race with those of the fourth and fifth class! But the race has started. Trickett takes the lead; Gaudaur is right upon him, and Hosmer is rushing for both of them for dear life. The "lightning boy" rows desperately and keeps them straight to work, but he is unable to pass either. The distance is only a mile and a half straight-away, but Hosmer has exhausted himself before he has gone a mile, and Trickett is holding first place, with Gaudaur such a good second that it seems that he can push the Australian if he chooses. But one must remember that Trickett and Gaudaur are friends, and that it would be for Gaudaur to win. At the mile and a quarter post Trickett is still leading, Gaudaur second, Hosmer third, Riley fourth, Briceland fifth, and that comic sculler, Plaisted, last. In this position they continue to the end. Time 10.32.

In fact he is now in consultation with a number of friends discussing the propriety of issuing a challenge to the open world for a five mile match for from $2,000 to $5,000 a side, and you need not be surprised to receive a copy of the challenge soon.

DETOIT, Sept. 12.

The suffering in Michigan by fires was intensified Saturday night by a cold heavy rain, drenching thousands of homeless people, but the weather became warmer on Sunday. Over 50,000 bushels of wheat are needed immediately for seed or there will be no crop next year. Every steamer which can be obtained has been pressed into service to carry supplies, and every train over the little narrow gauge railroad through the country was loaded in the same way. The revenue cutter Perry leaves here to night with a load of goods. The committee of relief, of which E. Carleton, of this city, is chairman, has issued another most urgent call to the people of America for immediate help.

Correspondent: What force lacks you? Araby: 15,000 Egyptian troops armed with Remingtons, six Krupp batt rics and 150,000 armed Bedouins

LONDON, Sept. 12.

The Times Cairo report says the Khedive's conduct throughout was very courageous. He exposed himself before the whole army. After the troops had left the palace they returned and asked for the dismissal of the prefect of police, to which Colvin and Cookson refused to listen. Cherif Pasha is acting with M. Colvin as mediator on the basis of the resignation of the officers with a guarantee of full amnesty, but success is very doubtful. More moderate officers are already losing influence.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 12.

Local opinion condemns Turkish assistance. Negotiations with Cherif Pasha continues. He will accept office if by so doing the confidence of Europe and order in Egypt be secured. The authority of the Khedive will then be restored; otherwise foreign occupation is inevitable.
