Rumor Hath It...

- that classes suffered severely last week during winter carnival.
- that Neil MacKenzie and Brad Comeau are off to Hollywood to MC their own show.
- that Kathy Arbing and Jayne Hickey have applied for Winter Carnival co-chairpersons, 1983.
- that congratulations are extended to Kim Cook and Steven Smith, this years winter carnival Royalty. Representatives from the remaining classes are congratulated as well.
- that a friend in need is the girls' washroom floor, right, Pisstank?
- that James Johnston was crowned Kloset Queen, 1982 at Campus Cabaret.
- that winter wipe-out 1982 really lived up to its meaning.
- that a fan van is going to Mount A on February 10, 1982 for hockey. Watch for details.
- that first prize for snow sculpturing went to the engineers. (Take a look on top of the library!)
- that Chrissy and Allison (two engineers) have been named "Kloset Queens" of 4th floor Bernadine.
- that there is no truth to the rumour that Goose scalped "Blushing Brides" tickets to get the Junior Class out of the hole.

- that many UPEI students were annoyed with the sellout of the Blushing Brides so early.
- that Socky MacDonald just wanted his name in here so people would remember he was still around.
- that bartenders cleaned up on tips this past weekend. It's too bad the CP's couldn't clean up too.
- that Angus has to buy his dates.
- that Clyde, the Barn's custodian, has gone to Florida for two weeks: Can you tell?
- that security has breathed a sigh of relief to find out carnival is through. Wait till they find out what's planned at the Barn over the March break.
- that Dave Nutbrown could be away next year, Jack Hynes will be with him too (that's no rumour).
- that March break is only three weeks away!
- that Shivers was a stupid, sick, perverted movie. Anyone who missed it can see it tomorrow night in the engineers room.
- that there are nearly 800 yearbooks waiting to be picked up at the Barn. These are great as a dust collectors item.
- that some girls (?) prefer dates with engineers only to dates with dead fish.
