THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 29, 1886.

Building.

BUILDING OPERATIONS are active throughout the Province. Houses, barns and outbuildings are being added to the homesteads of many of our farmers. The style and material of the buildings, too, are greatly improved. It is pleasing to note that nearly all see the great importance of laying a good foundation. We now see deep cellars, under-pinned with good square solid blocks of stone and made frost-proof, instead of the holes in the mud of former years. When they are about it, why do not our farmers build their walls right up to the eaves of brick or stone. This would cost a little more in the beginning, but would be far cheaper in the end, besides being warmer in winter, cooler in summer, more pleasing to the eye in contrast with the green of our fields and groves, and more consonant with the solidity and durability of a wealthy agricultural community.

Still Another Point.

ENOUGH and more than enough has been adduced by THE EXAMINER to convince any unprejudiced man that the Revising Officer for Queen's has not acted in accord with the spirit and letter of the law; and we are content that the intelligent electors of the County should form their judgment on what has already been laid before them. But the more closely one reads the law the more shameful, inexcusable and ridiculous do Judge Alley's errors appear; and we cannot refrain from mentioning still another point.

In the Amending Act, passed June 2, 1886, the twentieth section provides for the administration of an oath to be taken by a voter under certain circumstances; and on reference to the schedules, we find that the first form reads :

"I (A. B.) solemnly swear that I am the person named or purporting to be named by the name of ——— ——— (and if there are more persons than one of the same name on the said list inserting also his addition or occupation) on the list of voters for polling district No. ——— in the Electoral District of———."

This form of oath shows that provision has been made for cases, such as those of Hubert Perry and Edward Dooling, whose names are mis-spelled on the lists and showing clearly that it is the intention of Parliament that no elector shall lose his right to vote by reason of informality, accident or error.

It is quite evident that the law was prepared by liberal-minded men; the misfortune is that in our case it is construed by a judge whose decisions are governed by political prejudice and legal technicalities.

Fresh Fish from P. E. Island.

One of the advantages which is afforded by the cantilever bridge, is that it enables the mackerel fishermen on the west shore of Prince Edward Island to develop their fish trade with the United States. Heretofore, in consequence of the breaking of bulk, fresh fish could not be landed, because on arrival in Boston the quality of the fish was not such as to afford the shipper anything like a fair price, and the result was that fish only in a cured or pickled state could be profitably shipped to the United States markets. To facilitate matters, and to, if possible, develop trade for the Island fishermen, and at the same time increase their own freight traffic, the New Brunswick Railway managers have provided every facility for the quick and safe despatch of fresh fish over their own and connecting lines. Already shippers are taking advantage of the good accommodation thus afforded, and are sending along large quantities of fresh mackerel, which, on arrival at Point du Chene, are placed in refrigerator cars and carried direct to Boston. Last night a consignment of 193 barrels arrived, and are being forwarded to-day.—St. John Globe.

New Triple Alliance.

Berlin despatches say there is a feeling of undisguised exultation in the Government organs over the defeat of Mr. Gladstone, and the prospect of a Consevative Ministry taking office in England. The Colonge Gazette, Prince Bismarck's organ, rejoices at Lord Salisbury's restoration to power, and says it assures the peace of Europe. It is considered probable that overtures will be immediately made for closer political relations between the two countries, and a triple alliance between Germany, Austria and England is regarded in high official circles as extremely likely. The St. Petersburg papers regard such an alliance as a menance to Russia, and are debating the question as one of great gravity. In this connection much interest centres on the corner conference between Prince Bismarck and Count Kalnoky, the Austrian Prime Minister.

Rifle Bullets and the Torch.

A dwelling house at Black Point, St. Margaret's Bay, owned by John G. Colp, now living in Halifax and occupied by Peter C. Boutiller, was burned to the ground between 11 and 12 o'clock, Sunday night. A neighbor of Boutiller's, while working his ox one day last week had the animal shot from along side of him by some one in ambush, and the burning of the house is looked upon as a result of the shooting of the ox. For the past 10 or 12 years Black Point has been the scene of a continual series of house and barn burning, cattle shooting and bitter personal quarrels. Bullets have already whistled pass men's ears and been fired through windows, but fortunately no harm has yet resulted from these "out west" practices. Disputes about property and boundary lines is the cause of all the trouble.—Halifax Herald.

The Close Season for Lobsters.

MESSRS. D. ROGERS, of Summerside, G. D. Longworth and J. E. Grant, of this city, and J. O. Arsenault, of Tignish—a delegation representing the lobster packers on the southern shores of this Province—returned home Wednesday evening, having had a satisfactory interview with the Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, respecting the important question of the close season. They report that they were favorably received, and attentively heard by the Minister, who displayed great interest in the matter. They claimed that the "close season" ought to differ in time at different localities, and they introduced the subject of licensing—advocating that limits be fixed for each packer, and license fees demanded. The fees, they submitted, would yield a handsome revenue to the Government, and would prevent the great and undue destruction of lobsters, which results from the indiscriminate fishing now practiced. Other matters connected with lobster fishery were laid before the Minister, who said no pains would be spared to meet the wishes of the delegates, as far as would be good for the packers as a whole, and in the interest of the fishery as a whole ; and he promised to let them have his answer in about ten days.

Fatal Explosion.

Lightning did considerable damage in Hull, Ont., and vicinity on the night of the 29th. In one house where a wake was being held the lightning struck the chimney of the house and, running down the stove-pipe, struck the coffin in which the body of a woman was, and shattered it to pieces. There were four persons seated around the coffin at the time. One man and a child were seriously injured and have since died. Two others were badly injured. The names of the persons who were killed could not be ascertained, but the owner of the house was struck on the head and seriously injured. The other person who was present was a woman, and the electricity tore her clothes and even her boots off, and otherwise injured her.

A Strange Story.

A strange story comes from Bradford Junction, O., concerning a farmer there. Simon Wilcox was formerly an enthusiastic church member, but on Tuesday when he surveyed the ruin of his crops wrought by a hailstorm he began to curse God for allowing such destruction, and vented a tirade of horrible blasphemy. In the midst of his curses he was suddenly stricken with paralysis and could not leave the spot. There his neighbors found him, and their story is that they could not release him—that he was surrounded by a circle of intense heat, and that when they tried to push him outside of it with a pole the pole burned off, and that it was not until towards evening that the mysterious heat disappeared and he fell down unconscious and was picked up a raving maniac.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

INCOMPARABLE IN SICK HEADACHE.

Dr. Fred Horner, Jr., Salem, Va., says: "To relieve the indigestion and so-called sick headache, and mental depression incident to certain stages of rheumatism, it is incomparable."

Boston Markets.

BOSTON, July 24.

POTATOES—Supplies of Potatoes have been more liberal the past few days, and sales rule principally at $2.25 to $2.50.

EGGS—Trade has been good the past few days, and prices are well maintained. Eastern extras, which are very scarce, command 18c., and Northern and Provincial firsts were sold yesterday at 16 to 16½c.

FISH—The receipt of several cargoes of Mackerel from North Bay have unsettled prices, and sales have been made at $4.50 to $5 per bbl., fishermen's order. Total receipts in Boston for the week, 2,245 bbls. At Gloucester, 4,567 bbls. were landed. The Shore catch of Mackerel continues light, a dense fog along the coast most of the week keeping the vessels in harbors. The jobbing trade is improving, but the unsettled condition of the Mackerel market restricts business. Old Mackerel are quiet at $4.50 to $5.50 per bbl. for No. 2. Some are held higher, but $5.50 is a full selling price for round lots. Codfish are steady at $2.25 for pickle cured Bank, and $2.75 to $3 for dry Bank. Canned Lobsters, $1.60 to $1.65.

The Pope's Golden Jubilee.

The preparations being made throughout the whole Catholic world for the due celebration of Pope Leo XIII's. sacredotal jubilee are continued with remarkable activity. Many already have responded to the appeal issued by the Roman committee, which has its centre in the Viadella Madeina, No. 27. The monthy periodical, published at Bologne, which has already reached its ninth number, relates the various modes in which this festival of the whole Catholic world will be celebrated. It also contains the solemn approbation of the bishops to the projects put forward; the adhesion of the most important organs of the press; the promises of assistance made by associations, institutes, colleges and academies. A large sum of money, which will be greatly increased, has already been offered to His Holiness after the mass he will celebrate on the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. Works of art in ecclesiastical objects are also in preparation, and many hands are engaged in the making of vestments and robes to be worn on this occasion. Universal prayers will be recited on this day for the triumph of the church and the preservation of the Sovereign Pontiff, and pilgrimages to the tomb of the apostles from all parts of the world are in course of organization.

A Woman's Head Shaved by Lightning.

During a violent thunderstorm, which recently broke over a country town in France, a curious incident happened. A young woman caught in the storm was hastening homewards, sheltering herself as best she could beneath an umbrella from the drenching rain. Suddenly she experienced a strange and alarming sensation, the shock being simultaneous with a very vivid flash of lightning. She felt "very upset, greatly alarmed," but nevertheless proceeded on her way, and it was only on reaching her residence that she discovered what a narrow escape she had had. On removing her bonnet she found that her hair had been literally cut off, her head presenting, as the hair fell, the same appearance as though it had been shaved with a razor. The effect upon the girl's mind of the discovery was so great that she has been confined to her bed ever since the day of the storm. It is not the loss of her hair that affects her, but the recollection of the narrow escape she had has so entirely upset her nervous system, that the medical men attending her express the opinion that it will be some weeks before she recovers from the shock.

A Romantic Story.

LOVERS DIVIDED BY THE FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR, UNITED AT LAST.

Mayor Whitney, at his office in Brooklyn, N. Y., married on Friday Hermat Krauz and Anna Eschenbach, Prussian war medals decorated the groom's breast, and something unusual about their demeanor led to questioning, which developed a romantic story. Herman and Anna lived at Friederichstahl, on the Rhine, and he was 18 years old when the Franco-Prussian war broke out. He marched off to the fight for the Vaterland, and his sweetheart rode after him in one of the wagons of the Red Cross Hospital Corps. At Gravelotte a fragment of the shell struck Herman, and, when the soldiers came around after the battle to bury the dead he was put into a shallow pit with 20 or 30 other bodies. Grief at the news of his death drove Anna out of mind, and wandering on the battlefield, she sought the pit in which he had been buried, and dug out his body. Soldiers came upon her and forcibly carried her off to the hospital, where she was sent back to Germany, but they did not bother to reinter the body she had resurrected. That night it rained heavily and Herman was revived by it. He was nursed back to life, but a portion of the skull pressing upon the brain made him insane. Anna recovered her reason, and thinking him dead came to live with her father in America. Last fall a celebrated German doctor examined Herman, and, by trenpanning restored him to reason. He made enquires about his betrothed, and, discovering her location in Brooklyn, wrote to her, and learned that she was free and loved him still. A week ago he reached America, and Tuesday's wedding ends the story for the present.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Erratum.

SIR,—In your short leading article of yesterday, headed "The Fall of Dilke," you state that "Sir Charles Dilke has fallen like Jupiter." In all my readings I have never come across the passage giving an account of the fall of Jupiter; but I have read in the Holy Bible of the fall from Heaven of Lucifer, the son of the morning; and in Shakespeare, of falling like Lucifer, never to hope again.

Yours,
ZEUS.

["Zeus" and other readers of THE EXAMINER will please read "Lucifer" in the article referred to. It is needless to say that the writer had in his mind the passage of Shakespeare. Our thanks are due "Zeus" for the correction.]
