brigade—the 6th Canadian Infantry brigade—was pushing forward south of the city.

"Behind me I could hear a city rejoicing. Men were free. The bells rang, bands played, people cheered. I felt very lonely standing there midway between peace and war. For us when the end came there was no cheering—only silence. It was a silence so stunning that it has impressed itself upon us forever and we perpetuate the silence as our tribute to our fallen comrades."

The Canadians were, now returning. Time had taken its toll, and many who marched through Mons had gone to join the unseen army of the dead.

"We are a fading army; but we do not forget. We may weaken the body, but the memory of those other days remains. And it is memory that brings us back. We have not forgotten our comrades who await the last trumpet-call, long-suffering people, overwhelmed by an irresistible enemy force, who never faltered when their last hope, who were never broken."

The Legion president voiced admiration for the manner in which Belgium had sought to repair the devastation of war.

urgent airplanes had sunk three coysals, warships engaged in bombarding Cadix, rebel centre on the south coast.

The government radio said that Toledo, 40 miles south of Madrid, was recovered tonight from the rebels.

Loyalist hopes for control of the south centre on a force of 2,000 men making their way toward the rebel stronghold of Cordoba from Jaen.

(One report current outside Spain said General Emilio Mola, the rebel leader in the north, was killed. General Francisco Franco, chief of the rebels holding Spanish Morocco, was reported marching on the international zone at Tangiers demanding that loyal Spanish warships leave the harbor. British, French and Italian troops were authorized to march into the zone to protect it.

The Spanish loyalist warships Libertad, Cervantes and Jaime I were attacked near Gibraltar harbor by rebel airplanes. The government at Madrid was reported seeking arms from France.)

A communique from the Minister of Interior said rebelist Almansa, in Alabaeta province in the southeast, had surrendered to government forces. It reported also that Martinez Cabrera, head of the pro-government forces at Cartagena, had announced his city was fully mobilized in support of the existing regime against the rebels.

Rebels concentrated at Lagranja, 30 miles from Madrid, were dispersed and left behind arms and ammunition as well as large numbers of dead and wounded. Fugitives were being pursued by flying columns of workers' militia.

France In Sympathy With Republic

PARIS, July 22—Many French newspapers, including Premier Leon Blum's Le Populaire, today expressed their sympathies with the Spanish republic in its fight against Fascists.

The Communist organ L'Humanite charged the rebels are "inspired by Hitler to plot against the Spanish popular front" and demanded expulsion of rightist refugees in France.

While the Government refrained from official comment on possible repercussions of the revolt in France, Premier Blum's newspaper asserted the government is "entirely in fellowship with Spain's anti-Fascist government."

Governor Dispatches Plea For Relief

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—More than 100 degree plus heat was forecast for a limited section of the middle western United States today as first threshing reports and late field surveys etched deeper the lines of drought's ravages for many areas.

The situation as disclosed to Governor Henry Horner moved him to dispatch Illinois' first plea for relief to Washington authorities.

In Washington, President Roosevelt set up a committee to study "practicable measures" for remedying conditions on the parched western plains through utilization of natural resources. In his letter directing the formation of the body, the President noted that "widespread losses have been incurred by many inhabitants of the Missouri, Platte and Arkansas valleys, the Panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma" and other regions.

The President indicated he would meet with the committee somewhere in the territory designated in August to confer on measures.

Forecasters J. R. Lloyd here said 100 to 109 degree temperatures would return to Kansas, Nebraska, Western Iowa and Northwestern Missouri tomorrow but that the new torrid spell might not last more than a day.

The heat wave death toll remained just under 4,600, as additional deaths were reported in Nebraska and Southern California. Omaha and Lincoln in the former state reported afternoon highs of 101. Grand Island and North Platte 102.

Indian Aged 110 Roars Greetings

REGINA, July 22—White Bear's reserve at Moose Mountain near Regina has in bull-throated old KaKaKeway one of Canada's most colorful Indians.

KaKaKeway claims to be 110 years old. He preserves a stentorian voice so powerful the speech of a man a quarter his age is a whisper in comparison.

When W. Murison, inspector of Indian Affairs in Saskatchewan, seeks to retire after almost 40 years' service, was honored at Pipnot service recently he received the heartiest greetings, the loudest farewell, from the old warrior KaKaKeway as he sat at this teepee. With his squaw he had driven more than 100 miles to attend.

With his tremendous voice, KaKaKeway carries a matchless power of mimicry. One feat is so perfectly imitate a fighting bear all the dogs in the camp are driven to frenzy.

He carries with him an enormous bear's tusk. Placing it in the corner of his mouth, he blows out

Australians Need One More Victory In Memoriam

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 22—Australia needs only one more victory in her series with Germany to gain the challenge round in the Davis Cup tennis competition for the first time since 1924.

The Aussies assumed a 2-1 lead over the Teutons today in their inter-zone final series when the veteran Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath vanquished Baron Gottfried Von Cramm and Heiner Henkel, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 in the doubles.

The series will be concluded tomorrow with two singles matches. A victory in one of them will send Australia into the challenge round against Great Britain, the cup holders, starting this Saturday.

Australia hasn't been in a challenge round in 12 years, and it has been 17 years since Australia last won the Davis Cup.

While the Germans coordinated beautifully, it was the wily Crawford's cleverness that nullified their efforts. McGrath substituted for Adrian Quist, who twisted his foot in his singles encounter against Von Cramm Saturday and has been ordered by his physician to take a 10-day rest.

Unless there is an unexpected change over night, Crawford will oppose Von Cramm and McGrath will meet Henkel tomorrow in the windup.

Plan Special Study of Lobster Fishery

SKILLED RESEARCH WORKER TO MAKE FULL TIME STUDY OF LOBSTER AND CONSERVATION NEEDS

With a view to determining how the lobster fishery may be most effectively conserved in the future, a thoroughly qualified research worker will be appointed by the fisheries authorities to make a full time study of the lobster and its ways and the factors affecting up and down in the supply. Announcement to this effect has been made at Department of Fisheries headquarters at Ottawa.

The scientist carrying on this research will be employed under the Biological Board of Canada, which is under the control of the Minister of Fisheries. While his headquarters will be at the Fisheries Biological Station at St. Andrews, N.B., his investigations will extend to all parts of the Atlantic coast, which is the Dominion's lobster producing area.

The reason back of this special research undertaking is the fact that there has been a decrease in lobster catch in the past two or three seasons. Various questions connected with Canada's lobster resources have been studied in the past, of course, and steps have been taken to protect the fishery but if further conservation measures are necessary it is important to ascertain as promptly as possible what they should be. Canada's lobster fishery is the most valuable in the world, giving employment to a large number of people, directly and indirectly, and its products make up a substantial item of export business. Among all the Dominion's fisheries the lobster fishery ranks second only to British Columbia's salmon fishery in annual marketed value return. Obviously, no sensible country would neglect to conserve a fishery like that.

THREE MEN INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Burned in a gasoline explosion which rocked a cabin motor boat employed in survey operations of Charlottetown harbor, three Charlottetown men were "resting nicely" in the Charlottetown Hospital last night.

The explosion occurred yesterday morning when a party of five including Mr. Murdoch McKinnon of Ottawa, Department of Marine Harbor surveyor, were about to set out in the motor craft from a Charlottetown dock to do survey work in the harbor.

Four men, Messrs. John Connolly, Harold McInnis and Robert Buchanan, all of Charlottetown, and Harold Mitchell of Tracadie—were aboard at the time. Mitchell was trying to start the boat's gasoline engine and a spark was believed to have caused the explosion of fumes in the engine room, which was closed all night.

Connolly, McInnis and Buchanan suffered burns about the head, arms and legs while Mitchell escaped unharmed. The interior of the motor boat caught fire immediately. Mitchell and Connolly were able to crawl to a float to which the craft was tied, but Buchanan and McInnis were forced to jump overboard into the water. Survey Superintendent McKinnon, who was about to step aboard when the explosion occurred, was not injured. He and Mitchell assisted the two injured men from the water.

Firemen, who were called to the scene, sank the burning vessel while an ambulance rushed the trio who suffered burns to hospital.

The craft was later brought to the surface by lines from the C. G. S. Brant, which was moored a short distance away.

Amnesty Granted Political Prisoners

(C.P.—Havas, By Guardian's Special Wire) VIENNA, July 22—A general amnesty affecting 10,000 political prisoners throughout Austria was proclaimed by Federal President Wilhelm Miklas tonight.

This decree was the first major step taken as a result of the recently signed Austro-German agreement.

Another amnesty for political delinquents who come under the jurisdiction of police and administrative courts will be issued later this month.

Only about 200 political prisoners failed to benefit from the amnesty decree tonight. Among these was Dr. Anton Rintelen, former minister to Rome, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the abortive Nazi putsch during which Chancellor Dollfus was assassinated in 1934.

The total of 10,000 included those free on bail or awaiting trial. Freedom was granted to all those sentenced to 10 years imprisonment or less on charges of high treason, conspiracy against the state, sedition or provocation to civil disobedience. All who participated directly or indirectly in the February, 1934, Socialist revolt or the Nazi putsch of July 1934, also were freed.

Those sentenced to terms of from 10 to 20 years will be freed after investigation of their individual cases, it was learned.

Messrs. John William Stewart and Robert Stewart and Miss Nancy Stewart have not been heard from for a number of years and as far as is known the only surviving member of the family now is Mrs. William Roberts.

Cause And Solution Of Rural Problems Discussed At Rally

Dr. Coady says, 'Study whatever you need to study.'

"What should we take up, then? First of all, we might ask ourselves this question: Do we farm intelligently as we might? I am not an agricultural expert myself and so I cannot discuss the merits of mixed farming, or the fine points of cattle breeding. But there is a lot to learn right along that line.
