

To Whom It May Concern:

As most of you may have noticed, Orientation was a big success this year. Everyone involved, both the Committee and the Freshmen should be congratulated. There is however one group who may not receive the credit they deserve. This group is the Faculty and Administration of our University. From listening to members of the Committee talking it would appear that they are not as interested in the students as they could be. The best example of this is Klondike Night. It is my understanding that it is a night for Freshmen to mingle with and play games set up by Faculty. Looking at this year, Klondike Night and remembering others from the past it would appear that the majority of them are all talk and little action. The few Professors and Administrative Staff who were present should be congratulated and highly commended. It is these people who have been there in the previous years.

This year has been called "the year of the volunteer" and so far most of the staff don't seem to be starting off very well. Let's hope that during the remainder of this year the Faculty will be a little more visible, and next year at Orientation we'll see them at Klondike Night.

The Business Society Report

In this our first report, we welcome old and new back to the campus, especially Kelly Building Dwellers.

The objective of this column will be to inform the Business Students of what their society is up to!! Also this column will try to keep all our "arch rivals" in line. But it's tough when you are at the top and scum settles to the bottom.

The Society is now in the midst of its membership drive. We urge all Business Students to drop by and pick their membership up for a minimal fee of $5.00. As you know we are here to make friends not money.

Your membership provides discounts to all our events at the Barn, and let's you go to our events off-campus, and provides you with a few free cold ones.

The Business Society is the highest social order on the UPEI Campus and allows all its members to receive recognition from all the other low-life on campus.

The Business Society's objective is to get all the Business students involved with each other, other societies on campus, and the Island Business community. We do this by sponsoring pubs, golf tournament, curling bonspiel, guest speakers, and other events.

If you are a Freshmen and are wondering whether you should get involved, you should tell yourself "yes". To get the most out of University Life, you must not only excel scholastically, but also socially. The Business Society is an excellent way to achieve this goal.

Our first pub will be on Thursday, Sept. 29 in the Barn. At this time we will be drawing for the Pulsar Mini-cassette. Also our golf tournament will be held the following Wednesday, Oct. 5.

During the year you will probably read "digs" against other faculties and no doubt other faculties will make "digs" against us. These are made good naturedly and hardly ever in good taste. This week though, we would like to keep our column on a more serious tone and express our sorrow to the family and friends of Alan Moore on his recent death.

Sincerely

Executive of the Business Society
