

THE DAILY EXAMINER

APRIL 12, 1900

MR. HASZARD'S LETTER.

It has been suggested that we should publish Mr. Horace Haszard's letter to the Guardian; and we shall very cheerfully do so in the course of a day or two. In the meantime we beg to assure Mr. Haszard and all who think as he does, that we are strongly in sympathy with the objects he has in view, and we believe that they may ere long be attained if only THE EXAMINER'S advice be followed. We admit that so long as the Dominion Government and Provincial Government are in close partnership for the promotion of partisan purposes, they cannot be gained. But we are not without hope that the whole "business is business" combination of Tarte, Laurier, Fairbairn & Co., that now exists, may soon be broken up. This combination, utterly opposed to the interests of the country, must be obnoxious to that "strong body of independent opinion" which, the Guardian says, exists throughout the Province; and the first step towards getting rid of it is that of the withdrawal of its independent support.

PROHIBITION AND PARTY.

PROVINCIAL Prohibition cannot and will not prohibit more than the Canada Temperance Act; the Canada Temperance Act is in force in the three counties of this Province, and can easily be put into operation in Charlottetown.

In view of these facts, the question is simply whether it is worth while, from a temperance point of view, to put our Legislature to the trouble of passing a Provincial Prohibitory Act and the Province to the expense of enforcing such a law.

We see no party politics in this question. If the act be passed it will be passed by representative men of both parties in the Legislature. There are strong Conservatives and strong Liberals among the temperance workers who favor the passage of a Provincial Prohibitory law. There are strong Conservatives and strong Liberals among those who prefer to adhere to the Canada Temperance Act. There is, or at least there ought to be, no party politics in connection with the matter; and when pointing out one or two reasons why the Canada Temperance Act—which has successfully run the gauntlet of the courts—should be enforced throughout the whole of this Province and the passage of a Provincial Prohibitory law postponed—until, at least, it has been tested in Manitoba—we had no thought of party. We merely suggested one or two points for thought and discussion on the part of temperance men sincerely desiring to act in the interests of temperance.

But we are told by the Guardian that "the attitude of THE EXAMINER is a distinct weakness to its party," and that the temperance people have nothing to hope from the party which THE EXAMINER supports. This, we humbly submit, is nonsense. As to temperance THE EXAMINER has never professed to speak for its party either individually or collectively; and if its suggestions and arguments in that regard are not considered good, they will, of course, have no weight with sensible temperance men, whether in or out of the Liberal Conservative party.

The readiness of the Guardian to raise a party cry about a non-party question suggests that its own motives are not wholly pure as to temperance. There is a shrewd suspicion abroad that this demand for Provincial Prohibition is a red herring drawn across the track of those who deliberately broke their promises in respect to National Prohibition and the Plebiscite, to divert the attention of the electors who would otherwise at once vote out the men by whom they have been so scandalously humbugged and deceived. The Guardian is notoriously friendly to these men; and perhaps it will be able to convince the public that its present course is not shaped to this end.

PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

THE Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo from May 1st to November 1st, 1901, is to fittingly illustrate the development of this Hemisphere during the nineteenth century, by exhibits of the arts, industries and products of soil, mine and sea. It is confined to this Hemisphere and all countries on this Hemisphere are asked to exhibit. It will be the first international exposition ever given exclusively by the American nations, and its primary purpose is to promote the social and commercial relations of their 130,000,000 of people. None but American nations and colonies will be invited. It is desired that each of the independent and colonial governments of America appoint commissioners at the earliest opportunity to make proper preparation for the exhibits of their countries.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Attention is directed to the letter of "A Farmer"—a real, live farmer, published elsewhere. This letter shows that the men of the country are pretty close students of current Provincial events.

We regret to announce that Mrs. R. B Shaw died this morning about 4 o'clock. She had passed through a short but severe illness. Mrs. Shaw was the daughter of Mr. William Wyatt, of Charlottetown, and was for several years a teacher in Prince Street School. Her many friends will miss the presence of a kind and loving woman. To Dr. Shaw and her parents and all who mourn, we extend our deep sympathy.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE.—The National Magazine for April comes to hand filled to overflowing with good things. It is well worth the consideration of anyone who desires bright, snappy fiction and the questions of the hour presented in clear and forcible language. Editor Chapple gives an excellent description of a cabinet day at the White House in his "Affairs at Washington" with vivid word pictures of the men who are now prominent on the stage of action. A valuable and timely feature is a symposium by eight leading editors on the question, "Shall we Retain the Philippines?" Editorial opinion in every quarter of the country is represented in this article, and it cannot fail to be of interest in view of the light it sheds on a question of so much importance to our American cousins. Other articles of much interest are entitled "Uncensored News from the Transvaal," and "Through Unknown Regions of Alaska." The fiction is all good, and the regular departments are all well looked after. The National Magazine is published in Boston, at 91 Bedford Street. It may be obtained at the news-dealers.

BOARD OF TRADE

The regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening in its new room, Maceachern's Building. The room is large and airy, and well suited to the purposes of the Board.

The President, George E. Hughes, Esq., occupied the chair. Minutes of the last annual general meeting and subsequent meetings of the Council of the Board were read by the Secretary, Mr. W. W. Clarke, and the action of the Board regarding telegraph communication, winter steamship service, etc., was explained. These matters were left in the hands of the Council. The question of direct steamship communication between Prince Edward Island and Great Britain was brought up by Mr. George D Longworth, and after a discussion in which Messrs. Matheson, Haszard, Rattenbury, Auld and others took part, the matter was referred to the Council. Mr. W. A. Longworth brought up the question of the excessive winter charges made by the Intercolonial Railway. This question was discussed and referred to the council.

The following members of the Board, viz. Messrs Bruce Stewart, Dr J S Bagnall, Dr Dickey, James Waddell, A W Ross, C H Longworth, J D Taylor, R Bearisto, C Leigh, Jr., A Alley, Jas Stewart, A W Reddin, W C Turner, Parker Carvell, R H Ramsay, J H Bell, F Sellar, S McLeod, J O Hyndman, H M Davison, A J Biffin, B C Prowse and A G Peake.
